PROTOCOL SIGNED.

Zelaya Will Settle Emery Claim.

After Two Ultimatums Nicaragua Comes to Terms Quietly.

Difficulties Adjusted After Conference of Gonzalez and Knox.

More Friendly Relations With Central American Republic.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A protocol was signed tonight in the home of Secretary of State Knox which provides for arbitration of the so-called Emery claim, a vexatious matter which has been pending between the United States and Nicaragua for about two years and a half. The case has been the subject of two communications to the Nicaraguan government which practically amounted to ultimatums. The State Department is greatly gratified over the settlement of the case. The protocol signed tonight provides for a tribunal of five members, two representing the United States, two Nicaragua and the fifth to be chosen by the four representatives. If the four members representing the United States and Nicaragua are unable to agree on the fifth member the King of England will name the man.

ZELAYA BACKS DOWN.

A demand was made on the Nicaraguan government for the immediate settlement of the case. Nicaragua apparently played for time and finally sent word through the Nicaraguan Minister here that Pedro Gonsales had been selected to come to Washington to enter into negotiations on the subject. After several weeks Mr. Gonzales arrived and has been in conference with Mr. Knox and other officials of the State Department repeatedly during the last few days. President Zelaya of Nicaragua at first showed no signs of yielding. He declared that in the original Emery concession there was specific provision for the arbitration of the case and he preferred that the terms of the concession be followed. The Department of State, however, was firm and finally Zelaya succumbed.

The adjustment of the Emery claim will do much toward making more friendly relations between Nicaragua and the United States.

The Emery claim grew out of a mahogany concession granted in 1890. The concession was to run for a term of years, during which the concessionaires were to pay the Nicaraguan government certain sums of money and also a tax on logs taken from the country. The company enjoyed the privilege of bringing in all necessary working materials free of duty. The terms of the concession provided that any dispute should be settled by an arbitration, by a tribunal of three members, one chosen by each side and the third by these two arbitrators. The company renounced its right to diplomatic recourse.

In the summer of 1903 the company was accused by the government of smuggling. The company, it was alleged, made improper use of the privilege to bring in working materials free of duty. Upon the initiative of the Nicaraguans, an arbitration tribunal was appointed in accordance with the terms of the concession. It worked over the case and decided that inasmuch as the company had paid taxes for three years in advance, the concession could not be annulled. In July, 1908, Zelaya notified the concessionaires that he regarded the concession as annulled and he directed his legal department to institute suit for moneys owed to the government.

BISHOP HAMILTON'S NIECE ACCUSED BY HUSBAND.

Edwin Martin, New York Commission Man, Names Eight Corespondents in Action Against Wife. Maid Tells of Rebuke to Woman Charged With Misconduct.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With no lawyer to represent her, trial of the suit for divorce brought against Mrs. Etta Hamilton Martin, niece of Bishop Hamilton, by her husband, Edwin Martin, proceeded today in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn.

The husband names eight men in his complaint. After Justices Jaycox and Carr had denied a motion for a stay, made by J. Arthur Hilton, who was engaged by Mrs. Martin to defend the suit, Mr. Hilton withdrew from the case when Justice Aspinwall called it. Mr. Hilton said he had not been allowed time to prepare.

The Martins' domestic troubles date back years. Mr. Martin is a prosperous commission man. Mrs. Martin is the daughter of Rev. Dr. Jay Benson Hamilton, a prominent evangelist. She is a concert singer of note.

Mary Woods, colored servant for Mrs. Martin, was the principal witness. She told of doings at Cottage City in July and August, 1905. She said she had seen her mistress and Lem Hall, an amateur ball player, kissing each other several times.

She also told of the attentions of a man named De Beers and one named "Ferdie" Iglehart. On coming downstairs one morning, she said, she thought it was time to speak to her mistress.

The jury tonight returned affirmative answers to four charges of misconduct involving Iglehart and a man named Knapp, Dr. De Beers and Lem Hall. This finding will be passed for confirmation tomorrow to Justice Jaycox, who may then grant an interlocutory decree to Mr. Martin.

Independence, Kan., Women Go to Europe and Separate There, Trouble Coming Back to Divide Friends and Prevent Community Progress—Social Depression.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDEPENDENCE (Kan.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The vexatious question of what was behind the feud that has been agitating Independence for more than ten years, depressing the city socially, financially and otherwise, while other Kansas towns in the gas belt have grown into booming, thriving municipalities, has at last been solved. The trouble all arose over the gender of a French noun while the wives of two prominent Independence bankers were doing the continent.

Years ago, twelve, to be explicit, Mrs. George T. Guernsey and Mrs. Adolph B. Stich went abroad for the summer. When they reached their hotel in Paris it was with a feeling of confidence that Mrs. Guernsey directed the porter to carry la baggage to their rooms.

"My dear," Mrs. Stich gently corrected, "you should say le baggage; is, you know, le feminine and baggage is masculine. Don't you remember the rule?"

That was all. The friends turned their backs on each other. Mrs. Guernsey had le baggage taken to her room, and Mrs. Stich had le baggage taken to hers.

The two women returned on different steamers, and the day they reached Independence, on different trains, the

NEW HAND AT WHEEL.

SUCCEEDS ROGERS.

J. P. Morgan, Jr., on Trust Board.

Corporation Passes Resolutions on Death of Great Financier.

Will to Be Read to Family This Afternoon at Late Residence.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. P. Morgan, Jr., was today elected a member of the board of directors and of the Finance Committee of the United States Steel Corporation to succeed the late H. H. Rogers.

At the steel corporation's board meeting held today the following minute on the death of Mr. Rogers was adopted:

"Henry H. Rogers was a member of the board of directors and of the Finance Committee of the United States Steel Corporation from the time of its organization in 1901 to the time of his death, which occurred on May 19, 1909. He took an active interest in the affairs of the corporation, having attended the meeting of the Finance Committee during the afternoon of May 18, 1909, and was cordial and effective in supporting the policies which have prevailed.

"With respect to the business interests of this country, Mr. Rogers was a stalwart among stalwarts. His natural capacity, wide experience, keen perception and sound judgment entitled him to a position in the first ranks of successful business men. In the consideration of the many complicated questions which have arisen concerning the corporation he has been of great influence and benefit.

NEVER WASTED TIME.

"He never wasted time, nor indulged in prolonged discussion. His views were clear and clearly expressed, and while he was positive in his opinions, he was not disposed to insist upon the acceptance of his conclusions if opposed to the opinions of the majority. He was staunch and true and dependable.

"And the association with Mr. Rogers was a constant pleasure to his comrades. He was kind, courteous, patient, considerate and generous under all circumstances. His invariable treatment of every one connected with the corporation and its subsidiary companies was such as to secure for himself their lasting gratitude. He was dignified and at times reserved and yet was gentle and tender. Very earnest and sober in discussing and deciding important questions, he was at the same time quite disposed to see the humorous side. A great man has gone from our midst. His memory will abide in our affections."

TO READ WILL.

The will is to be read tomorrow afternoon at the late residence in East Seventy-eighth street, by his personal attorney, James M. Beck. Only the immediate relatives will be present.

Previous to the reading of the document, Mr. Beck would not discuss the contents nor the amount of the estate involved. Estimates of the value of the estate range from $40,000,000 to $100,000,000. A number of anonymous friends of the late financier are quoted as saying that Mr. Rogers left an estate worth much more than was popularly supposed. In the Wall Street district it is not believed, however, that the public will ever know even the approximate value of Mr. Rogers's fortune, as it is understood that the will was so drawn as to confine this information to the immediate beneficiaries. There is a possibility, however, that the State tax upon inheritances may bring to light the much-discussed figures.

The widow, who is said to have collapsed after the funeral services at Fairhaven, was reported as improving today, and it was said that following the reading of the will she would return to Fairhaven for a long rest.

WORD FROM THE FRONT.

ROOSEVELT HAVING TIME OF HIS LIFE.

Maj. Seaman Returns from Africa and Says Game Is Plentiful—Brings News of Tsetse Fly and Sleeping Sickness Disproving Popular Belief.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, May 25.—Maj. Louis L. Seaman, U.S.A., has arrived here from Mombasa, where he met the Roosevelt party. He says Selous and Cunningham are the best hunters in Africa and that the former President is "having the time of his life."

Maj. Seaman, who hunted with Dr. Guiteras of New York over the Athi plains along the Nairobi River, where Mr. Roosevelt is shooting, brought out 150 specimens of big game. He reports animals so plentiful that after six weeks' hunting he and Dr. Guiteras were completely satisfied with the sport. When he left, he said, he would rather shoot snipe on the wing than elephants.

"Never have the western cattle ranges seen so many animals," he said. "One day we counted 450 zebras, gazelles and other animals within a segment comprising one-tenth of a circle. There were fully 5000 in sight. Nevertheless the animals are hard to approach, as the herds keep out sentinels."

Maj. Seaman considers the rhinoceros and the buffalo the most dangerous to hunt, as they invariably charge, which means death to the hunter if the animal is not killed or crippled. Lions, on the contrary, he says, are natural cowards.

THE TSETSE FLY.

"My respect for the lion has disappeared since I went to Africa," he said. "The lion never fights except when he is wounded or driven to bay."

Maj. Seaman, who is an expert in military sanitation, was greatly interested in the sleeping sickness. He brought back the first news of the discovery by Dr. Schrin, a German, which completely upsets the theory of the English commission that the tsetse fly only transmits the malady. Dr. Schrin proved that the fly becomes infected, thus establishing "a cycle," as is the case with the mosquito in yellow fever. The fly remains inoculated for fifty days. This discovery renders more difficult the extinguishing of the dread disease, as it ends the hope, previously entertained, of suppressing it by isolation.

The disease has claimed a half million victims and according to Dr. Seaman not a single person attacked has ever recovered. The chief horror is the long period of incubation. The bite of the fly itself, when not inoculated, is harmless. Dr. Seaman was bitten on the forehead and suffered no bad effects.

ROOSEVELT IS ANNOYED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NAIROBI (British East Africa) May 25.—A staff correspondent of the Associated Press returned to Nairobi this morning after a two-days' visit to the Roosevelt camp as the guest of Mr. Roosevelt.

The camp was located on the Heatley ranch, on the banks of the Nairobi River. Mr. Roosevelt and his son Kermit are in remarkably good health and they are delighted with the success and his son has astonished not only the settlers, but the members of the party.

Kermit killed, recently at close range, a hyena that had attacked him and he has also come near making a record bag of wart hogs in a given space of time. Today the party is staying at the Heatley ranch, but tomorrow Mr. Roosevelt, his son and Edmund Heller are coming into Nairobi.

Maj. Mearns and J. Alden Loring will remain at the Juja ranch until Wednesday, collecting birds and mammals.

Mr. Roosevelt is annoyed at dispatches which it is reported here are appearing in American or English newspapers. He requests the Associated Press to send out the following statement:

"No newspaper has a representative with the party nor any other means of gaining information of the party's doings beyond what is generally known. Any special dispatches appearing are in all probability sheer inventions. Moreover, the details which purport to be thus obtained can only be due to bribery, and it is safe to state that a dishonorable man giving a bribe and a dishonorable man accepting the same would be willing to invent untruths for money or traffic in other forms of dishonor."

TRAIN ROBBERS FOILED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

GRAND JUNCTION (Col.) May 25.—An attempted hold up of Denver and Rio Grande passenger train No. 4, eastbound from Ogden to Denver, early today probably was prevented by the prompt action of the telegraph operator at Thompson's, Utah.

Overhearing a conversation between suspicious looking characters regarding gold shipments from Nevada, usually sent to the Denver mint on No. 4, the operator telegraphed to Helper, Utah, where Sheriff Cook of Carbon county and a posse boarded the threatened train.

Train No. 4 was run through Thompson's without stopping, but guards on train No. 8, which followed immediately behind and stopped as usual, exchanged shots with a tramp at Thompson's. Three men boarded No. 8 at Thompson's, but after seeing the guards, left the train at the next station.

No bullion was carried on either train. Thompson's is in the heart of the Blue Mountains, formerly frequented by "Butch" Cassidy and other outlaws, and has been the scene of many hold-ups.

RAILROADS.

HARRIMAN AND HILL

Will Run Trains on Same Tracks.

Biggest Railroad Deal Since Hill Effected His Own Merger.

Southern Pacific Will Undoubtedly Hold Onto San Francisco.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Arrangements have been made between the Northern Pacific, Union Pacific and Great Northern roads under which the Northern Pacific line between South Tacoma and Vancouver, Washington, and the bridge over the Columbia River will be used jointly by the companies named. The Northern Pacific will at once begin the work of completing the double tracking of its road so as to care for the business of the three companies. The property will be used for any and all kinds of business by the three roads and will be maintained as a first-class double track road for all the interests named between Portland and Puget Sound.

This announcement was made by P. O'Brien, general manager of the Harriman lines in the Northwest, today upon receipt of advices from New York. It is taken to mean among railroad men here the announcement of the biggest railroad deal since the merger of the two Hill lines. Who consider it points to the abandonment of the Oregon and California, the Harriman line between Portland and Seattle. Portland will become a Great Northern terminus. Division of territory between Harriman and Hill is promised in place of competition.

It is unofficially announced from high sources that Mr. Hill has sold a third interest in his Portland to Seattle road, the Northern Pacific.

The deal is considered the sidestepping of the recent Interstate Commerce Commission decision opening the Portland gateway.

SAN FRANCISCO BOTTLED.

Involved in the agreement made later come an announcement that the Southern Pacific will allow running privileges to Northern Pacific trains to San Francisco, although the belief is that the Harriman system has this route too thoroughly bottled up to consider any such compromise. On the other hand, threats have been made by the northern lines of invasion of the San Francisco territory. Conjecture as to the purchase price is rife.

From Portland to Tacoma is a distance of 145 miles, and estimated at a probable value of $100,000 per mile. The Columbia River bridge would account for a further $3,000,000 and the terminal property owned by the Northern Pacific in Tacoma would approximate $15,000,000.

At a moderate estimate the valuation of the road, Portland to Seattle to Tacoma, exclusive of terminals, is placed for purchase at $200,000,000, and in all probability this sum was exceeded. The building of the track will probably cost $15,000,000.

That the agreement was made without consulting local officials is shown by the recent announcement made by President Elliott of the Northern Pacific, that he would contest the recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission ordering the opening of the Portland gateway. As the purchase or agreement is presumably for all time, there can be no further question of a Portland gateway. The deal has been the result of numerous meetings between principals in eastern cities and it is believed the memorable Hill-Harriman conference at San Francisco and Paso Robles had a part in the final negotiations.

HILL'S PRICE HIGH.

Over a year ago an attempt was made by Mr. Harriman to purchase an interest in the Northern Pacific, but the enormous price asked by Mr. Hill put any deal out of the question. Since then the Harriman interests have acquired enormous terminal holdings in both Seattle and Tacoma. In addition, they hold a half-interest in the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul extension from Seattle to Tacoma, practically completed.

And they had shown that they were prepared to rush the Oregon & Washington to completion from Portland to Tacoma.

As this line parallels the tracks of the Northern Pacific ruinous competition was bound to ensue. The principals have seen this, and getting together have been able to come to an agreement on the price of the Northern Pacific tracks.

Final settlement was made today.

CONFESSION IN GUNNESS CASE.

AMERICAN SAILOR IN NORWAY SAYS HE IS GUILTY.

Tells Captain of Ship He Helped Kill Four Persons and Then Took Life of Woman—Under Observation as to Sanity—Reported to American Minister.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHRISTIANIA (Norway) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A young American sailor is under arrest at Frederikstad, near Christiania, as a self-confessed murderer. He told his captain that he helped Mrs. Belle Gunness kill four persons on her farm near Laporte, Ind., and that he then killed Mrs. Gunness herself.

The man did not impress the captain as being insane, but as one forced by his conscience to tell the truth. The sailor is now under observation as to his mental condition. The case has been reported to H. H. Depeirce, the American Minister to Norway.

The house occupied by Mrs. Gunness was burned with all its occupants April 28, 1908, and the woman's numerous crimes were then revealed. Through advertisements she had lured men with money to her farm and had then killed them, burying their bodies near the house. What were supposed

WILL EXPOSE THAW IN SUIT AGAINST MOTHER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charges more sensational than any hitherto brought against Harry K. Thaw, will be submitted to court soon, according to Clifford W. Hartridge, former counsel for the slayer of Stanford White, who is suing Mrs. Mary Thaw, mother of Thaw, for $70,726 which, he says, he disbursed in behalf of Thaw.

That the baring of Thaw's life history would have injured the defendant in the trials is the belief expressed, and Hartridge declares that, of the sum asked of Mrs. Thaw, more than $40,000 was spent to suppress stories of Thaw's conduct.

It is expected that one of the witnesses at the hearing of the lawyer's suit will be Evelyn Thaw. The wife of the prisoner has shown pique over the fact that Thaw failed to advance money recently when she was sued for debt and it is said she will be willing to aid Mr. Hartridge.

Mrs. Mary Thaw denies there is basis for Hartridge's claim and she is preparing to make a hard legal fight.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON (Ind.) May 25.—That Laura Bunn Clark is the legal wife of the Rev. E. E. Davidson, former pastor of the First Christian Church was decided today by Judge Wrighton in the Federal Court. Miss Clark, the daughter of a former Mayor of this city, alleged that Davidson and she were recently married in a St. Louis hotel by a private contract drawn up by the preacher on the back of an envelope. Soon after publication of the charges Davidson left. He last was heard from at Toronto. He denied that Miss Clark was his wife.

VETERAN AND BABES BURN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

OTTUMWA (Iowa) May 25.—John Carter, an old soldier, and the three children of his daughter, Mrs. Lola Shaw, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed the Shaw house at Eldon, twelve miles east of here, early today. Mrs. Shaw is employed during the night and left the children with their grandfather, aged 75. The fire was caused by the overturning of a lighted lamp during a storm.

DON'T WANT CARNEGIE'S GOLD.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CINCINNATI, May 25.—The Presbyterian Ministers' Association, in session yesterday, strongly criticised the action of a number of sectarian colleges throughout the country in renouncing their affiliation with religious bodies, in order that they might share in the Carnegie bequests. Such action was condemned as incompatible with the spirit in which they were founded. The question arose over a report that Wooster College, which is of the Presbyterian denomination, contemplated action which would bring it within the pale of the Carnegie bequests.

SAVED FROM BLAZE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 25.—Insensible from a blow delivered by a burglar, John Adams, 13 years of age, lay helpless while flames crackled about him last night in the home of his father, a policeman, having set fire to the house before he fled. The boy was alone in his brother's home, having been left to guard the house. Hearing a noise in the kitchen, he found there a negro at the table, holding a carving knife, with which he had sliced a loaf of bread lying on the table. Adams snatched the knife, but was felled the next moment. The flames from the kitchen were seen by a passer-by, who sounded an alarm. Firemen found the boy still lying insensible on the floor and dragged him out.

MAY SWEAR IN WISCONSIN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MADISON (Wis.) May 25.—The inalienable right of a citizen of Wisconsin to use profanity under sufficient provocation is not to be abrogated by the Legislature, with the consent of Gov. Davidson. The Governor is not a profane man, but having lived in the Kickapoo Valley for a quarter of a century, he realizes that a person may sometimes be so circumstanced that it is practically impossible for him to refrain from indulging in a few sulphurous remarks. Believing as he does, the Governor vetoed the Hull bill prohibiting swearing in any public place under a penalty of a $25 fine or thirty days in jail, or both fine and imprisonment. Assemblyman Hull, author of the bill, is disappointed, and will try to pass the bill over the veto.

ST. LOUIS MAGISTRATE GETS A JOB SWEEPING STREETS.

Judge Stanton, Victim of Overwork, After First Day of Humble Toil, Says He Feels Better Than He Has Hitherto for Years—Well-Known in Baseball Circles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EAST ST. LOUIS (Ill.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Forced by orders of his physician to abandon office work and remain in the open as much as possible, Judge Thomas Stanton, municipal magistrate, today started work as a street sweeper here. As magistrate, Stanton received $300 a month; as a street sweeper he receives $1.50 a day.

Judge Stanton was elected two years ago to fill the unexpired term of Judge McKane. The time and close attention he gave the office told heavily upon his health. One year ago, he was taken to a hospital and for several weeks his life was despaired of. He resumed work, but six months ago was sent back to the hospital. When he came out he resigned and last week applied to the Mayor for a position on the streets.

"I would rather work for $1.50 a day and be able to eat three square meals and sleep soundly, than to make hundreds of dollars a month and be unable to eat or sleep," he said today. "After my work today I felt better than I have for years."

Stanton for many years was widely known in baseball circles, having been umpire for the Texas and Pacific Northwest leagues, and held similar positions with various minor leagues in the Middle West.

Attorney Short Says They Defy Decency.

Case May Go to the Jury Soon for Verdict.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "A triumvirate of grafters, whose downfall is due to their lust for gold, their defiance of decency and their disregard for law."

Martin B. ("Skinny") Madden and his associates, M. J. Boyle and F. A. Pouchot, thus were scored today by First Assistant State's Attorney Benedict J. Short. The prosecutor, in his opening address to the jury in the conspiracy trial before Judge McSurely, called upon the twelve men to assist the State's Attorney's office in its "warfare on graft." Mr. Short will finish his argument in the morning and the case may go to the jury Thursday.

"This is a fight of decency against the octopus of labor graft," said Mr. Short. "It is the fight of clean laboring men against the leaders that have betrayed them for personal profit. New York has wrestled with the monster; San Francisco is fighting with it now. And, today, Chicago is trying to clean its own stables."

Grand jury action against several prominent labor leaders was made certain today when State's Attorney Wayman received information from detectives on his staff to the effect that an attempt to influence the jury which is trying the Madden case had been outlined.

The State rested its case at noon and adjournment was then taken until 2 o'clock.

Assistant State's Attorney Benedict J. Short began final argument for the State after recess. He demanded the conviction of the men, citing cases in Missouri, Illinois, New York and Massachusetts, where labor leaders had been found guilty on evidence identical with that in this case, and said the decisions were upheld by the Supreme Courts of the respective States.

Mr. Wayman, in an interview, said that the case was one of the clearest examples of conspiracy ever brought to trial in the State.

Early in the afternoon Judge McSurely caused surprise when he ordered George S. Andres and other witnesses for the State to take seats farther from the jury box. It has been the custom of several to sit near the jury.

For the first time since the trial was begun, Mr. Wayman admitted that he contemplated presenting his evidence against several labor leaders to the grand jury immediately upon the conclusion of the graft trial.

His admission followed the facts that efforts had been made to influence the jury and that a mysterious stranger had sought to secure photographs of the members.

"I have an abundance of testimony which I will present to the grand jury when this case is concluded," said the prosecutor.

STRIKERS CROWD HONOLULU.

SEVEN THOUSAND JAPS OUT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

HONOLULU, May 25.—The Japanese employés of the five largest sugar plantations on the island of Hawaii, numbering more than 7000, are now on strike for a higher wage scale. Three thousand of the strikers are crowded into Honolulu, living in quarters prepared for them by sympathizers. A general meeting of plantation managers from all parts of the island has been called for Thursday, when all matters appertaining to the strike will be considered.

Japan Plans Elaborate Reception to Chinese Envoy Who Returns Prince Fushimi's Visit.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

TOKIO, May 25.—The Japanese government is already preparing for an elaborate reception to Prince Tsaichen, selected as China's envoy to convey to the Mikado China's thanks for having sent Prince Fishimi to Peking to attend the funeral of the late Emperor.

The announcement of the selection of Tsaichen, who is of lower rank than Fushimi, is not regarded here as in any respect an affront to Japan's dignity. On the contrary, it is pointed out as quite natural that the regent should select Taichen, who acts merely as the bearer of a message, unlike Fushimi, who personally represented the Emperor of Japan at the funeral of the Emperor of China.

Although the Japanese Prince, Fushimi, holds a higher rank at court than does Tsaichen in the same circles at Peking, the latter has been entrusted with foreign missions equaling in importance those to which the former has been assigned. Tsaichen is Minister to the Presence, lieutenant-general of the Bordered White Banner Corps, and was special Ambassador to England at the coronation of King Edward in 1902.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HUTCHINSON (Kan.) May 25. — [Exclusive Dispatch.] When it came to a choice between his trade union and his prospective bride, Coleman C. Clinton, a linotype operator of Portland, Or., chose the former here today, and had it not been for the anxiety of Probate Judge Jordan to please, the marriage ceremony might not have been performed. Clinton absolutely refused to be married when the marriage certificate proved to be without a union label.

Clinton yesterday received a license to wed Miss Ethyl Johnson of Lindsborg, an accomplished musician. He had come from the Pacific Coast to make her his bride. Probate Judge Jordan has lately received some sample marriage certificates from the East, and he was about to use one of these when Clinton noticed the lack of a union label and refused the certificate. Another certificate was secured and the ceremony was performed.

Girl Separated from Clergyman Whom Her Parents Opposed After She Finds She Could Not Live With Him—Now Making Living by Selling Flowers to Society Folk.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPRINGFIELD (O.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An unsentimental court in Florida has stepped in and decreed that the "spiritual marriage" of Rev. A. J. Wilder, an Episcopal rector, formerly of this city, and Carrie Howell Wilder, his girl bride, was no marriage at all. Mrs. Wilder, who is now making a good income selling flowers to society folks, was overjoyed today when a letter from Daytona, Fla., informed her that her husband had obtained an annulment of the marriage.

Mr. Wilder, a grave, studious man, much older than Miss Howell, surprised all their friends by winning her hand. The girl's parents were opposed to the match, but she was not to be thwarted, and girl and pastor set up housekeeping in a cosy rectory.

Owing to the objections made by the girl's parents the rector said theirs would be a "spiritual marriage." For some time Mrs. Wilder made no complaint at this strange order of married life, but at last there was an open breach. The girl and the pastor lived apart.

Several weeks ago doubts beset Mrs. Wilder; she wondered whether or not she loved her husband. After that she went to Daytona, where he had taken a charge, and in his absence she climbed through a window and took temporary possession of the rectory. She slept in the bed and took a refreshing bath and added many little comfortable feminine touches to the household arrangements. But the pastor came not. "I knew then that I never could love him," she said to her friends on her return to Springfield. "I hope he will set me free."

BEEF TRUST AMBITIOUS.

Two Packing-houses Said to Be Reaching After Argentine Trade.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While Chicago packers were answering the statements made in the report of George Young, second secretary of the British embassy at Washington, by pointing to the recent report of the Parliamentary Committee as an entire refutation of any charge that the so-called American beef trust is trying to corral the English trade, there comes a special dispatch from Boston which states that Swift & Co. and Armour & Co. are making arrangements to enter the packing business in Argentina on an extensive scale.

It is interesting to note that the Parliamentary Committee's report stated there was reason to believe that the big American companies intend to enter the Argentine field. According to the rumors in Boston, Swift & Co. intend to go into the cattle and packing business in Argentina on a great scale and it is said that Armour & Co.'s big bond issue means that that company will wage war in South America with its Chicago rival.

One report is to the effect that the Swifts intend to put on ten steel steamships, to cost $1,000,000 each, between Argentina and London, and dominate the trade in the latter place.

GOLD BLASTED OUT OF MINE

High-Grades Found in Near-by Properties.

Great Rush Is on to Get to District.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DOWNIEVILLE, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Between $75,000 and $100,000 in almost pure gold was loosened by a blast in Eldorado tunnel at Allegheny, Sierra county, last evening. Hatfuls of gold nuggets with particles of quartz attached were picked from the floor of the tunnel.

This find promises to eclipse even the Sixteen-to-One and Tightner, both near neighbors. H. L. Johnson, owner of the Tightner, bonded the Eldorado two weeks ago for $35,000.

The Morning Glory mine, near by, owned by Rohrig Bros., has just broken into rock of immense value, big slabs, sprinkled and seamed with gold, being exhibited. The owners refuse to say what their strike brought, but it is said to be $70,000.

An old-fashioned gold rush is on to Allegheny from all directions, men of every vocation and of every age flocking into the district to stake claims. H. L. Stark, consulting engineer for George Wingfield, the well-known millionaire of Goldfield, was there some time ago trying to buy and consolidate the Tightner, Sixteen-to-One, Eldorado, Morning Glory and other rich properties, but Wingfield's wealth proved inadequate.

SACRAMENTO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although Floyd D. Carter about a month ago pleaded guilty to murdering his wife in this city, four months ago, he is now making a fight to escape punishment or get off without the death penalty. His attorney, Archibald Yell, today moved to set aside the indictment on technical grounds, after having secured permission for the prisoner to withdraw his plea of guilty. A continuance was granted until tomorrow, when arguments will take place, the trial of the case being set for June 8. If the indictment is set aside, another indictment will be necessary before the plea can again be entered. The understanding is that the trial will proceed at the appointed time.

THOUSAND GOING ON TRANSPORT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

VALLEJO, May 25.—The United States naval transport Buffalo will sail for the Philippines within two days, carrying more than a thousand enlisted men who are to replace those whose time of service has expired while with the Asiatic squadron of the Pacific fleet. A large number of officers assigned to the Asiatic squadron will travel on the Buffalo and the ship is so crowded that twenty of these will be berthed on cots on the saloon deck. The Buffalo will proceed directly to the squadron and after the exchange of men has been accomplished the vessel will return to San Francisco with those who are to be mustered out.

LIBEL SUIT DISMISSED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—The libel suit brought by P. H. McCarthy against J. D. Spreckels, Charles W. Hornick and Ernest S. Simpson, respectively owner, manager and managing editor of the call, was dismissed today by Police Judge Shortall. The ground for dismissal, as stated in the demurrer filed by Attorney Robert Bacon, which was sustained, was that the complaint did not set forth facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. The case grew out of an article published in the Call relative to a meeting in the offices of W. F. Herrin which McCarthy and other labor leaders were alleged to have attended.

TACOMA, May 25.—Denying that there has ever been any real war scare in Japan, and that relations with the United States are as friendly as they well could be, Rear-Admiral Ijichi, in command of the squadron composed of the cruisers Aso and Soya, extended a greeting from Japan to the people of Washington at a formal call upon Gov. Tonight a brilliant reception to the Japanese and American officers was tendered in the Tacoma Hotel. The men of the ships were entertained with an athletic exhibition at the armory.

TROOPS GOING ON TRANSPORT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

VALLEJO, May 25.—The United States naval transport Buffalo will sail for the Philippines within two days, carrying more than a thousand enlisted men who are to replace those whose time of service has expired while with the Asiatic squadron of the Pacific fleet. A large number of officers assigned to the Asiatic squadron will travel on the Buffalo and the ship is so crowded that twenty of these will be berthed on cots on the saloon deck. The Buffalo will proceed directly to the Philippines and after the exchange of troops has been accomplished the vessel will return to San Francisco with those who are to be mustered out.

LIBEL SUIT DISMISSED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—The libel suit brought by P. H. McCarthy against J. D. Spreckels, Charles W. Hassick and Ernest S. Simpson, respectively owner, manager and managing editor of the call, was dismissed today by Police Judge Shortall. The grounds for dismissal, as stated in the demurrer filed by Attorney Robert Bacon, which was sustained, was that the complaint did not set forth facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. The case grew out of an article published in the Call relative to a meeting in the offices of W. F. Herrin at which McCarthy and other labor leaders were alleged to have attended.

WAR SCARE DENIED.

JAPS AT TACOMA.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TACOMA, May 25.—Denying that there has ever been any real war scare in Japan, and that relations with the United States are as friendly as they well could be, Rear-Admiral Ijichi, in command of the squadron composed of the cruisers Aso and Soya, extended a greeting from Japan to the people of Washington at a formal call upon Gov. Hay at the Tacoma Hotel today. Admiral Sebree of the Pacific fleet also called upon the Governor.

Tonight a brilliant reception to the Japanese and American officers was tendered in the Tacoma Hotel. The men of the ships were entertained with an athletic exhibition at the armory.

ROSE DAY FOR PORTLAND.

"RUBBER-NECK PARADE."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PORTLAND, May 25.—Portland's annual rose carnival and fiesta will take place during the week beginning June 1.

On the initial day the city will be the host of Rear-Admiral Ijichi and his staff, and in their honor a banquet will be held in the evening. More than 2000 invitations have been issued to this affair.

Tuesday and Wednesday the annual rose exhibition will be held in Portland's famous forestry building. The chief parades are the decorated rubber-neck wagon parade on Wednesday and the "Spirit of the Golden West" pageant, Thursday night. Included in this will be a cherry blossom parade by local Japanese.

Also on this night the Chinese of Portland have promised to bring out their green dragon, a hideous, fire-breathing serpent 800 feet long.

BUSHEL OF FLIES DAILY.

New Fly Trap to Be Tried in the Orchards of Washington.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NORTH YAKIMA (Wash.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Experiments are to be made by the State Board of Health with a fly trap guaranteed to catch a bushel of flies every twenty-four hours.

The first trap will be installed in a North Yakima orchard and if successful the health board will endeavor to secure adoption of the device by orchardists throughout the State.

During the harvest season when the ground is covered with decaying fruit, flies become a great pest and a serious menace to health. It is then that the traps are expected to prove useful.

SUICIDE IDENTIFIED BY HAT.

Vallejo Capitalist While Deranged Jumps Overboard from Steamer. Crew Tries to Find Body.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

VALLEJO, May 25.—Through the recognition of his hat, left behind him on the steamer Arrow, from which he jumped to his death in the bay last night, it was established beyond doubt today that the hitherto unidentified suicide was William Streichan, a local capitalist, who disappeared from his home yesterday evening while his mind was temporarily deranged.

Streichan leaped into the bay while the Arrow was bound to San Francisco, early last night. Judge J. H. O'Leary of this city saw him jump, but was not close enough to distinguish his features. The steamer's crew worked for an hour, endeavoring to locate the body.

Streichan was a resident of Vallejo for twenty-six years, and left a wife and several nephews. He owned two of the largest business buildings in the city and other valuable property in the county.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Cruisers at Seattle.

SEATTLE, May 25.—The United States cruisers West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland passed in at Cape Flattery at 6 o'clock this morning, bound from San Francisco to join the three cruisers of Admiral Sebree's squadron, the Tennessee, Washington and California, which are already at Tacoma in company with the Japanese cruisers Aso and Soya. The incoming cruisers will proceed direct to the Puget Sound navy yard, Bremerton, where they will remain until Friday or Saturday, proceeding from that place to Seattle.

Arrested for Smuggling.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—The customs officials are convinced that by the arrest of Joseph Alexander, in whose possession was found ten tins of opium on which no duty had been paid, they have obtained a clew which may lead to the character of smugglers who are known to have been operating for some time in this city. Alexander was arrested for a similar offense several years ago.

Father Drowns With Son.

SPOKANE, May 25.—Losing his own life in a desperate effort to save his 6-year-old son, A. W. Duncan, a fisherman, was drowned in the swift rapids just below Monroe-street bridge at noon today. Their boat, anchored in midstream, capsized. Duncan tried to throw the lad to land. The effort failed and both were swept down stream.

Death to Bareback Rider.

COALINGA, May 25.—While racing with a delivery boy on a bicycle last night, "Chick" Hudson, a bricklaying contractor, fell from a high-spirited horse he was riding and sustained a fracture of the skull, causing his death in a few minutes. He was riding without saddle or bridle.

PEARSONS MAKES GIFT.

Whitman College at Walla Walla Is Given $50,000 for Academic Department.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WALLA WALLA, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. D. K. Pearsons, the Chicago philanthropist, has just added to his numerous gifts to western educational institutions a $50,000 bequest to the academic department of Whitman College, which has been christened Pearsons Academy in honor of the donor. Announcement of the gift was made today by President S. B. L. Penrose of Whitman, on his return from the East. Unlike other endowments made by Dr. Pearsons, no conditions are imposed in the present instance.

When Dr. Pearsons visited the West last year he was very favorably impressed with Whitman. At the some time, however, he announced that his finances were in such condition that he would give no more to colleges for some time.

SWEETHEART KEEPS GIFTS.

Jilted Lover Sues to Recover Jewel He Presented to Object of Admiration.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles Boscacci today made an effort to force Miss Adele Gardella to return to him the presents he gave her while he was making an effort to win her heart and hand. He included the father of the young lady in the complaint and asserted he took the jewelry in dispute and instead of giving it to the girl, made Mrs. Gardella a present of the same.

When Boscacci was rejected by the young woman he insisted that all of his tokens be returned but neither the fond desire of his heart nor the father would consent to such a move and an action was brought in the Justice Court that created a lot of amusement.

The girl in the case declared she never did have any love or own a friendly feeling for Boscacci and spurned him in open court much to the amusement of the large crowd that attended the proceedings. Justice Parker reserved his decision.

TWO KILLED BY AUTO WHILE VIEWING CROPS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

STOCKTON, May 25.—Mrs. Warren Jones, wife of a well-known island farmer, and the 3-year-old son of her sister, Mrs. Ike Robinson, were killed in an automobile accident eleven miles from Stockton this afternoon. They were evidently drowned, as the automobile was overturned in two feet of water. Mrs. Robinson was saved from drowning by her daughter, a child of 7 or 8, who held her head above water till farmers came and rescued the machine.

The machine was driven by Ike Robinson, and with him were his wife and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Jones, and their two little children. Nearing a bridge across Middle River, on Bouldin Island, the machine skidded on a high embankment and went over into the water. The occupants were all caught beneath the heavy machine save the eldest Robinson girl and Mrs. Jones's little girl, aged 3. Mr. Robinson was caught beneath the machine and held with the water near his head until farmers came. Mrs. Jones was pinioned by the rear wheel and was dead when assistance came to the party. The little Jones child was uninjured. Mr. Robinson was so badly injured that he was unable to stand.

Mr. Jones, a potato grower, was at one of his ranches, several miles away, and did not learn of the accident until some hours after it happened.

The Jones family lived in Stockton and the party was out to see the crops on the islands in which the men are interested.

BAILEY SPOILS HIS OWN GAME.

Threat to Block Proceedings Angers the Insurgents.

Cummins's Measure Will Follow the Schedules.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Had it not been for the attitude of the "progressive Republicans," who favored the adoption of an income tax amendment to the tariff bill, it is probable that Senator Bailey might have reached an agreement today with members of the Finance Committee for a vote on his amendment on June 10.

Offense was taken by some of the insurgent Republicans because of the notice served that no general agreement could be obtained on any phase of the tariff bill so long as Senator Aldrich refused permission for the fixing of a date for a vote on Senator Bailey's income tax amendment.

It was made clear at the informal conferences that the Republicans supporting the Cummins amendment desired the continuance of coalition with the Democrats but that they did not want it at the expense of surrendering the control of the income tax fight to the Democrats. Senator Cummins conveyed this view to Senator Bailey.

Senator Cummins said tonight that he would offer his income tax amendment as soon as consideration of schedules had been concluded. He will revise his amendment to meet the wishes of a numbr of Republicans. It will provide for a flat rate of personal incomes, including those of corporations. A drawback will be allowed to individual stockholders of corporations equal to the sum paid on their stock by the corporation itself when it can be shown by the individual that the total of his income is less than $5000 a year. The Bailey amendment provides for a tax of 2 per cent.

DICKINSON SHOOTS 'GATOR.

PROVES GOOD SHOT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Secretary of War Dickinson proved himself the best marksman of the party which recently accompanied him to Panama by killing a ten-foot alligator with jaws big enough to bite a man in two. An alligator hunt was arranged for the secretary of war a few days after the reached Panama. The party journeyed twenty-five miles by tug up the coast to the mouth of Chelo River and eight miles up that stream in small boats to the lair of alligators and crocodiles. Several of the party fired at the alligator, which eventually became the booty of Secretary Dickinson, but their bullets seemed to inflict little harm. Taking careful aim, the Secretary made a thirty-five-yard shot and bagged his game. It was the only alligator taken.

Holidays Guaranteed.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—President Taft today issued an executive order, directing that when national holidays fall on Sunday, all government employés entitled to a holiday should be granted leave on the Monday following. In States where the State laws provide for celebrations on the Saturday preceding holidays falling on Sunday, government employés will be granted leave on Saturday.

CORNER-STONE EXPENSIVE.

Dispensed With One in New City Hall in Chicago and Celebrate Quietly.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The city of Chicago is too poor to pay the expenses of having President Taft lay the corner-stone of the new City Hall. Therefore the Council Committee on Public Buildings has abandoned its plan of inviting the Executive.

The members of the committee figured that it would cost $5000 to have the celebration they had planned. The city would have to hire bands at the union scale, get out a fancy programme, purchase several yards of bunting, erect a platform for the speakers, invest in some souvenirs for the distinguished guests, hire some automobiles to take the President for a ride through parks, and perhaps have a banquet. There were other items which went into the figuring.

It was too much, so the committee will just announce in the news columns of the daily papers that some day between June 19 and 20 it will lay the corner-stone. Mayor Busse and other city officials will be present and the living ex-mayors may be invited to speak.

Cartoonist and Charming Wife Are Living Apart and Will Be Divorced.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Davenport were grieved to learn today that the cartoonist and his charming wife had separated and that Mr. Davenport had established himself with his Arabian horses at Goshen, N. Y., leaving to Mrs. Davenport and the three children the farm at Morris Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Davenport, it was said today, had not been living happily since the return of the cartoonist from Arabia. That their disagreements were serious was first evidenced six months ago when the artist made a prolonged stay in the West. Since his return he has visited Morris Plains but seldom.

The telegram also authorized cash prizes for the suggestion of names for these boats, representative of Oregon, thus indicating that Portland would be the home port.

Construction of the two steamships was commenced by the Newport News Shipbuilding Company about May 15, and the contract calls for their completion within one year. Their cost is placed at $1,500,000 each.

It is understood here that the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company's two vessels now on the run will not be withdrawn when the new service is inaugurated, but a four-day instead of a seven-day service will be maintained through to San Pedro. The two new steamships, however, will greatly reduce the running time by sea between this city and San Francisco. The boats now on the run, the Rose City and the State of California, are twelve-knot vessels, while the new steamships will make seventeen knots an hour. The running time between this and the bay city is about fifty hours, and the new vessels will reduce this to approximately thirty-five hours, or very nearly railroad time.

INTOXICATION DENIED.

French Driver Who Was Accused of Recklessness Says He Was Going Slow.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The defense in the damage suit commenced by E. A. Klein against Pierre De Saisset today introduced testimony to disprove the statement of the plaintiff that De Saisset was intoxicated when his automobile collided with a machine driven by Klein near Gilroy last August. Klein claims he was not going more than fifteen miles an hour when the defendant's auto ran into him. He said the De Saisset machine swerved from side to side and called witnesses, who declared they could detect an odor of liquor on the defendant's breath after the accident. Klein asks for $1500 for the smashing up of his car, but C. H. Letcher testified as an expert that the machine, considering its age and usage, was not worth more than $350.

The plaintiff also demands $500 for personal injuries to himself and his wife and two children who were passengers on the machine at the time of the accident.

The defendant took the stand in his own behalf to say the purpose of his trips to points near Gilroy was to buy turkeys and declared he was sober at the time.

De Saisset is a well-known club man and son of the former French consul at San Francisco.

EL PASO THREATENED.

High Water Caves in Banks of River and Gangs Are Working With Dynamite.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The highest water in the history of El Paso's later days is now crumbling the banks of the Rio Grande, due to the melting snow in the Colorado and New Mexico mountains, which is twice as deep this year as the average.

The river is now several inches above flood tide, which is fourteen feet here, and the soft sandy banks are caving rapidly and sections of the city and valley above and below El Paso are threatened.

Workmen are fighting to prevent the river cutting into the big canal that irrigates the valley below El Paso, as if it breaks through it will doubtless change its course and throw a big area of Texas land on the Mexican side. The county had stationed men with blocks and tackles and dynamite on bridges to break the driftwood loose and prevent the structures washing out, and they are working night and day.

The city has guards along the river bank to give the warning if the water breaks over.

GRAFT PROSECUTION.

DETECTIVES OF BOTH SIDES ON THE STAND.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—Detectives employed by the prosecution and detectives employed by the defense were the only witnesses called during today's session of the trial of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads.

Luther Brown, who admitted that he directed the activities of several assistants working in the interests of the defense, was finally interrogated as to his relations with men who have confessed to complicity in the theft of papers from the office of W. J. Burns, agent of the prosecution. He refused to testify on the ground that his statements might tend to incriminate him.

Norman Melrose, another attaché of the United Railroads detective bureau, said that he had delivered to William M. Abbott, jointly indicted with Mr. Calhoun, reports procured by men under his direction.

Nicholas Korngold, the third witness of the day, declared he, with two detectives and John Claudianes had followed Dist.-Atty. W. H. Langdon to the home of James L. Gallagher, which had been wrecked by an explosion of dynamite. He declared that Abbott had commended him for his work and had instructed him to ascertain, if possible, what had transpired in the grand jury room in Oakland when Claudianes was indicted in connection with the dynamiting. The witness said that he had been directed by Abbott to establish relations with Felix Paudeveris, who was accused of complicity in the affair but has never been apprehended.

"You have worked for the United Railroads and you have worked for Burns," said Attorney Rogers, on cross-examination. "When you get through working for Burns will you be open to an offer to testify to what you learned in his employ?"

Heney objected to this question as insulting, and it was not answered.

WITNESSES REPORTED GONE.

It was announced by the prosecution that Attorney John O'Neill and his brother, Hugh, together with E. A. Platt, all witnesses in the Calhoun case, have disappeared. Agents of the District Attorney's office are making a search for them. The O'Neill brothers, who were subpoenaed as witnesses, are accused of having attempted to prevent the appearance of Detective John Holms as a witness for the prosecution. Platt was accused of delivering papers from the office of William J. Burns to the defense. At that time he was a confidential assistant to Burns.

The dynamiting of the home of Gallagher was the chief subject of investigation at the morning session of the trial. Luther Brown resumed the witness stand and testified that when the house occupied by the former chairman of the Supervisors was blown up he (Brown) had employed a photographer to take pictures of the damaged residence. His further investigations, he said, led him to believe that the dynamiting was arranged by Gallagher himself or by J. Schenck, his brother-in-law, who was an occupant of the house.

"A former client of mine," said Brown, "was a neighbor of Gallagher and he wrote me concerning some facts he had learned. I went to Oakland to see him and he said a man named Wagner or Warner had told him of a suspicious occurrence on the night of the dynamiting. Wagner said he was smoking in his back yard, which adjoined the Gallagher yard, and that when the explosion occurred, he rushed over to the rear door of the Gallagher home. There, he said, he was met by either Schenck or Gallagher, who gruffly ordered him to keep away.

"For this reason, I did not personally interview Wagner. I was pretty well satisfied that no one was in any great danger."

THOUGHT IT GRAND-STAND PLAY

"What purpose did you think Gallagher had in blowing up his own home?" demanded Heney.

"I thought it was done to arouse the flagging interest of the public," said Brown, "and to create sympathy for Gallagher."

"Having in mind your duties as an attorney, you nevertheless made no effort to aid in the exposure of persons you believed guilty of a capital offense?" asked Heney.

"I am no detective," said the witness. "I assumed that W. J. Burns, with his well-known fealty to the public welfare, would doubtless uncover the culprits."

As an additional reason for undertaking the investigation, Brown testified, he learned that a man named Wilhelm, some time prior to the dynamiting, was arrested on his way to this city with two "fake" bombs in his possession.

"I had learned," said the witness, "that Wilhelm had said he was requested by a man named Macey to make bombs for me and was told I would pay him $200 for the two he had."

Brown affirmed that he had been influenced in his opinion by ascertaining through his Oakland client, whose name was Johnson, that the latter had found in the wrecked house a catalogue containing lists and prices of explosives.

In reply to Heney's question, the witness declared he had told Mr. Calhoun of his investigation and conclusions. He denied that he had ever known Felix Paudevaris, the Greek padrone accused of complicity in the dynamiting.

Brown admitted that he had once spoken to Nicholas Korngold, to see if Korngold could speak the Greek language.

"I wanted him to go to Oakland and interview one of the Claudianes brothers, who had been arrested for complicity in the dynamiting," explained the witness.

The defense interposed an objection to further inquiry along this line and Heney withdrew the witness, substituting Korngold, who is now in the employ of the prosecution. Korngold testified that he had first been employed by John H. Helms, but that he began to make reports to William Abbott in August, 1908. In response to questions, he stated he had received from E. A. Platt many documents taken from the office of W. J. Burns and delivered them to Helms at first, but later to Abbott.

Brown, resuming the stand, then told of various conversations he had with Helms and Abbott. He declared he had never learned that Felix Paudevaris had worked for the United Railroads.

DISCUSSED CLAUDIANES.

Heney asked if the witness had not requested Korngold, by a series of signs, to follow him from Kearny street to the neighborhood of Golden Gate Park, where they talked of the Claudianes brothers. Brown admitted that he had done something of this sort, adding that he had no desire to be seen talking to Korngold in public.

Brown denied that the name of Paudevaris had been mentioned in his conversation with Korngold and that he had ever told Abbott of sending Korngold to see the Claudianes brothers or their relatives.

Heney sought to ascertain the instructions given the witness by Abbott and the character of work he was expected to do.

"My instructions were general," said Brown. "For instance, I considered it part of my duty to investigate published reports that Supervisor Thomas Lonergan had said he was never promised any money in the trolley deal. I felt the same way in regard to the report that Supervisor W. W. Sanderson was paid $15,000 in Arizona to join the prosecution forces."

One of the questions by Heney met with objection from John J. Barrett of the defense, who said:

"If the District Attorney is permitted to roam about as he pleases and ask any questions he pleases, this case will take a position ahead of the Dreyfus case. It will become the greatest judicial farce of the age."

"Mr. Barrett, you must not refer to any act of this court as farcical," interrupted Judge Lawlor with some show of anger, whereupon Mr. Barrett disclaimed any intention of commenting upon the court's action.

Mr. Heney met the renewed objections of Mr. Barrett by remarking: "It has been charged by the attorneys for the other side that Mr. Heney, Mr. Spreckels and Mr. Burns have suborned the Supervisors to commit perjury. I am offering them an opportunity to prove it, even by hearsay."

Brown a few moments later denied that he had ever sent J. C. Brown, one of his assistants, to Arizona, or that he had paid the expenses of such a trip.

PROBING HENEY IN ARIZONA.

"Did you not send him to Arizona to secure the indictment of Mr. Heney on a charge of murder?" asked the prosecutor.

"I did not," was the reply. "That is simply another pipe-dream."

"Did he not send reports to you of his progress in Arizona?"

"He did not," said Brown. "I don't believe he went to Arizona."

"Did he not report to you that he had a Mexican who was willing to testify?"

Brown repeated his denial as the court directed Heney to stop this line of inquiry.

Alexander King and Stanley Moore of the defense were rebuked by Judge Lawlor when they made reference to the length of time devoted to the prosecution's inquiry.

"The court wants no suggestion from counsel as to the time to be given either side," declared the judge. "It is none of your business how long the trial will take."

Heney then sought to learn the present whereabouts of J. C. Brown, for whom, he said, the prosecution had issued a subpoena. The witness said he believed his namesake had been in Los Angeles within the last two or three weeks.

Brown, who was arrested on a charge of grand larceny involved in the theft of papers from Burns's office, denied that he had employed and paid Jerry Van Wormser, one of the men arrested at the same time, except in a personal matter. He refused to say whether he had ever received from Van Wormser any of the papers stolen from the office of Burns, or whether he had ever made an offer of money to John G. Lawlor, an agent of the District Attorney. Brown admitted that Harry Lorentzen, one of the United States detectives, had made an appointment for him to meet Lawlor.

To the next question, which related to the alleged offer of money, an objection was interposed and Heney declared that it was his intention to show the offer of a bribe.

"Do I understand," inquired Brown, "that you are trying to fasten an offense on me on my own testimony?"

"You heard my statement," said Heney.

"I am your witness," declared Brown, "and I think I am entitled to your protection."

"In that respect," said Heney, "you are not under my protection. You are an attorney and you have court associates who are competent to protect you."

"Then I refuse to testify, under my privilege," said the witness.

"Take the witness," said Heney.

Stanley Moore of the defense asked but two questions, in reply to which Brown said that Mr. Calhoun had no knowledge of Brown's attempt to trap Lonergan, and that the defendant knew nothing of Van Wormser.

All the testimony of the day was offered, according to Heney's statement, in the effort to show that Mr. Calhoun and Mr. Abbott were engaged in a conspiracy to defeat the ends of justice and suppress testimony.

While neither side will give an outline of the testimony still to be offered, it is believed that the prosecution is nearing the end of its case, and the previous trials of Tirey L. Ford, general counsel for the United Railroads, are offered in support of the prediction that the defense will offer but little testimony in rebuttal. Under the most favorable circumstances it is believed that arguments to the jury will be reached in another week.

United States District Attorney Devlin received today from Attorney-General Wickersham a statement of the amounts disbursed by the government to Francis J. Heney for his work in connection with the Oregon land fraud cases. Attorney Devlin is instructed to hold the statements strictly subject to the order of the court. It was asked for by the attorneys for Patrick Calhoun, and furnished after Heney had given his consent.

MUST PAY FOR HANGED MAN.

Life Insurance Company Refused Right to Contest Big Policy on Wife Murderer.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RICHMOND (Va.) May 25.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond has denied a hearing to a life insurance company in the McCue case, as a result of which the company will be compelled to pay the death claim of $20,000 on the life of J. S. McCue, former Mayor of Charlottesville, Va., who was hanged for wife murder. The company contested payment on the ground that it was against public policy to pay a claim on a man who was killed by due process of law, and the decision established a Federal ruling on all cases where policyholders are legally executed.

BIG INTEREST OWED BY ROAD.

Million Must Be Paid by July Fifth.

San Antonio Line Carries Heavy Burden.

Southern Pacific Supposed to Be Responsible.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AUSTIN (Tex.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Interest amounting to nearly $1,000,000 must be paid by the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio Railway Company, or by its holding company, the Southern Pacific, to Thomas M. Hubbard and his associates before July 5, or the Hubbard and Crocker mortgage on the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio may be foreclosed and a receiver appointed, according to a ruling filed in the Federal Court at San Antonio by Judge T. S. Maxey. The suit is brought by the Thomas M. Hubbard and the Crocker Estate Company, who owned over $5,000,000 worth of the bonds of the old Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio, and grows out of transactions connected with the merger of the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio, or Western Texas lines, with the Southern Pacific.

Before the merger, the road had failed, and was not earning money, and the bondholders had agreed to allow the interest to be deferred, but not, they contend, remitted entirely. When the Southern Pacific bought the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio, an express agreement was drawn up with the bondholders of the smaller company that the Southern Pacific should assume all obligations of the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio with respect to the bondholders. During 1905, 1906 and 1907, the plaintiffs in this suit allege the earnings of the merger lines were very heavy, but although stock dividends were paid, no payment of interest on the bonds was tendered.

CHEATING SPOKANE.

SHIPPERS SEE PLAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because they believe the Harriman and Hill lines are endeavoring to chain Spokane out of the decreased rates granted shippers of that city by the Interstate Commerce Commission, and declaring that San Francisco's assistance to the two big trunk lines in this direction will ultimately end in the same tactics being brought to bear against Reno and other inland cities, the Reno Commercial Club, composed of leading business men announced they had joined forces with Spokane and will refuse to grant any postponement of the original date on which the Interstate Commerce Commission's ruling is to go into effect.

Every influence available in the fight, which now becomes a three-cornered one, will be brought to bear and Nevada legislators in Washington will be called upon by business men to stand side by side with Spokane and to do everything in their power to force compliance with the original order of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

TO REORGANIZE RAILWAYS.

American Association to Eliminate Cumbersome Committees and Consider Electrification.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A complete reorganization of the American Railway Association is being effected with a view to insuring a still more efficient study of the problems which affect American railways. The reorganization plan eliminates a half dozen cumbersome committees which were considering various phases of operation and maintenance, and reduces the number of working committees to five.

In other respects the organization has been made more compact and better able to handle in committee and in association gatherings the many questions which come before it. The American Railway Association has during the past ten years become the most powerful organization of its kind in the world, and its action, though not binding upon its members but only recommendatory, carries great weight.

Among the new subjects which the association is now taking up is electrification, which a competent committee is going into carefully and in detail. Within the next year this committee will make a report and recommendation to the association which will determine largely how soon and how far steam railroads will use electrical power. All of the committees under which the work was being done have been abolished, and the new committees are:

A committee on transportation, consisting of nine members; a committee on maintenance, nine members; a committee on relations between railroads, nine members; a committee on the safe transportation of explosives; and a committee on electrical working, seven members.

RAILROAD GANGS RACE.

Seek to Be First in Reaching Crossing to Escape Expense of Buying Frogs.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VANCOUVER (Wash.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In order to escape paying for necessary frogs to be used in crossing the other's tracks, the North Bank Railroad and the X street railway of Vancouver engaged in a sensational race this morning in laying a few blocks of track. About twenty men for the street car company started at midnight last night to build a track to the depot. A few hours later the North Bank saw through the game and put a force of 200 men at work, every available man in the offices, yards and construction gangs.

Those frogs cost about $400 each and neither road wanted to be caught. The last one on the ground would be obliged to pay for the intersection tracks across the other. The greater force of the North Bank won out, but the track is only a flimsy affair designed merely to hold the fort.

The gangs were so wrought up over the conflict that a fight nearly occurred. A Japanese struck Pat Conway, an Irishman, and was promptly knocked down. His countrymen looked up at this, but the bosses scrambled into the breach and urged the men on to greater efforts and the near riot was averted.

SHIPPERS AIR GRIEVANCES.

Fruit and Produce Men Seek to Have Loading and Unloading Charges Abolished.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Special Examiner Brown, representing the Interstate Commerce Commission, heard further evidence today in the case of the Chicago Wholesale Fruit and Produce Association against the Santa Fé and other railroads, in which the produce dealers seek to have the railroad's loading and unloading charges abolished on all carload shipments of perishable products.

Edward G. Davies, representing the complaining shippers, caused something of a stir in Judge Grosscup's courtroom, where Examiner Brown held his session, when he delivered an impassioned tirade against the railroads and their practices with regard to unloading and loading fruit and produce shipments.

"The railroads play a bunco steer proposition," he said, "not only with the shippers but with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Their rules governing unloading and loading may be all right, but they are not always dealing with experts and in practice can easily use their rules to discriminate among shippers. This they can do by applying either carload or less than carload rules to suit themselves. Because of this their rules are a fiction."

Frank P. Eyman, first assistant general freight agent for the Northwestern road, testified that the system was not discriminatory and that compelling the roads to load and unload carloads without charge would be an imposition on the carriers.

THINK HARD

It Pays to Think About Food.

The unthinking life some people lead often causes trouble and sickness, illustrated in the experience of a lady in Fond du Lac, Wis.

"About four years ago I suffered dreadfully from indigestion, always having eaten whatever I liked, not thinking of the digestible qualities. This indigestion caused palpitation of the heart so badly I could not walk up a flight of stairs without sitting down once or twice to regain breath and strength.

"I became alarmed and tried dieting, wore my clothes very loose, and many other remedies, but found no relief.

"Hearing of the virtues of Grape-Nuts and Postum, I commenced using them in place of my usual breakfast of coffee, cakes or hot biscuit, and in one week's time I was relieved of sour stomach and other ills attending indigestion. In a month's time my heart was performing its functions naturally and I could climb stairs and hills and walk long distances.

"I gained ten pounds in this short time, and my skin became clear and I completely regained my health and strength. I continue to use Grape-Nuts and Postum for I feel that I owe my good health entirely to their use. 'There's a Reason.'

"I like the delicious flavor of Grape-Nuts, and by making Postum according to directions, it tastes similar to mild high grade coffee."

Mrs. Beatrice Dreyfus Sa She Is Annoyed.

Still Loves Husband and Expecting Reconciliation.

Cannot Imagine Why She Being Watched.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) May 25.—[Exclus Dispatch.] Mrs. Beatrice Dreyf who was famed as Beatrice Brevair a fencing girl in Anna Held's theat cal company, and whose husband, Ed Dreyfus, a prominent New York obtained a divorce from her, namin John S. Fee, a St. Louis coal deale as co-respondent, caused the arre here this afternoon of Elsie Daff, detective for the Furlong agenc when he ran to catch a street car which she was seated.

"This man," she said to the police man who made the arrest, "has bee following me ever since I came he from Newport, Ark., last Friday. will appear against him and two other who have followed me." Mrs. Dreyfu could not be seen tonight at the Ter minal Hotel, where she is a guest wit her brother, Earl Wishon. The latte confirmed the published statement tha she is Mrs. Beatrice Brevaine, di vorced actress.

A special dispatch from Newport Ark., tonight says Mrs. Beatrice Drey fus left there last week for St. Lou with her brother, Earl Wishon, ex pecting to make a stay in St. Lou before returning to her home in New York, that while visiting her parent here, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Wishon prominent socially and commercially George O'Leary registered at a hote there from St. Louis and was supposed to have shadowed her for New Yorkers, came near being arrested for securing access to the Wishon home one day, and for "another incident" that O'Leary was a former dining-car superintendent for the Harvey system, running out of Oakland, Cal., and that Mrs. Dreyfus had been a visitor at Hot Springs, Ark.

Mrs. John S. Fee said at the Usonia Hotel here tonight that she does not know Fee's whereabouts and nothing about detectives shadowing Mrs. Dreyfus. The police report Elsie admitted he was shadowing Mrs. Dreyfus, but the Furlong agency claims he was working on another case. A man whose name has not been learned is said to have been seen with Mrs. Dreyfus's party at the Terminal Hotel.

Mrs. Beatrice Brevaine Dreyfus, noted actress, who took leading parts in "Peggy from Paris," "The French Maid" and other plays, said tonight at the Terminal Hotel that she had not the slightest idea why Elsie Daff, a detective who had arrested today for following her, did so.

"He and three others, including a woman named Bernhards, have followed me constantly for the past three days," She said: "The woman left for the South when I threatened to have her arrested for taking a room directly under mine at the hotel. It was I who first brought suit for divorce against Emil Dreyful, New York importer. I have obtained a good sum of money from him already and expect a reconciliation with him. It was simply his jealousy that caused our differences. He never had any real grounds for such a thing. He is the only man in the world for me. It is not true that I ever loved John S. Fee."

GRANTS WIF TO KIS

[BY DIRECT WIRE

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That a wife has a right to kiss her husband whether he lives with her or not, and that a father-in-law has no right to object, was the theory upon which Judge Pollard of the Dayton street police court fined Ernest De Palma $100 and costs for disturbing the peace of Mrs. May Lee De Palma.

Ernest De Palma conducted a dry-goods store at No. 1322 Franklin avenue, Louis, his son, is employed in the store. Recently Louis filed suit for divorce and returned to his father's home to live. The elder De Palma and his daughter-in-law were arrested yesterday after the young woman had chased her kiss-eluding husband all around the yard.

De Palma told the court that young Mrs. De Palma had a habit of coming to the store, and insisting upon kissing Louis, which always made a scene and drove customers away.

DIVORCEE HAS SLEUTH TAKEN.

Mrs. Beatrice Dreyfus Says She Is Annoyed.

Still Loves Husband and Is Expecting Reconciliation.

Cannot Imagine Why She Is Being Watched.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Beatrice Dreyfus, who was famed as Beatrice Brevaine, a dancing girl in Anna Held's theatrical company, and whose husband, Emil Dreyfus, a prominent New Yorker, obtained a divorce from her, naming John S. Fee, a St. Louis coal dealer, as co-respondent, caused the arrest here this afternoon of Elsie Duff, a detective for the Furlong agency, when he ran to catch a street car in which she was seated.

"This man," she said to the policeman who made the arrest, "has been following me ever since I came here from Newport, Ark., last Friday. I will appear against him and two others who have followed me." Mrs. Dreyfus could not be seen tonight at the Terminal Hotel, where she is a guest with her brother, Earl Wishon. The latter confirmed the published statement that she is Mrs. Beatrice Brevaine, divorced actress.

A special dispatch from Newport, Ark., tonight says Mrs. Beatrice Dreyfus left there last week for St. Louis with her brother, Earl Wishon, expecting to make a stay in St. Louis before returning to her home in New York, that while visiting her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Wishon, prominent socially and commercially, George O'Leary registered at a hotel there from St. Louis and was supposed to have shadowed her for New Yorkers, came near being arrested for securing access to the Wishon home one day, and for "another incident" that O'Leary was a former dining-car superintendent for the Harvey system, running out of Oakland, Cal., and that Mrs. Dreyfus had been a visitor at Hot Springs, Ark.

Mrs. John S. Fee said at the Usonia Hotel here tonight that she does not know Fee's whereabouts and nothing about detectives shadowing Mrs. Dreyfus. The police report Elsie admitted he was shadowing Mrs. Dreyfus, but the Furlong agency claims he was working on another case. A man whose name has not been learned is said to have been seen with Mrs. Dreyfus's party at the Terminal Hotel.

Miss Beatrice Brevaine Dreyfus, stage actress, who took leading parts in "Fluffy from Paris," "The French Maid" and other plays, said tonight at the Terminal Hotel that she had not the slightest idea why Elsie Duff, a detective she had arrested today for loitering her, did so.

"He and three others, including a woman named Bernhards, have followed me constantly for the past three days." She said: "The woman left for the South when I threatened to have her arrested for taking a room directly under mine at the hotel. It was who first brought suit for divorce against Emil Dreyfus, New York banker. I have obtained a good sum of money from him already and expect a reconciliation with him. It was only his jealousy that caused our differences. He never had any real grounds for such a thing. He is the only man in the world for me. It is not true that I ever loved John S. Fee."

TO PROSECUTE LAND FRAUDS.

DENVER, May 25.—That the prosecution of the land-fraud cases in Colorado and other western States will be taken up and punished with vigor, is the statement made today by M. C. Burch, representing the Department of Justice, who is in Denver in connection with the work of the department. According to Mr. Burch, Atty.-Gen. Wickersham will form a special bureau in the Department of Justice for the prosecution of these cases.

RESCUED FROM BLAZING AUTO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—John Hanan, a wealthy shoe manufacturer, and his wife were rescued in a thrilling manner from their burning automobile, in front of the Metropolitan Operahouse, where the Lambs' Club was giving its gambol last night. Their car had just stopped at the entrance, being one in a long train of automobiles, when the car behind suddenly plunged forward and shattered the gasoline tank of the Hanan machine. The gasoline caught fire, spreading flames throughout the street, enveloping the automobile and attracting a crowd of several thousand persons. The police reserves and the fire department were called out.

While the fire was shooting up all about the Hanan car, a policeman opened the door and first took Mr. Hanan out. Then with Mr. Hanan's assistance they lifted Mrs. Hanan across the lake of fire. The automobile was almost consumed before the flames were extinguished.

EMMA GOLDMAN WATCHED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Emma Goldman recited her well-known theories on families last night to the members of the Sunrise Club, in a large Second-avenue restaurant, with a dozen policemen included in her audience. Fearing that the anarchist leader might incite a riot or otherwise violate recent statutes concerning the preaching of doctrines which may overthrow the government, the police are now watching every move she makes.

She was cautioned last night that if she spoke against the government, or advised violence in any form, she would be arrested and the meeting broken up.

Miss Goldman satirized the police in her discourse on "The Hypocrisy of Puritanism," and said that if they had ordinary intelligence they would not be there.

A member of the Sunrise Club said that the police were following Emma Goldman day and night, and that to see her in her own home it was first necessary to gain the consent of policemen at the door.

SCRAP IRON FOR WARSHIPS.

Italian Government Finds That Material Which Passed Through Fire Is Better.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

OAKLAND, May 25.—By the French bark Bretagne, now being loaded here, forty carloads of scrap iron will be taken to Genoa, Italy, to help build a new "dreadnought" for the Italian navy. The scrap is iron that went through the roasting of the fire of 1906. Two years ago a smaller consignment was sent to Italy and, mixed with steel, was found to make a much-improved, high-resistance armor plate.

Italian engineers assign as a cause for this peculiar toughness that the iron had passed through unusually intense heat and have urged the government to acquire as much of the material left from the San Francisco fire as possible.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS POWDER.

New York Teacher Promises That Facial Embellishments Will Be Washed Off.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Miss Rachael Benjamin, principal of a branch of Washington Irving High School in West End avenue, has served notice on all of her girl pupils that those who come to school hereafter with powder and "beauty spots" on their faces, will be stood up before their classes and the embellishments publicly washed out. The principal said that the custom of painting and powdering had increased among the young women pupils to an alarming degree. The school is attended mostly by the children of wealthy and prominent families.

DISINFECTION AT AMOY.

AMOY (China) May 25.—A disinfecting station for the passenger traffic from Amoy to the Philippine Islands has been established here under the supervision of A. D. Foster of the United States Marine Hospital Corps. The operation of this station will enable the continuance of direct communication with Manila, which hitherto has had to be suspended during the quarantine period.

PERFECTLY LEGAL.

GRANTS WIFE RIGHT TO KISS HUSBAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That a wife has a right to kiss her husband whether he likes it with her or not, and that a father-in-law has no right to object, was the theory upon which Judge Pollard of the Dayton street police court fined Ernest De Palma $100 and costs for disturbing the peace of Mrs. May Lee De Palma.

Ernest De Palma conducted a dry-goods store at No. 1822 Franklin avenue. Louis, his son, is employed in the store. Recently Louis filed suit for divorce and returned to his father's home to live. The elder De Palma and his daughter-in-law were arrested yesterday after the young woman had chased her kiss-eluding husband all around the yard.

De Palma told the court that young Mrs. De Palma had a habit of coming to the store, and insisting upon kissing Louis, which always made a scene and drove customers away.

Mrs. De Palma testified that she called to see some friends who live upstairs over the store and met her husband on the steps. She started to kiss him and her father-in-law treated her roughly, and forced her to leave the stairway.

"Get away from here, now, and don't try this kissing business with Louis any more," he commanded. Mrs. De Palma, determined to get a Sunday afternoon kiss, or rather to give one, pursued Louis around the lot until her irate father-in-law made such a disturbance that a policeman stopped the chase. Louis went unkissed.

Judge Pollard gave De Palma, Sr., a severe lecture. He told the defendant that he ought to be ashamed of himself to try to prevent his son's wife from showing her affection. The court told Mrs. De Palma that she was entitled to a kiss if she could get it, and her husband's father had no right to interfere.

CALLS THEM BY NAME.

LYNCHERS IGNORE THREATS OF JUDGE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PINE BLUFF (Ark.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ignoring the threats of Judge Grace of the Jefferson County Circuit Court, as he called them by name and pleaded with them to spare the life of Lovette Davis, a negro, and let the law take its course, 400 determined employés of the Cotton Belt shops here hanged Davis to a telephone pole at Second and Main streets, the heart of the town, at 2:30 o'clock this morning.

While Davis was being pulled into mid-air, several thousand incandescent lights, which had been strung at that corner to furnish illumination for the Arkansas Travelers' Convention in session, were lighted and the lynchers made no effort to conceal their identity. Judge Grace recognized many of them and called them by name, threatening them with punishment if they persisted.

Sheriff Philpot and his deputies and members of the police department learned of the formation of the mob early in the night and went to the jail to guard it. The mob smashed the plate glass window in the jail office and surged into the building. In an instant they surrounded the sheriff and his deputies. They then cut a hole large enough to admit two men inside the jail proper.

Davis was dragged out fighting like a demon, and his clothes were torn from his body. The mob dispersed after the lynching.

LIFE'S SEAMY SIDE.

ROB WOMAN IN CLUB ROOMS.

Five Members Arrested on Victim's Complaint.

Jeweled Rings Found Hidden Under Carpet.

Wine at Dinner Caused Her to Wander.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—Mrs. Anita May, residing on Tiffany avenue, was found wandering about the Mission district early today in a dazed condition. She was taken in charge by the police, to whom she stated that she had been taken by five young men to the clubrooms of the Central City Wheelmen, 03 Guerrero street, where they attacked her and robbed her of a diamond ring, a ruby ring and a gold wedding ring. From descriptions given by her, the alleged assailants were found and taken into custody. They are William Bennett, George Lee, Donald Cameron, John Goetze and Richard Herring.

According to the woman's story she went to a dinner last night with a woman friend, and drank some wine, to the use of which she is not accustomed. On her way home at a late hour, she met the young men, and, although they were strangers, consented to accompany them to the clubrooms, where more drinks were served.

She says she lost consciousness, and when she recovered her senses, was on the street without her jewelry. On searching the clubrooms, the officers found the jeweled rings concealed under the carpet. The gold wedding ring was discovered latter in Goetze's pocket. The five men are being held pending a full investigation of the affair.

FILIPINO THIEVES CAUGHT.

ROBBING NAVY YARD.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MANILA, May 25.—Having missed property of various kinds from the navy yard at Cavite for some time, the officials there decided to make a surprise search of Filipino employés leaving the yard to ascertain if the mystery could be solved in that way.

Today a marine guard suddenly surrounded a gang of several hundred, among whom were forty having various articles concealed about their persons. The latter were arrested.

It is estimated that seventy-five managed to throw their loot away before they were captured, and it is impossible to identify these individuals or connect them with the theft of the property recovered.

None of the articles are of much value, but in the aggregate the stealing probably would reach a considerable sum annually.

REPRIEVE FOR CARSON.

ABOUT TO HANG.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, May 25.—Gov. Gillett today granted a temporary reprieve until October 1, 1909, to convict Charles Carson, condemned to hang June 4, for his part in the Folsom prison break of 1903. The reprieve is for the purpose of affording the condemned man the possible benefit of the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the matter of the appeal of convict J. W. Finley, who has attacked the constitutionality of the section under which he was condemned to die. Finley and Francisco Quijado were also implicated in the break, and the fate of the three men hangs on the awaited decision.

STABBED BY CHOLO.

John Richardson of Fifth and San Julian streets was treated at the Receiving Hospital last night for a knife wound in the right shoulder, which he says was inflicted by a cholo. To the police Richardson stated that he was sitting on the sidewalk near the Baker Iron Works, waiting for a street car, when the Mexican suddenly rushed upon him, and as he rose from his seat felt the blade thrust into him. Richardson believes the cholo intended to rob him and made the knife thrust when he offered resistance.

JEALOUS WOMAN TRIES TO DIE.

Because of domestic unpleasantness, Mrs. Ella Pollard yesterday attempted suicide by drinking laudanum in the presence of her husband, one of the proprietors of a downtown liquor house. Mrs. Pollard, who is 26 years of age, resides at No. 681 Kipp street. According to her story to the police she had been suspicious recently of her husband's faithfulness and this caused her unhappiness. Yesterday morning she went to his place of business and drank the laudanum. She was hurried to the Receiving Hospital where it required several hours' work to save her life.

FREEDOM WAS SHORT.

While running on San Fernando street last night, after breaking away from Detectives Talamantes and Rico, who had arrested him on a suspicion charge, J. Ruiz, a Mexican, stumbled and fell, dislocating his left knee. The detectives, in hot pursuit, came across him writhing on the sidewalk. After treatment at the Receiving Hospital Ruiz was detained until officers can investigate him.

DIAMOND RINGS MISSING.

Two diamond rings, a purse containing several dollars and a ticket to Riverside were stolen from the room of Mrs. Jane de Maraville, who is a guest at the Hotel Angelus, according to her report to the police, yesterday morning. Mrs. de Maranville stated that her room was entered between the hours of 1 and 4 o'clock Tuesday morning and that her belongings were taken from her dressing table. Her home is in Riverside.

LIMA (O.) May 25.—Heavily guarded, John Beam, the negro attorney accused of the murder of Mrs. Maud Dilts, was given a preliminary hearing today. Beam waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury. Beam said the only motive for his crime was love for the white woman and his jealousy.

FIRE DESTROYS LUMBER.

TEN THOUSAND ON HIS HEAD.

Arrest of One of Country's Cleverest Forgers.

Caught in San Francisco and to Be Brought Here.

George W. Taylor, who is alleged to be one of the "smoothest" forgers in the country and for whose arrest the Hotel Men's Association of America had offered a reward of $10,000, was apprehended in San Francisco, Monday, on the charge of having passed a worthless cashier's check for $65 on the Hotel Hayward of this city. The arrest was made on information furnished the northern officers by Chief of Police Dishman. Taylor will be brought here, in a few days, for arraignment.

According to a statement made last night by Manager Harry C. Fryman of the Hayward, Taylor has swindled hotels in the principal cities of the country, which accounts for the large reward offered for his capture.

His game was a clever one. He would go to some small town, make a deposit of from $50 to $300 and procure a cashier's check. By a photographic process he would reproduce this check as many times as he pleased.

The reproductions were so perfect that they were readily accepted when Taylor presented them at hotels. Though he used many aliases, he invariably posed as a commercial traveler. He dressed fashionably and was a fluent talker.

At the hostelries at which he stopped, Taylor always paid his bill with money, but just before leaving he would ask that a cashier's check be cashed for him. Because of the nature of the paper, his request was usually complied with.

The check passed at the Hayward was a reproduction of one issued by the cashier of the Pioneer Bank at Porterville, and drawn on the Anglo-Californian Bank of San Francisco, it is alleged.

Taylor registered at the Hayward on May 19. He stated that he was a traveling salesman and had been "working" the northern part of the State. He spent much time in fashionable cafés with a young man whose identity the police have not established.

On May 20 Taylor paid his bill at the Hayward and asked that a cashier's check be cashed. He was given the money, but when the paper was presented at a local bank it was found to be worthless.

Among other places, the "salesman" is wanted at Stockton and San José. He is accused of having swindled hotels in New York, Boston, Rock Island, Ill.; Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Denver.

Dispatches from San Francisco last night stated that Taylor refused to make any statement other than that he has been on a prolonged "spree" and does not know that he has ever defrauded anybody. He maintains he is a salesman for an eastern concern and has a wife and four children in New Orleans.

TAIL-ENDERS COME TO LIFE.

D. Lewis Hits Home Run Over the Left Fence.

Oakland, 6; Los Angeles, 2. (At Vernon.)

After Briswalter had wobbled in from the pitcher's box in the middle of the first half of the fourth inning and sat a moment and looked at the Tail Ends playing ball, he wondered how that bunch had ever lost a game this season. These meditations came just after the bunch had chased him to the shade with a bombardment that almost knocked the roof off the grandstand. Heaver Newlin, the Vernon cast-off, who took his place, also had his troubles, and between these two the Tail Ends had no trouble galloping in as winners.

Slats Nelson did the flinging for the visitors, and this always means poor business for the locals, and they were lucky enough to get one run. In fact, if old man Van Haltren had not muffed Howard's fly to left center after a hard run the locals would have been shut out, for when Nelson is right there is little use trying to trim him. He was right on the job yesterday and the locals got but four swats off him and they were so far apart that you forgot about one before the next one came in between he heaved high-class ball, and, while his support was ragged at times, he did such good work that he was never in danger.

Briswalter started out like a winner and for the first three innings with two men reached first base, and these arrived on a dinky single and a pass; but the boy blew up in the fourth with a noise that might have been heard for several miles. McCay was the first one up and he popped to Delmas. Then Van Haltren took a poke at the ball and landed it in center field, and with Van on first base D. Lewis hit a homer over the left fence, sending Van Haltren in ahead of him. Cameron tried the same thing, but flew out to Godwin. Then Hogan slammed the ball to right field for a double and Carroll hit to left, scoring Hogan. Hogan was apparently thrown out at the plate, but Umpire McCarthy called him safe. Dillon made a big rush over this and, getting no satisfaction, threw Briswalter out of the game and put in Newlin. About the second ball pitched by this new one was hit to the left fence for a double by Ragan, Carroll scoring on the swat.

In the next two innings Newlin did so well that none of the Tail Ends reached first base, but in the seventh a bunch of them did. Carroll singled, Ragan was passed, La Longe sacrificed and then Nelson fanned. This looked good, but to the surprise of every one McCay cracked out a double to left field that scored Carroll and Ragan, and these runs finished the game, for nothing more happened.

It was a fast and yet a stupid game, for about the only thing sensational in it in the fielding line was a beautiful throw by Ragan to second base in the sixth inning, by which he forced Howard. It was a great stop of a fast grounder between second and third and Ragan threw the ball while out of position. Godwin made a pretty running catch of a short fly to left in the sixth inning, but aside from these two there were not enough fancy stunts to keep a cat awake. Carroll and D. Lewis had no trouble in finding the ball, but none of the others could hurt it much.

The score:

FIGHT FOR TWELVE INNINGS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In a David and Goliath battle between little Harkins and big Buff Ehman that lasted an even dozen innings, the Senators today managed to squeeze over a winning tally by getting to the little "Giant Killer" for three bingles.

Harkins held his own with Ehman up to the last round of the session, when the strain began to tell on him and the home guard bunched its hits. A long drive to the far corner of the field by Heinie Jansing, after one was down in the twelfth, turned the trick. The hit was easily a triple, but it was only needed to bring Raymer in from third.

It was as pretty a pitchers' battle as Oak Park has staged and, backed up by almost perfect support, both heavers went to it hard. Harkins had the advantage of getting an early lead when the Perhaps put one over in the second without the aid of a hit. A pass gave Mott a lease and a passed ball and a sacrifice boosted him to third. The hit-and-run game was worked, when Hogan grounded to first.

A pass played its part in the Senators' first run, too, when Shinn walked, advanced to second on an infield out, and went clear around on Flanagan's Texas leaguer into right.

Martinke was the only man who could find Ehman effectively and he came near breaking up the game in the fifth when he slammed one to deep right. Doyle made a sensational catch of the drive after a hard run and retired the side.

Two hits netted the Perhaps nothing in the twelfth, but the home guard was more fortunate. With one under cover, Raymer doubled to left and took third on House's drive through Harkins. Jansing ended the affair by whaling a hot one to the left-field fence.

PATHFINDER PLUGS ALONG.

Mexican Deserts and Mountains Overcome—Motor Dug Out of the Quicksands.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TORREON (Mex.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The flag to flag pathfinders are here, having covered 310 miles over good, bad and indifferent roads without trouble since leaving Chihuahua, Monday morning. They were lost five times.

The pathfinder was dug from the quicksands Friday and the party traveled all night, sleeping on the ground at Rancheria Station. The following night they slept in the mountains, reaching Chihuahua Sunday noon. In their trip territory has been covered where automobile never traveled before.

Seven hundred miles remain to the destination, which they expect to reach by June 1. Eddie De Campo of Mexico City is en route to act as pilot from here, starting Wednesday.

BALDWIN FLIES DIRIGIBLE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEWARK (N. J.) May 25.—Capt. Thomas F. Baldwin did not, as planned, fly to New York and back in his new dirigible balloon at the opening of the Aeronautical carnival at North Arlington today. He did not attempt the long trip because he was not able to adjust his sand bags, but he did make a successful trial flight of 300 yards against the wind, rising at times to a height of 150 feet. His craft arose and descended at will and at the end of the flight turned sharply and descended into the field.

Capt. Baldwin hopes to make the flight to New York at a later date.

The carnival was opened today by Gov. Fort, and is being held under the auspices of the West Hudson Aero Club. Several heavier-than-air flying machines and aeroplanes will be tried out during the week.

DOUGHERTY WINS.

"Hobo" Dougherty got the decision over Kid Murray last night in their fifteen-round fight as the main event of the San Pedro Athletic Club card. A good-sized crowd of spectators saw the battle, a number being present from this city. Kid Martin and Joe Livermore fought a six-round draw, and Young Pico beat Young Myers in the four-round curtain-raiser.

VENICE FIGHT CARD.

The Windward Athletic Club of Venice has signed Curley O'Connell and Frankie Sullivan for twenty rounds, as the main event of a show to be given on the night of June 4. The weight is to be 125 pounds at 3 o'clock. Mike Kutchos and the Jap Togo will meet for ten rounds, and there will be one four-round preliminary.

Johnson Changes Mind.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Jack Johnson was to have sailed for England today, but as he had indicated his willingness to fight Al Kaufman in a few weeks, he decided to cancel his trip abroad. The champion will now train for his bout with Kaufman and arrange for other fights. It is not unlikely Johnson will seek to have his bout with Ketchel set back so that he can have plenty of time to get in fine physical condition.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The annual tournament of the National Bowling Association was resumed today. In the first squad of two-men teams, Muller and Wulff of New York got high score, 1084 pins, in three games. Other high scores were: Newburg and Von Beekman, New York, 1076; Lanquer and Scheller, Baltimore, 1069; Homan and Pohl, Baltimore, 1062.

Professor Is Dying.

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) May 25.—Prof. Benjamin Hoke of Perdue University, who was struck in the abdomen by a sixteen-pound hammer thrown by Guy Conwell, a member of the Van Buren (Ind.) High School track team in the State interscholastic meet on Stuart Field Saturday afternoon, is lying at the point of death. It was thought he was only slightly hurt, but his condition has become critical. He was one of the field judges at the meet.

Americans Are Out.

EDINBURGH, May 25.—T. C. Stevenson of Boston, the only American left the amateur golf championship contest after the defeat yesterday of Jerome D. Travers by W. A. Henderson was eliminated today. He drew a bye in the first round but made his first appearance in the second round when he was defeated by J. B. Pease, 3 up, 2 to play.

MORE ENTRIES IN ASCOT MEET.

Motor Derby Looms Big in Racing Circles.

Haynes, Durocar and Kissel Enter the Lists.

Six Thousand Persons May Watch Track Test.

Three additional entries to the six-hour motor derby at Ascot Park Monday lends added interest to the automobile meet which is keeping the dealers busy this week. The Kissel "Sixty" has been entered by Leon T. Shettler in the big car race against the Franklin and the Lozier. The National has been scratched. The Haynes and the Durocar have been added to the light car list.

The struggle between the Franklin, Kissel and Lozier should be intensely interesting. Ralph Hamlin will drive the Franklin. He has had experience at Ascot Park and is probably one of the classiest of the track drivers who will be in the meet. His air-cooled car is a favorite, even against such a racer as the Lozier, which will be driven by Harry Michener, who has had experience in two Vanderbilt contests as well as in several large race meets in the East.

The Durocar has been added to the light car list and this little two-cylinder is being carefully groomed for the race. The hopes of the local manufacturers are high, and the car will be sent in with the belief that it will win.

Against such machines as the Cadillac, which will be driven by Lester Pates, the Pope-Hartford with "Wild Bill" Ruess at the wheel, and the Kiselkar and Studebaker the Duro will have to strive for victory.

THE RECKONING.

Another entry in the light car race must be reckoned with. H. T. Brown will start a Haynes and George Barnes will drive. This fast car has done well on track and road and Barnes has proved his ability to drive with the best.

There is keen rivalry also in the little class between the Studebaker, Auburn and Mitchell. The Studebaker was entered in the last twenty-four hour race and made a good showing. The Auburn has shown what it can do over the roads when a two-cylinder model was driven from San Francisco here in a little more than twenty hours. The Mitchell has the faculty for keeping everlastingly at it.

Shettler's Tabasco I in this race is an interesting entry. The car is the last year's Baldy racer and Shettler says the "old boat" has still another race left in her. This car holds the Los Angeles-Bakersfield record, the Victorville-Los Angeles record, the Los Angeles-Daggett mark, and the record to Newhall and Santa Ana.

Eddie Maier has offered a handsome silver trophy for the big race. The cup is worth striving for. There is also a cup for the small race.

Ascot Park will be put into shape for the big event. The turns will be smoothed and care will be taken to make the straight-away as smooth as possible. The racers will start at 10 o'clock in the morning and will finish at 4 o'clock.

The prospect is that at least 6000 persons will watch the cars circling the track.

UP TO THE KINK.

RULER HOPES TO WIN DERBY.

BRITONS' GREAT RACE WILL BE DECIDED TODAY.

King's Favorite Horse Is Fancied to Win the Classic and English Sports Will Gamble on Him—Sir Martin Is to Carry the Hopes and Fears of Americans.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, May 25.—The greatest of all horse races, the Derby, which will be run at Epsom Downs tomorrow, promises to be the most interesting of a decade. The possibility that King Edward's Minoru will win the purse of $32,250 and gain the distinction of being the first reigning Monarch to take the classic, gives the contest an importance that cannot be overestimated in the eyes of the British public.

Although Minoru last year was not rated in the first class, he made phenomenal improvement during the winter. He easily won the 2000 guineas at Newmarket, April 20.

His principal opponent is considered to be Louis Winans's Sir Martin from John E. Madden's Kentucky farm, which is supposed to have cost his present owner $80,000. Sir Martin is now in the very best of form. He recently won the welter plate at Newmarket and since then has given every evidence that he will be in the running in tomorrow's great event.

Bayard, owned by A. Fairye, which the American jockey Maher will ride, was regarded as invincible until recently, having as a 2-year-old won his seven races easily. But he failed to make the improvement that was reasonably to be expected during the last year and gave a very poor display of form a short time ago at Newmarket that sent his stock away down.

No American stables are represented among the entries, but the American contingent, which promises to be larger than usual, is enthusiastic for Sir Martin, while the Great Britain crowd and the foreigners as well will go wild if the King, according to the honored custom, should lead the winner past the stand.

LATONIA DERBY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LATONIA, May 25.—Olambala easily won the Latonia derby over a muddy track by six lengths. The Peer finished second, ten lengths in front of Plate Glass, the only other starter in the race.

Plate Glass set the pace until the stretch where she blew up and Olambala went to the front and won. Results:

Latonia Inaugural, five and one-half furlongs: Colloquy won, Al Muller second, Madman third; time, 1:08.

Six furlongs: Enfield won, Jacobute second, Tommie Grath third; time, 1:16 3-5.

WISE TALKS

BY THE "OFFICE BOY"

Butter costs more than butterine and always will. A cut-price suit is sure to be short on quality. Did that ever occur to you? The name "Silverwood" on a suit or shirt or a hat doesn't make that article any better than it is. It makes it better than it would be and than others are without the quality-compelling influence expressed in that label. You can't think of soap unless you think of "Ivory." You can't think of safety razors unless you think of "Gillette." You can't think of sewing machines unless you think of "Singer," nor of talking machines unless you think of "Victor," nor of hats unless you think of "Silverwood." That little trip you're planning—are you sure you have everything to make you look and feel fit? If you're going back East, don't forget light weight underwear and negligee shirts. One of our nice, light weight suits would be awfully comfortable and, you'd enjoy it so, for they fit so well and are so well tailored, so all-right in every particular and then they're marked with just one price which means one just price. Our goods are different. They're classy. They're the good sort. Ready-to-wear suits, like ready-to-wear shirts, have punctured the "made to-measure" bubble. The head and hands of one man cannot create as fine a garment as ten heads and ten hands can create. We want you to drop in at our Broadway and Sixth street Store and have one of our clothing men show you through—no trouble, and you will be under no obligation to buy. Can't you come today?

TOO CAREFUL.

MIKE TWIN IN HARD FIGHT.

Eddie Hanlon Calls Whitney Match a Draw.

Bostonian Outboxed Man, but Weakened Later.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mike Twin Sullivan and Kyle Whitney fought what Referee Eddie Hanlon was pleased to call a draw in the main event of the Mission Club's card at Dreamland Rink last night. It was not altogether a satisfying decision to the crowd. Taking the boxing game as it goes, the Boston welterweight outboxed his man for a great majority of the rounds. Sullivan tired toward the close, however, and it was doubtless the aggressive work of the colored scrapper in the last four rounds that won him the draw verdict.

At that he is entitled to no great credit. Had he gone after Sullivan from the outset, as he did when the fight was practically over, there is no question but that he would have stopped Mike. The Bostonian plainly showed that he was losing steam and in the last two rounds took a world of punishment.

For the tame fight that he put up Whitney can thank himself. He was by far the stronger of the two men, and, while Mike's cleverness kept Whitney at long range and made him miss many a punch, the negro's strength helped him toward the close.

It was far from being the kind of a fight that a crowd likes to watch. There was lacking on the part of both men the initiative that keeps the crowd on its tiptoes. Sullivan, from his contests in the past, was hardly expected to be the aggressor.

Whitney, on the other hand, made the mistake of trying to be clever with Sullivan, standing off and boxing with him. He hardly could have feared the stings of Sullivan's punches, but, whatever he thought, stayed away too long.

LOCAL PUGS BUSY.

MONTANA VERY CONFIDENT.

Judging from the records of the two pugs, local fight bugs should see a fierce struggle in the ring at McCarey's pavilion next Tuesday evening when Jim Flynn and Montana Sullivan hook up for ten rounds.

Flynn's aggressiveness is so well-known in Los Angeles that the fans understand just what he will do when he starts fighting. His style is to go after his opponent and wear him down with his infighting, ignoring the punches which his adversary may get in the meantime.

Sullivan has a record in the ring of which any aspirant might feel proud, for he has engaged in twenty-four fights and never has lost a battle, many of his contests having been won by the knockout route. His worst drubbing was with Yank Campbell at Jeffries' arena last winter when Campbell copped him with a terrific right, from the effects of which Sullivan did not recover for two rounds, but then went in and finished the eastern fighter. Sullivan is training hard at Venice with his brother, Gene, as chief adviser, and will try to present the best front as he realizes Flynn is the toughest pug he has ever signed for. Sullivan believes, however, that he will annex the scalp of the fireman.

Besides the Flynn-Sullivan fight there will be a ten-round contest between Danny Webster and Al Emick of San Francisco. Emick has been doing things to the boys up North and should give Danny the stiffest kind of a battle. The weight will be 133 at 2 o'clock.

In the six-round go Jim Cameron and Tad Reardon will meet. Cameron's last fight was a knockout of Arthur Collins in the fourteenth round at San Diego, and the fans in that burg say that Cameron showed great speed and skill. Reardon is a San Francisco man, weighing 180 pounds, and he says he will show Cameron a thing or two about the fight game before he is through with him. Two four-round bouts will complete the programme.

WELSH WINS AGAIN.

ALMOST PUTS OUT BROCK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Freddie Welsh of England was too fast and clever for Phil Brock of Cleveland in their twelve-round bout at Armory Athletic Association tonight.

While Brock was always game and aggressive, Welsh's wonderful footwork and blocking had the Cleveland boy at sea. It was one of the fastest lightweight bouts ever witnessed in this city.

Welsh had a lead in seven of the rounds. Welsh made a regular chopping block of his opponent and had him badly cut up at the finish. In the second round Welsh almost put Brock away.

COMPTON WINS.

The Compton High School baseball team shut out the Glendale nine with a score of 4 to 0, yesterday afternoon at Compton. Two scratch hits were all the Glendale boys were able to get off Priddy while Compton was fortunate in bunching hits although five safe ones were all it was able to place off Benson.

The first man up for Compton, Gorton, slammed out a nice two-bagger. This was followed by a single by Hovesnape and sacrifices by Haskin and Howie brought in two runs. In the sixth safe hits by Hoskin and Howie followed by some nice bunting brought in the other two.

Bourne, for Glendale, accepted a number of hard chances at short, playing like a veteran.

TROUT RUNNING LARGE.

Few Limit Catches Reported, But Sport Proves Good in the Mountains.

Few limit catches, but plenty of big trout were caught in the mountain brooks in the last week. The unusually hard whipping of the streams during the first two weeks of the season and the continuance of high water have had the effect of making the sport less interesting than it should be at this time of the year. Many anglers are beginning to strike out for the less accessible places, such as Bear Creek and the Santa Ynez River. Little fly fishing has been attempted on account of the high water in the streams.

Fishermen returning from Follow's Camp and Camp Rincon last night reported that the fish were running large, but that the stream had been pretty well whipped. Fred Johnson and Ernest Crossley caught several ten-inch fish in the San Gabriel yesterday below the intake, but neither of them were able to obtain the limit of fifty.

Adolph Braun returned from Seven Oaks yesterday morning with a full creel of trout, many of which were over ten inches long. He says few anglers have been whipping the waters there.

William Holmes and family, Frank Schumacher, Charlie McCoy and family, and Felix Notman went up San Antonio Creek yesterday morning for a two days' outing, where the fishing is said to be good.

Large fish are reported to be running up the Sespe and several limit catches were landed Friday and yesterday. In Devil's Canon, about ten miles above Rincon Camp, several anglers have caught the limit, but the place is reached only after a long "hike."

E. Vodrin and party left for the West Fork this morning by way of Switzer's Camp. L. Breer, Jr., Adolph Schwartz and Ernest Klokke are to leave this afternoon for Highland, whence they will go to Bear Creek.

THEOLOGY ON TE RAIL.

Chaplain Wilson of the Soldiers' Home will speak this afternoon at the Grand Avenue Church of the Nazarene, and tonight Mr. Langdon, for twenty-one years a railroad engineer, will be the preacher.

NELSON MAY BOX WOLGAST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Battling Nelson is considering a proposition to fight ten rounds with Ad Wolgast before Tom McCarey's Los Angeles Club, July 23.

"Now they have me in the game," said Nelson today, "I am going to keep busy. I have a chance to fight in Oklahoma, and Coffroth is talking of getting me a match in June with either Leach Cross, Freddie Welsh, or some other good fighter. McCarey wrote me offering me a fight with Wolgast July 22. I thought he was kidding, but discovered he meant business. I expect he will show up here and make me a proposition.

"As to McFarland, I don't think there is a chance. He can't get into the ring with me unless he makes 133 pounds."

OXFORD SQUARE

Large Residence Lots in Beautiful Wilshire District

Oxford Square lots satisfy every desire for large area, cultivated surroundings, select neighbors and uplifting view. They are 171 feet in depth. Homes in the vicinity, as in Oxford Square itself, are modern and beautiful. Thoroughfares leading into it are paved with asphalt and pass through the choice residence portion of the city. The yellow car line passes the property. The Subway line is surveyed and partly constructed through it, and will have a station there, bringing the property within 10 minutes from my office.

The improvements make for positive and permanent value. The avenues are oil-tamped. Walks, gutters and curbs are of concrete. Flowers, large palms and shade trees decorate the parkings. Ornamental electroliers on stone pillars mark the crossings.

For those who wish the best, the present opportunity to secure it at low cost will never come again. Lots are $1000 to $1800. Fair building restrictions. Easy terms, or will arrange to build. Come in for picture folder and go see the property.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

[The Times freely publishes the views of correspondents without holding itself responsible for writers' opinions. Be brief, write plainly, state clearly. College Union.

LOS ANGELES, May 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There is some talk of joining the Occidental with Pomona College. Such union would do more to cement good fellowship between the churches of Southern California than anything that could happen.

For years there has been a feeling of sectarianism among our churches that is continually keeping them apart, and such feeling is fostering a spirit of antagonism that is regretted by all who wish for the amalgamation of the churches.

The union of Occidental College—the denominational school of the Presbyterian church, and Pomona College—the endowed educational institution of the Congregational church—would break the ice of reserve now existing and be the forerunner of a close and enduring union of these two churches.

To be instrumental in creating a greater united church is worthy the effort of even such a mighty newspaper as The Times.

Overhanging Trees.

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I think the attention of the City Forester, or some one in authority, should be called to the condition of the trees on our sidewalks.

It is impossible on most of our shaded streets to avoid pushing the dust from the low-growing branches on one's hat, and the sharp needles of the palms are positively dangerous to the eyes.

The trees need trimming up everywhere.

A CITIZEN.

Why.

LOS ANGELES, May 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In your issue of May 22, a correspondent signing himself F. Jones asks why the press will insist upon calling a dog show a bench show. The reason is that there are two kinds of dog shows—one in which prizes are awarded for performance and the other in which the awards are made for physical merit. The former is called a field show and the latter a bench show, in order to distinguish the one kind from the other.

JUSTICE LEAGUE PROPOSED.

Professors Interested.

Mayor Taylor of San Francisco will address citizens at Simpson's Auditorium Saturday evening, when the formation of a national "justice league," to raise standards of citizenship, will be considered.

Prof. Boke of the law department of the University of California last night explained that the league would fill a field not occupied by any other civic organization.

"The idea," he continued, "was suggested by John Graham Brooks at a banquet tendered him in San Francisco recently. He thought the organization proposed would do much to eliminate graft and other civic evils—not by prosecutions and exposures, but by creating conditions that will produce honest citizens. After the banquet, a conference was held by Brooks and Profs. Guido, Marks and Macey of Stanford University, Prof. Woodburn of Indiana University, Profs. Green, Wells and Whitney of the University of California, and others, and it was decided to send some one East to launch the movement, which Mayor Taylor will explain."

Prof. Boke is going to New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago and Cleveland to assist in the promotion of the league.

RAPID PRE-COOLING OF FRUIT.

Accomplished in Hour and Twelve Minutes in Experiment With Oranges and Berries.

In recent experiments at Newcastle, Placer county, the pre-cooling of fruit was accomplished in one hour and twelve minutes.

Strawberries, oranges and cherries were placed in the sun and raised to a temperature of 74 degs. Then the fruit was put in the pre-cooler. In less than an hour and a quarter, it was taken out and tested. The temperature of the oranges was found to be 44 degs. on the outside and 50 degs. at the center; that of strawberries, from 40 to 42 degs., and 44 deg. of heat had been removed from the cherries.

The Department of Agriculture has been experimenting for the past three years and has demonstrated that the rapid reduction in the temperature of fruit suspends absolutely the decaying process.

FUNERAL OF MRS. COLBY.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning at Bresee Bros.' chapel over the remains of Mrs. Frank H. Colby, well-known singer and wife of a prominent local musician, who died at her home Sunday morning, after a lingering illness. Brief and simple rites were conducted by Rev. J. S. Thompson of the Independent Church of Christ, and a quartette composed of Mrs. Roth Hamilton, Miss Margaret Goetz, Joseph Dupuy and W. F. Gates, sung several familiar hymns. Pallbearers were W. F. Gates, C. O. Daggett, Edmund Evans, L. W. Weatherwax, M. A. Bresee and C. T. Todd. Many friends of Mrs. Colby were in attendance, and floral tributes were in great profusion. The Gamut Club was officially represented, and sent a splendid set piece of flowers. The interment was at Inglewood.

WIFE WILL NOW COMPLAIN.

J. B. Blair, a waiter, of No. 331 East Sixty-third street, was arrested last night by University police on the charge of wife beating. Complaint was made to the police by neighbors. When officers arrived they found Mrs. Blair suffering from numerous bruises and contusions on the face and head which Blair had inflicted with his fists. He had been drinking heavily during the day and began pummeling his wife when she remonstrated with him. Neighbors declare that Blair has cruelly beaten his wife several times in the last few months. Mrs. Blair said she will swear to a battery complaint today.

Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged for the word as the established rate is, for the week day daily issue and 1½c Sunday.

Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charges, therefore, will prevail after June 1.

Classified want advertising has always been calculated by the number of lines printed. This regulation will not change the manner of handling it.

The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect only though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

FOR SALE—TO "LINER" ADVERTISERS: Dating from June 1, classified advertising in The Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 10c Sunday.

Close calculations, covering a period of several months, develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1.

Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it.

The present "want" ad. rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad. service.

THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

Toot our own horn!

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

China Missionary to Speak.

Dr. E. B. Hartwell, about 70 years of age, and who spent fifty-two years in China, will speak at the mid-week prayer meeting tonight, in the First Baptist Church. He is en route to China, after a furlough spent here.

Lecture at Y.W.C.A.

Miss Julia Ward Gibson lectured at the Y.W.C.A. Monday evening, taking as the subject for her humorous and kindly satirical discourse, "Daughters of Men." A good-sized audience was in attendance, and the lecture was evidently enjoyed.

Full Measure of Welcome.

The Chamber of Commerce will give a reception tomorrow night to the members of the National Retail Grocers' Association. There will be speaking, music and refreshments. J. E. Carr is chairman of the Reception Committee.

Downtown Methodist Mission.

Dr. Hugh K. Walker of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, spoke last night at the Methodist Mission, on East Fifth street. W. F. Ireland will speak tonight, Dr. J. Q. A. Henry tomorrow night, and J. G. Hill Friday night. This new mission is nightly crowded with people, and under the leadership of Rev. George E. Foster is a place of spiritual activity. It is not open during the day and has no other purpose than that of appealing to people in a spiritual way.

BYRON L. OLIVER.

A TRIBUTE.

There never was sweeter character in man than that of Byron L. Oliver. Gentle, charitable and tender, he was ever brightening the lives of others. There radiated from him those splendid qualities of heart and head that elicit admiration, affection and love. He was a devotee to birds and song and flowers. His nature was mild, sympathetic and deeply earnest. He impressed me always as constrained by sadness. His soul was poetic and his mind was full of verse. He quoted familiar lines with a fervor and impressiveness that gave them new meaning, and found and gave life to beautiful and elevating sentiments long buried within the leaves of forgotten lore.

In his profession he was earnest, eloquent and faithful. The protection of the rights of a client were more to him than a fee.

He never spoke ill of others, and extenuated human faults. He believed in the religion of good fellowship, charity and benevolence. His greatest happiness was to make others happy, and he declared and exemplified the thought that the time to be happy is now, the place to be happy is here, the way to be happy is to make others happy.

I never heard him express an opinion upon the creed of any church. He declared his belief in God, because he was a Mason and an Elk. He believed in Nature. He loved the forests and the mountains. He often quoted from Foss' "Higher Catechism:"

"Where shall we get religion? Beneath the blooming tree;
Beside the hill-encircling brooks that loiter to the sea;
Beside all twilight waters, beneath all noonday shades;

Wherever the surge of life provokes the dumb, dead sod
To tell its thought in violets—the soul takes hold of God.
To smell the glowing clover and scent the blooming pear;
Go forth to seek religion—and find it everywhere."

"What is the church? The church is man when his awed soul goes out in reverence to the mystery that swathes him all about."

"What is the world's true Bible? 'Tis the highest thought of man,
The thought distilled from ages since the dawn of thought began."

"On the chapters that are written long and lovingly we pore;
But the best is yet unwritten—for we grow from more to more."

If for each of his acts of sweet and tender kindness to others a single rose were placed upon his bier, it would be deeply hidden from human eyes. Young, courageous, just, gentle, kind and unselfish. Not faultless. Had he been perfect we would have admired him more but loved him less. We moved him.

Thus to the dead, my friend, I pay this tribute.

"Death, so called, is a thing that makes men weep—

WILLIAM A. ALDERSON

BREVITIES.

To "Liner" Advertisers: Dating from June 1st, classified advertising in the Times will be charged by the word at the present established rate of 1c per word in the daily issue and 1½c Sunday. Close calculations covering a period of several months develop the fact that the average number of words to the line are a fraction over seven. This basis for charge, therefore, will prevail after June 1st. Cash "want" advertising has always been calculated by the word, and this regulation will not change the manner of handling it. The present "want" ad rate has been in effect for many years, though the circulation of the paper, now more than 50,000 daily and 80,000 Sundays, has trebled during this period. No paper in the United States, rate considered, compares with The Times in "want" ad service. The Times-Mirror Company.

Remember the slogan: "Buy and Boost Home Products." For daily references, see page 11, part II, of The Times, containing list of wide-awake manufacturers, under the heading "Made in Southern California." You will find there are manufacturers of necessities and luxuries here—manufacturers of things to eat and drink—things for the home, the factory, the office and the farm. Buy them! Try them! There are none better. Buy and Boost, and keep your money at home where it will do you and yours the most good!

COOKY THIEF.

MISSING BEN ELLIOTT ROUNDED UP AT LAST.

Prisoner Says He Spent Monday Night Last Week Near Where Anna Poltera Was Slain—Sheriff Thinks Boy Innocent of Murder.

"JUST a simple-minded, half-witted boy.

"He hadn't anything to do with the murder of Anna Poltera. I have said so from the first.

"He's a petty burglar who broke into country stores and stole food when he got hungry.

—[Statement last night by Sheriff Hammel.

A pimply-faced, gawky boy of 18, who burglarizes stores to steal cookies, sat in the County Jail crying last night because the Sheriff told him he is suspected of the murder of little Anna Poltera.

The boy was the much-missing Ben Elliott, for whom a furious search has been in progress.

He was arrested at Redondo yesterday, where he had stolen a rowboat to ride around in.

At the Sheriff's office last night he confessed to the burglary of several stores at Tropico and Glendale.

He denied ever having heard of the murder of the little girl until day before yesterday—a week after the murder. He said he never saw her in his life. His statements are believed by the Sheriff.

The little girl is supposed to have been murdered and mutilated on Monday.

This boy admits that he spent Monday night last week in a camp near the Forest Lawn Cemetery, not far from the scene of the killing. He left at 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning—the morning after the murder, and made directly for the ocean, 'cross country.

These coincidental facts are the extent of the evidence against him.

The boy's naive, simple nature and the direct honesty of his replies convince the Sheriff that he is not the fiend who bit and mauled and tore this little girl's body.

ADRIFT—SEASICK.

About 3 o'clock yesterday some Italian fishermen in a launch found a very seasick and miserable boy drifting about in a rowboat six miles off shore from Redondo.

He was glad to get a tow to the land. Something about his appearance aroused the suspicions of Lee Stanchfield, who is City Marshal and Deputy Sheriff at Redondo. Being questioned, the boy gave his name as Russell S. Stephens, but afterward admitted that he is Ben Elliott.

A telephone message was sent to the city and Deputy Sheriff Harry Wright brought him up from the seashore; he was locked in the County Jail. Sheriff Hammel interviewed him for a long time in his cell. The reporters were then invited in.

Elliott was sitting in a straight-backed chair in the middle of the room at the jail. He looked as if he had been crying. There was in his attitude, a curious unhealthy languor peculiar to boys who are addicted to bad habits.

SHERIFF'S TALK SOOTHING.

His conversation with the Sheriff had evidently soothed him; for Mr. Hammel had talked to him very gently. The boy's face was lighted with a smile of wistful sweetness. It gave his face an inane expression.

Although he answered questions about murders and burglaries, he seemed more interested in the Sheriff's promise to give him a good beefsteak than in any other topic.

"Well, Ben," said the Sheriff, "you have been camping out some, haven't you?"

"Yes, sir," said Ben, smiling faintly. "You would camp out at night and then leave early, at 4 o'clock in the morning before any one was stirring?"

"Yes, sir; I always found that is the best way."

"And if you happened to see a canvas that they were using for fumigating a fruit tree, you saw no harm in using it to keep you warm at night?"

"No sir," said Ben naively, "it didn't trouble my conscience."

"And if you needed a blanket, you went into a store and took one."

"Yes, sir," he said, with a simpering little laugh, "but I made a mistake and took two when I only meant to take one."

The Sheriff talked some more about the boy's camps and asked him, "What names did you give the camps you had?"

"I didn't call 'em nothin'," said the boy, fearful of being ridiculed.

NO DICK TURPIN.

The Sheriff: "Why, Ben, you were no kind of a Dick Turpin. Why didn't you give your camps names?"

"Aw, I never read dime novels," growled the boy, getting very grouchy.

Questioned by the Sheriff, the boy then detailed his wanderings. He had been camping around the vicinity of this murder for six weeks. He first had a camp up the river; then he moved down toward Glendale; his last camp was near the cemetery northwest of Tropico. He left there, he said, at 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning (a week ago yesterday.)

The Sheriff looked at Ben for a moment in silence; every one knew the big question was coming now. The boy looked up at him, trustfully.

"Ben, I believe you are telling me the truth."

"No use doing anything else for any one in my position," said the boy, piously.

"Ben, did you hear about the killing of a little girl over in Griffith Park?"

"I read about it, yes, sir," said the boy, with perfect simplicity.

"When did you first hear of it?"

"Did you know this girl."

"No, I never knew anything about her."

"You know where her body was found; have you ever been in that vicinity?"

"Oh, two or three times; I was over there once with a party, once with a friend from home, and once alone; that was about two months ago."

"Did you know that, in a way, in the newspapers and all, it was intimated that you might have had something to do with this murder?"

"Yes, sir, I heard that."

"Well, what did you think about it?"

"I thought somebody was a big fool; but, of course, it was a kind of natural conclusion, considering my disappearance."

He told about going across country to Redondo and taking a boat from the beach.

He told about becoming seasick and lying down in the boat.

When they told him his boat was six miles out at sea he laughed and said: "Gee! Was I that far?"

GENTLE COAXING.

All this while the Sheriff was gently coaxing him to talk. Every one in the room except Elliott seemed to know that the big question about the murder was coming. Although he admitted knowing himself to be under suspicion, he displayed no dread of the question, and no dread of it when it came.

He had been telling the long story of breaking into country stores after food and clothing.

"What did you do all this for?" asked the Sheriff.

"Just because I wanted to keep going. I couldn't get no work," said the boy, in his sweet, plaintive, languid voice. "It's pretty hard to get along in this country," he added and began to sniffle tears of self-pity.

The Sheriff: You are not a bad boy, Ben.

Ben: I try not to be.

The Sheriff: You just went in the first time and found it easy——

"I only entered stores when I was hungry and needed something to eat."

"Why didn't you ask Mr. Bennett?" (a man with whose family he had lived.)

Ben: I wouldn't ask him or my folks. I had come out here to make my own living and I wanted to do it.

"Where did you get that?"

"In a Glendale store; it was just lying there useless."

The Sheriff laughed, and picked up the little awl or screw driver.

"Ben, I'm going to keep this as a sort of souvenir of you."

"Well, you'd better; it's a mighty handy thing."

Mr. Hammel picked up the enormous clasp knife and looked straight into the boy's eyes. Elliott did not as much as change color, but sat looking around the circle, smiling a vacant, inane smile.

The boy merely smiled.

"What have you been doing with it?"

"Oh, whittling and things." He said he used it for knife, fork and spoon.

"You left for the beach Tuesday at 4 o'clock in the morning," said the Sheriff, while every one in the room watched the boy intently.

He just nodded without any apparent interest in the dangerous date.

"SILENT CAMP."

"I suppose you call that 'Silent Camp,'" suggested the Sheriff, facetiously.

"Aw, well, don't make too much of a farce with this," said Ben, with the offended dignity of an eighteen-year-old boy.

This virtually ended the interview. The rest related to the details of his life and of his petty burglaries about the San Fernando Valley.

Elliott says he came to California from Lamoure, N. D., last January; he came for his health. At first he lived at Tropico, in the family of a Mr. Bennett. Finally Bennett left, and the boy was left to shift for himself.

He says he wandered around trying to get work, and finally became very hungry. At last he entered a store at Tropico. He got in at the rear door, and took some bananas and candy.

The next time he went into the same store through the transom. On this occasion he got a little cash.

"I don't know how much," he said. "They ought to know better."

He jerked his head toward the proprietor of the store, F. H. Davis, who came to the Sheriff's office to identify him. At this same burglary, he says, he also got some crackers and cookies.

He entered the store for the fourth time under the show case.

BLANKETS AND COOKIES.

He then changed his meal ticket to Glendale. Here he stole a clasp knife and a gun and two blankets and more cookies.

"I only took what I needed," he said. He admitted, however, that he plundered carpenters' tool chests.

BATTLE DECIDED IN STOCKHOLDERS' WAR.

The Turner Suit Against Ex-Governor Markham and Coffin Has a Set-Back in the Supreme Court. Charges of Fraud Not Sustained.

AN OPINION has been rendered by the Supreme Court of California in the appeal of ex-Gov. H. H. Markham and George H. Coffin. The case related to the management by defendants some years ago of the American Girl and American Boy Gold Mining companies, once famous in mining annals, situated in San Diego county. A judgment recently entered in the Superior Court against the defendants in a large amount was founded largely upon accusations by certain stockholders, who had invested in the stock of the companies, that funds of the American Boy Company had been improperly applied to the development of the American Girl Company.

At the time of the trial the case attracted much attention. While the court below found that the acts of the defendants had been committed in good faith and for the purpose of carrying out a preliminary agreement regarding the application of proceeds of sale of the capital stock, yet there were findings sustaining allegations of misapplication in such a way as to render the defendants liable in a very large amount.

The judgment below was against the defendants in about the sum of $120,000. An appeal by them to the Supreme Court has resulted in turning the tables upon the dissatisfied stockholders. The decision of the Supreme Court announced yesterday results in a reversal of substantially all the points decided below.

It is held by the justices who participated at the hearing of the appeal that the acts of Markham and Coffin were within the law, and that their conduct in regard to the application of the funds was free from any imputation of fraud. The conspiracy charge made by the dissatisfied stockholders is held to have been without foundation. It was also charged that something like 3000 shares of the treasury stock was disposed of by the defendants without consideration, which charge is also decided adversely to the plaintiffs' contentions.

These mining companies were originally of twin creation. The American tion, occupying the adjoining property to that of the American Boy. The properties were largely operated as a unit. Much of the complaint on the part of the dissatisfied stockholders, represented by the plaintiff, Dr. W. D. Turner, was based upon the union of management of the two companies instead of the complete separation of management.

Both companies were organized under the laws of Arizona and had the same directors. H. H. Markham was president, and George H. Coffin secretary, with whom were associated D. W. Field, F. S. Daggett, G. D. Patten and Thomas Johnson. At one time the mines were in high estimation in the market and came nearly to the point of transfer to a syndicate at something like $2,000,000. After considerable exploration and expenditure of large sums for the erection of a mill and cyanide plant, the grade of the ore deteriorated to such an extent that it was concluded by Gov. Markham and his associates that further operation should be suspended.

The panic and other unpropitious conditions, and especially the recent death of some of the directors, are said to have dissuaded the management from resuming mining operations. The case elicited particular attention at Pasadena, where most of the actors in the litigation resided.

RECORD PRICE FOR MELONS.

Five Dollars Each Paid for First Two Cantaloupes Received from Imperial Valley.

Cantaloupes, $5 each. That was the record price for the first crate (containing just two) by the Alexandria Hotel management to the Rivers Brothers Company. The melons came from Heber, in the Imperial Valley. Last year the first crate received contained six cantaloupes, and they brought from $1.50 to $2 each.

Reports from Imperial Valley on the melon crop show that it will not be as large as last year, when carloads were allowed to rot in the fields, owing to the low prices prevailing. The aphis has been doing some damage to the vines, and there has been a reduction in acreage. Growers will have better fortune this season probably.

In two weeks shipments will be made by the carload.

FRENCH AMBASSADOR EN ROUTE.

Leaves Washington for Los Angeles, Accompanied by Wife and Legation Attaches.

The French Ambassador, M. Jusserand, left Washington yesterday for Los Angeles. He is accompanied by his wife and several legation attaches. The Chamber of Commerce will give a reception in his honor on the evening of June 1, to which the public will be invited. The local French colony will also show especial attentions to the distinguished guest.

The Ambassador will inspect many of the Southern California vineyards and orange groves, and then will go to San Francisco to present to that city a gold medal, commemorative of its successful recovery from the earthquake and fire of 1906. The medal is an official gift from France.

STOCKHOLDERS NURSE NOSES.

Cordillera Mining Company Meeting Bloody.

Fracas Upon "Philanthropic" Promoter's Return.

Legal Defender Gets Right Hook to "Tum Tum."

Dabbing bloody handkerchiefs to their triumphant but "bunged-up" noses and bathing their damaged eyes, a delegation of stockholders of the Cordillera Mining Company called at The Times office, last night, to announce that they had been chatting about the return of McClossen.

McClossen is the genial philanthropist who promotes mines. As the public seems to feel a little easier, McClossen has returned from his "pleasure trip" abroad. His return was heralded by The Times, yesterday morning.

The story of what happened last night may be entitled, "The Return of the Prodigal." Not more than fourteen persons took part in the free fight in the offices of McClossen's company. McClossen's was the only nose not in danger of the flying fists. He tactfully stayed away.

When the newspaper account appeared, yesterday morning, with a graceful tribute to the smoothness of McClossen's past record, a meeting of the stockholders of the Cordillera Mining Company was called. It was held in the concern's offices in the Citizens' National Bank building.

EXCITED ASSEMBLAGE.

McClossen's attorney, Mr. Barclay, of Barclay & Munsen, was there to address the excited assemblage.

The meeting was supposed to be for the purpose of ousting the present officers of the company and putting in McClossen's friends. But the newspaper article became the special order of the night.

Attorney Barclay was explaining gently that poor McClossen is a much-maligned and misunderstood man, when a commotion occurred.

Barclay hesitated in embarrassment when Arthur Hamilton, one of McClossen's men, who is trying to help him capture the company, interjected an exclamation of scorn.

"Yes," cried Dr. Hammett, "and you said Arthur Hamilton and his brother, Thomas, ought to be in jail with him." Tableau!

"You're a liar," yelled McClossen's attorney, dramatically. At which point he got a right hook to the "tum tum" from the irate Hammett.

INFORMAL BUT SINCERE.

In four seconds, a fine fight was in progress. Chairs and tables were tipped over; papers were flying through the atmosphere. Every one was getting cracked in the face by the fists of everyone else.

In the beginning, it was McClossen's friends against the field; but before the melee had gone far, it was general and informal and the rule was that you could hit any visiting gentleman who wasn't looking at the time.

At the height of the fracas, someone yelled that Barclay had gone. The fighters unanimously "called it off" and a rush was made for the door. The lawyer was seen in the distance, discretely disappearing at a Marathon gait.

The next time this company "gets together with itself" to have a quiet chat about McClossen, baseball masks and brass knuckles will be generally worn.

The details of McClossen's scheme to get control of the company and put his own men in charge have been recited in the mining department of The Times.

LOVESICK YOUTH RUNS AMUCK.

WHITTIER YOUNG MAN LANDED IN COUNTY HOSPITAL.

Is Placed in Cell on Complaint of Landlady to Await Inquiry as to His Mental Condition—Said to Have Smashed Furniture in His Ardent Love-making.

Because a schoolgirl with whom he was enamored would not accept his attentions, Henry Faust, aged 28, ran amuck at Whittier. He was landed in a cell at the County Hospital yesterday on a complaint filed by his landlady, awaiting a lunacy inquiry.

Faust had a room in the house of Mrs. Philina Hadley in Whittier, and while living there he became infatuated with the landlady's niece, Miss Millhouse, who is 18 years of age. Miss Millhouse is a girl of prepossessing appearance and has many admirers, but she spurned the attentions of Faust.

The lovesick young man was not easily shaken off, however. At night he stood pensively in secluded spots and gazed at the stars. During the day he wandered aimlessly about, when he was not dogging the footsteps of Miss Millhouse. His peculiar actions attracted so much attention that early in April he was brought to the County Hospital for examination as to his mental condition. He was released upon the promise of his friends that they would take care of him.

Recently, however, Faust became more persistent in seeking to impose his attentions upon Miss Millhouse. According to the story told by Mrs. Hadley he smashed the dishes, broke up the furniture and burst in the doors, simply to get her niece to notice him.

This was too much for the landlady's endurance, and yesterday she filed a complaint against Faust. In the County Hospital he will occupy a cell [illegible]

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council has asked the City Attorney to advise it whether the tax sale of the property of the Los Angeles Railway Company may be legally canceled.

The defendants in the tide lands suit, involving Wilmington harbor property, filed their answer in the Superior Court yesterday. This case is to be tried by Judge Bordwell early in October.

A crowd of church people was in Judge James's court to hear the testimony in the divorce action brought by Lulu Pierce against Marcus A. Pierce, both leading members of the East Side Baptist Church.

Judge Conrey decided as void the city ordinance prohibiting the erection and maintenance of a hospital in a prescribed district near Westlake Park. The court said the ordinance was passed for a private or narrow local purpose.

AUDITOR FIGHTS CANCELLATION.

LOS ANGELES RAILWAY TAX SALE DEBATED.

Company Asks Release from Council Because Its Principal Place of Business Is Not in City—Auditor Charges Bad Faith—Legal Opinion to Be Given.

The Council chamber rang with speeches yesterday when the long-delayed hearing on the petition of the Los Angeles Railway Company for a cancellation of a tax sale of its property involving $35,000, was held. The orators were W. E. Dunn, for the company, and City Auditor Mushet and Councilman Wallace, against it. Incidentally, Wallace seized the opportunity to intimate that he is the people's friend and that the impression that he is a corporation man is erroneous.

Dunn spent much time discussing the City Auditor and his "dreams." He declared that the assessment on the franchise to be" had been a mistake and that the City Attorney had agreed that it was invalid because the principal place of business never had been in Los Angeles. At the time the assessment was made, it was in San Francisco and later was moved to Santa Barbara, for the convenience of the directors. The speaker stated that H. E. Huntington owns 55 per cent. of the stock of the company and had tried repeatedly to move the principal office here but that a two-thirds' vote of the stock was necessary and that the change from San Francisco to Santa Barbara was a compromise.

The "dream" of the Auditor, Dunn described the statement that the directors had hurried in a private car to Santa Barbara, held a meeting and hurried back. This he said was not true, as the meeting had been held in the regular offices of the company. He resented the charges of trickery and evasion that the Auditor made in previous reports on the assessment.

By reason of the erroneous assessment, as he termed it, the company's property here is clouded through the sale for the delinquency and he wanted the sale cancelled because it was the best direct way to remove the clouds. The taxes, with penalties, now amount to $35,000.

City Auditor Mushet read another report, reasserting all his old contentions and raising some new legal phases. He said, at the beginning, that he would have no occasion to mention Dunn's name and he didn't. The assessment of $7,500,000, made in 1907, had been divided equally between the franchise-to-be, franchise-to-do and the tangible property.

It made no difference, he said, what the division was, so long as it did not exceed 60 per cent. of the gross valuation. Before the equalization board the company protested against the assessment on the franchise-to-be, declaring it to be worth not more than $500. No other reason was advanced, though the company then knew that, if its principal place of business was out of the city, the assessment on that part of its property was invalid. In other words, it kept silence because it feared the San Francisco Assessor would levy on that valuation, or because it was feared the local board would add the $2,500,000 to the franchise-to-do levy.

By this silence the company hoped, he Auditor said, to take the city at a disadvantage and dodge the payment of $55,000 justly due. He pronounced it a trick and an evasion of the moral duty of the company.

He declared that the railway concern had been permitted to do the unusual thing of paying part of its assessment and letting the unpaid portion become delinquent and going to sale. Then the plea that it was a non-resident corporation was made and it sought to have the tax annulled. This was neither justice nor equity, and no court would find that the company had legal standing.

The Auditor seriously questioned the right of the Council to cancel the tax sale. His conclusion was that it was a question for the courts to pass on.

Wallace, in supporting the contentions of the Auditor, recalled that, when the assessment was made in secret session, the impression went abroad and three newspapers, he declared, published the statement that he was the man who prevented a high corporation tax and was the father of a reduction of 10 per cent. horizontally on all the utility corporations. This, he said, was unjust to him, but he had awaited for a proper opportunity to correct the impression. He stated that the Council indicated a purpose to reduce the Los Angeles Railway assessment $2,000,000 and the 10 per cent. compromise prevented it and saved the city more than if the reduction had been made as planned.

Wallace declared that the company was not acting in good faith in concealing its real objection to the assessment. If it had pleaded before the Board of Equalization that it was a non-resident corporation, the distribution of the taxes would have been altered so that the city would get taxes on the full valuation. But now it was a mere effort to evade taxation on $2,500,000 of its property.

The Council had been advised by an Assistant City Attorney last October that the assessment was invalid and that the body could cancel the tax sale. But the legal points raised by the Auditor were regarded as so important that his report was referred to the City Attorney, with instructions to give a written opinion. The Auditor has spent several months in studying the law and asserted that the courts would not deprive the city of the amount in controversy.

MUNICIPAL BAND.

PLANS BEFORE COUNCIL.

A municipal band of thirty-five pieces is recommended by the Advisory Committee selected by the Council to pass on this question. The Committee estimates that not less than $10,000 will be required to organize a band and to give concerts in the parks at least twice weekly.

It is planned to engage a bandmaster who will select the musicians and the organization may be divided for simultaneous concerts at the playgrounds. The report was not discussed by the Council, yesterday, because of the press of other business.

The committee believes that $15,000 could well be expended for music and that the band should be organized in August or September on a permanent basis.

PICO HEIGHTS PARK.

COUNCIL PROPOSES SITE.

To get an expression of public sentiment on a park for the Fourth Ward, President Pease of the Council, yesterday, introduced a resolution declaring it advisable to acquire the vacant land between Sixteenth and Fifteenth streets and Berendo street and Normandie avenue, adjoining Rosedale Cemetery, for park purposes. The resolution suggested a district between Pico and Washington streets, west of Hoover, as the one to be assessed to pay for the land.

There is no park of any consequence in the Pico Heights territory and Pease's idea is that the district should now determine how much acreage it wishes. It is said any amount from five to twenty-five acres can be obtained.

The resolution was passed and it is the hope that residents of the district will let the Council know how they feel. The cost of the land would be distributed according to the terms of the new park law.

Yesterday was the time fixed for hearing citizens of the Fifth Ward, who asked Councilman Wallace to present a plan to condemn about three and one-half acres, bounded by Arlington, Cimarron, Twenty-eighth and Orleans streets, but no one appeared. This is another park scheme under the district assessment plan and it was referred to Wallace, who, as a committee of one, will find out what the people are willing to have charged to their property.

The protest of the Sixth Ward against the plan to acquire an additional strip along Forty-ninth street for South Park was received but no action was taken.

CHURCH TAXATION.

WILL TREAT ALL ALIKE.

Churches which have asked the city to refund taxes on their property are to be treated alike. This was the decision of the Council yesterday, when the Auditor returned three ordinances refunding taxes and said he wanted a uniform policy. Under the law, each church must, before the assessment period is completed, file with the Assessor a statement showing that the property in question is used only for religious purposes. It will thus gain exemption. Churches that neglect this duty, according to the Council's ruling yesterday, must pay their assessments, without hope of refund.

The period to gain exemption will expire when the Board of Equalization meets in July.

A committee, composed of the City Attorney, City Auditor, Assessor and the Finance Committee of the Council was named to arrange a way for assessment of churches in the future.

TO VISIT SITE.

FOURTH-STREET SPUR TRACKS.

East side business men in their fight against the placing of two additional Southern Pacific tracks across Fourth street, between Alameda and San Pedro streets, won a partial victory, yesterday, when the Council decided to view the site at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The representative of the Southern Pacific said additional facilities are required and that the addition of two tracks would not mean more trains.

The spurs, the railway company contends, will be needed to care for the scores of special cars that will bring delegates to the Elks grand lodge meeting in July. Without these tracks, cars must be kept in the yard with freight and other undesirable surroundings.

J. N. O. Rech and Martin Bekins opposed the franchise asked for, on the ground that the spurs would mean increased delay of the heavy traffic on the street.

Made Industrial District.

Somewhat reluctantly, the Council passed ordinances yesterday prohibiting industries in the Arroyo Seco, between Avenue 35 and Pasadena avenue. This was made an industrial district less than a year ago, to enable a cement block factory to be established, but lately the business has been changed to rock crushing. Residents in the neighborhood made complaint. The Council disliked to make the change as it would set a precedent and involve many business districts in uncertainty. Job Harriman argued that the Council's action amounted to confiscation of the company's property, and intimated that redress would be sought in the courts.

Transfer Question.

The City Attorney has asked for more time to present ordinances transferring the six collectors in the Tax and License Collector's office to the police force, as he is in doubt as to the power of the Council to make such a transfer. For this reason no action was taken on the establishment of the police license bureau yesterday.

For Elks Big Day.

The Mayor has asked the Council to request the observance of July 16, the "big day" of the Elks' Grand Lodge meeting, as a holiday. He did not ask that the body make it a legal holiday, but it was thought he did, and action was not taken.

City Hall Brevities.

Mayor Alexander has signed the ordinances abolishing the positions of secretary of the Board of Health and Mayor's messenger, and providing for changes in the health office. The measures do not become effective for thirty days.

The Council has passed an ordinance forbidding the dumping of garbage in the Los Angeles River bed.

Motorcycles, in the future, must be registered at the office of the City Clerk, and carry numbers, like automobiles. This is the purport of an ordinance passed by the Council yesterday.

A special session of the Council to discuss the new garbage specifications will be held Friday at 1:30 o'clock.

The ordinance forbidding the interchanging of gasoline and coal-oil cans was passed by the Council yesterday, but was later reconsidered because Secretary Spalding of the Retail Grocers' Association said it prohibited grocers from filling old cans. The matter will be called up next week.

The Pacific Light and Power Company has asked a refund of $27,000 taxes on its franchise, on the grounds raised by other light corporations.

STATUTE BARS IN THIS CASE.

SO SAYS THE ANSWER IN THE TIDE LANDS SUIT.

Defendants Deny That the State Owns Land Described in Complaint and Quote from the Codes in Support of Contention That the Cause Lacks Legal Standing.

The answer of the defendants in the case of the people of California against the Banning Company, California Pacific Railway Company and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, involving the ownership of what is known as the tide lands at Wilmington, was filed in the Superior Court yesterday.

Now that the answer is filed the preparation of the case will go forward. It is understood that it will be taken up by Judge Bordwell, early in October, the court having reserved the first week of that month for the case.

The defendants deny that the State is owner of the land described in the complaint; alleging that they have been in quiet possession of the pieces and parcels of land described, holding and claiming the same adversely to the plaintiff and to all other persons for more than ten years before the commencement of this suit.

It is further represented that the plaintiff was not seised or possessed of said pieces and parcels of land or any portion of the same within ten years before the commencement of this action, and that the cause of action of the plaintiff herein is barred by the provisions of Sections 315 and 318 of the code of civil procedure. Gibson, Trask, Dunn & Crutcher are the attorneys of record for the defendants. Service was accepted and verification was waived by Anderson & Anderson, attorneys for the plaintiff.

Section 315 of the civil code reads thus: "The people of this State will not sue any person for or in respect to any real property or the issues or profits thereof, by reason of the right or title of the people to the same, unless:

"First—Such right or title shall have accrued within ten years before any action or other proceeding for the same is commenced.

"Second—The people or those from whom they claim shall have received the rents and profits of such real property, or of some part thereof, within the space of ten years."

Section 318, of the civil code, provides: "No action for the recovery of real property or for the recovery of the possession can be maintained unless it appear that the plaintiff, his ancestor, predecessor or grantor was seized or possessed of the property in question within five years before the commencement of the action."

In connection with the same litigation, Hancock Banning will today make a deposition for use in the injunction suit brought by himself and others to restrain the city of Wilmington, through its board of trustees, from extending Fries street through lands claimed by Banning and his associates. The depositions will be taken by F. D. McClure, City Attorney of Wilmington. Judge Bordwell several days ago modified the temporary injunction secured by Banning, allowing the city authorities to proceed with the excavation on the lands that had been surveyed by the United States engineers and accepted by the Secretary of War, but at present nothing is being done to fill in the street. The bulkhead has been put in on each side of the street, and as soon as the dredgers work up to the north end of the channel, along the municipal water front, the dredgings will be pumped in to make the fill for the street.

STRAINED BONDS.

CHURCH PEOPLE INVOLVED.

The hidden fires of marital infelicity that not only the pastor but the members of the East Side Baptist Church have been endeavoring to extinguish for the past two years, broke into a flame of petition and cross-complaint in Judge James's court yesterday. The title of the cause was Lulu L. Pierce against Marcus A. Pierce, both parties being well known in Los Angeles church and social circles.

The allegation in the complaint of the wife charges desertion; the cross-complaint of the defendant alleges desertion and extreme cruelty. The Pierces were married in 1888 and at the time of the separation, in June, 1907, resided at No. 2686 North Sichel street. No children have been born of the union. They are both members of East Side Baptist Church. The pastor, Rev. Frank G. Cressey, was a witness for the plaintiff and told how he had used his best offices to secure a reconciliation of the couple after their separation but was unsuccessful. He detailed a meeting held at the home of the Pierces in the latter part of June, 1907, when with the assistance of Deacon York of his church, he tried to make peace between the parties but failed.

At that conference Pierce admitted that he had deserted his wife, but said that he was justified in his action, and according to the testimony of the clergyman, Mrs. Pierce admitted that such was the case. On that occasion Pierce asked his wife: "Haven't I for years asked you to love me?" but the husband said the wife had always held him at arm's length.

The defendant plainly told the court why he had left his wife. He said he had deserted her because as a husband he thought he was entitled to the love and affection of his wife. He had always cared for her and the deed for the property was in her name. She had never shown any loving disposition toward him and as a rule she would not kiss him, the wife telling the witness that it was not her way to do so. He would not say that during their married life she had never kissed or caressed him, but it was always against her desire and wish when she did. Not only that but she had not been a wife to him for years, and utterly refused to carry out her obligations under the law. For this he had left her and he did not seek to hide the fact.

Mrs. Pierce testified as to the separation and declared that so far as she knew there was no reason for his actions, except that her cool, indifferent way was not appreciated by her husband. She had asked him to return but he had refused and for the past six months had made his home with his sister, Katharine Pierce Wheat, No. 1302 West Ninth street. Mrs. Pierce said her husband had been superintendent of the East Side Baptist Sunday-school for a number of years and that she had been a teacher in the school and often officiated at the organ. She denies strenuously that she had not been kind and loving to her husband, declaring that when he left the house in the morning she always kissed him and greeted him with this mark of her affection when he returned.

"I often sat on his lap after dinner," she testified. She admitted on cross-examination that she had heard of her husband going about with other women, but knew nothing personally about it; also, that when she on one occasion had partaken freely of bromo-seltzer and she thought there was strychnine in it because it made her so sick, that she told some of her friends that her husband had tried to poison her.

The entire day was consumed in taking the testimony, and a decision will follow today, probably. The courtroom was crowded with eager listeners, the great bulk of those in attendance being members of the church of which the couple are leading members. Rev. Cressey, the pastor, remained during the entire day, and his averted gaze indicated that he appreciated the unhappy plight in which these members of his flock had placed themselves.

PATENT DEAL.

PLAINTIFF GETS MONEY BACK.

Judge Conrey yesterday rendered judgment for $15,000, the full amount claimed by the plaintiff in the case of S. F. Spicer against J. W. Hurley in a deal involving several patent rights. The case occupied several days of the court's time and brought out the details of a transaction that covered almost the entire field of patent law.

The story of the deal began October 11, 1908, when Spicer met Hurley on a Southern Pacific train en route from Portland, Or., to Los Angeles. Hurley became acquainted with the family of Spicer first, and soon afterward the latter saw Hurley showing a patent wrench to the passengers on the train. The two fell into a conversation, and the result was that Spicer gave Hurley, as he alleged, a check for $15,000 in return for a one-sixteenth interest in "The Hurley Adjustable Reversible Rachet Wrench," and a one-third interest in the State of California in the Hurley meat-tendering machine. It was also agreed, it was averred, that at any time Spicer became dissatisfied with his bargain he was to have his money returned.

It was alleged on the part of the plaintiff that Hurley had no title to the patent; that there was no such patent granted to any one. The defense was a technical one, relying upon the statement that, although patents for these devices had been granted, it was true that they had never been issued. The court found that Spicer was entitled to the full amount that he had invested in the patent enterprise.

SUIT TO RECOVER.

BREACH OF CONTRACT CHARGED.

Judge Houser is hearing the action brought by the Citizens' Securities Building Company against the American Bonding Company of Baltimore, Md., to recover $70,000 alleged to be due on account of failure to carry out a building contract.

It is alleged in the complaint that on July 1, 1905, there was a contract made between the plaintiff and the Henry R. Angelo Company for the construction of a bank, store and office building at Third and Main streets for $140,000. The plaintiff was assured of indemnity to the amount of $70,000 against any default in the contract. The suit is brought against the Maryland corporation under that arrangement.

The plaintiff represents that there was great delay in the work, that there was an insufficient number of workmen employed; that some of the material was inferior in quality, and that rooms to be completed October 31, 1905, were not so finished, and that on December 31, 1905, the contractor quit work entirely on the job.

On the part of the contractors it is alleged that the plaintiff did not live up to a part of the contract in the way of payments for the work done; that they were hampered in their work and that after the contract had been signed another story was added to the building.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

PULLMAN COMPANY LOSES. In the cases involving alleged breach of contract on the part of the Pullman Company in accommodations furnished to passengers from Paducah, Ky., to Los Angeles, Judge Bordwell yesterday found as follows, in damages: Addie Barnhart, $300; H. C. Warren, $300, and Nellie Warren, $150.

DECREE FOR THE WIFE. The contested divorce action brought by R. J. Cavasso against Louise Cavasso was decided yesterday in favor of the defendant on her cross-complaint, but without any allowance for support.

MITCHELL CASE. In Judge Willis's court this morning the case against William C. Mitchell, charged with the killing of Cecil Thayer, will be called to be set. The jury in the first trial was unable to agree, eight voting for the acquittal of the accused and four for his conviction. It is understood that on the second hearing G. Ray Horton, Deputy District Attorney, will be associated with John North, Deputy District Attorney, in representing the people.

WANT TO ADOPT. John J. Fay filed an application in the Superior Court yesterday asking that he be allowed to adopt Frances Ely Coonrod, a minor child of Frank T. Coonrod and Myra L. Fay, the latter being the mother of the child, but now the wife of the petitioner. The former husband of Mrs. Coonrod is dead.

TRUST DEED FILED. The Los Angeles Water Works Company yesterday filed in the County Recorder's office a trust deed to the Title Insurance and Trust Company to secure a bond issue of $75,000.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES. A. A. Agenbroad brought an action against the Los Angeles Inter-Urban and the Pacific Electric Railway Company yesterday, asking $5000 on account of injuries alleged to have been inflicted upon him by S. N. Darlington, a conductor and agent of the defendant companies, June 5, last, at the intersection of Jefferson street and Budlong avenue.

SAILOR SENTENCED. Judge Davis yesterday sentenced John T. Norman, alias A. E. Lacey, to a two years' term at San Quentin prison. His crime was selling a $30 forged check for $1, while on a spree several weeks ago. Norman is a vessel's cook, and for some time was chef for the officers of the ship Lawrence. He pleaded guilty to the charge and asked for probation. This grace would no doubt have been granted him but for the fact that it was discovered that he had served one term in prison for the same character of offense. Confronted with the evidence against him, Norman admitted his guilt, but refused to testify as to his past career aboard ship.

SUES BOARD OF EDUCATION. Vincent Marsiglia, an infant, through Malkala Marsiglia, his guardian, brought an action against the Board of Education of the city of Los Angeles yesterday, asking $20,000 damages. It is set forth that the lad, who is but 10 years of age, was injured at the school at the corner of Hill and California streets by a 400-pound weight connected with the fire escape on the building falling on his shoulder, injuring that and his head severely.

TRIALS OF PARENTS. The trial of Biaggio Rosatti, charged with contributing to the dependency of his children, has been fixed for Judge Wilbur's court for next Monday. The case against José Redona on the same charge will be heard Tuesday in the same court.

DISCHARGED. Joseph Faton Chapin, the pseudo newspaper man of Pasadena, who was at large a week under observations under a charge of lunacy, was discharged by the Lunacy Commission yesterday. Katharine Fisher, who swore out the original complaint, moved for his discharge. The real name of the young man is known only to Judge Wilbur, and one of Chapin's friends. There seems to be some reason why his real identity should not be known.

GIVEN AN ALLOWANCE. Mrs. F. S. Starbird was granted an allowance of $30 a month by Judge James yesterday for the support of herself and two sons. The husband, Ralph Starbird, is a stockholder in the Dollar Steamship Company line to the extent of $2000.

TIME TO SUE. Nettie Koppe was given a decree of divorce from Robert Koppe by Judge James yesterday. It developed in the trial that he had deserted her fourteen years ago. They were married in 1886 at Colorado Springs, Colo. Asked by the court why she had not brought her action sooner, the woman said that she had not until recently abandoned all hope of getting him to come back.

INCORPORATIONS. Papers for the following incorporations were filed in the office of the County Clerk yesterday: Employés' Protective Association, by W. G. Abbott, A. C. Schulze and Charles J. Treat; Kaspare Cohn Incorporation, capital stock $100,000, by Kaspare Cohn, Hulda Cohn, Ray C. Meyer, Ben R. Meyer and Estelle Getz; McNab, Estate Company, capital stock $250,000, by John R. McNab, Thomas R. McNab and Grace Rhodes.

TIME TO COOL DOWN.

Woman Is Sentenced to Jail for Abusing Justice of the Township Court.

Mrs. Bertha Kuhn yesterday pleaded guilty to a charge of disturbing the peace and was sentenced to thirty days in the City Jail by Justice Chambers in the Police Court.

The woman was charged with having called Justice Albert Lee Stephens of the Township Court, vile names because he decided a suit against her.

When she entered her plea of guilty she stated that she had been aggravated and lost her temper. Justice Chambers said that she would have plenty of time to cool down during her confinement in jail.

WILLIS MAY BE THE MAN.

United States District Attorney McCormick left the city yesterday for a few days' vacation. During his absence Frank Stewart, the assistant government prosecutor, will be in charge. Stewart, who was appointed to his present position by Oscar Lawler, now Assistant Attorney-General, has had his appointment confirmed by the new administration at Washington. Nothing has been learned in regard to the other vacancy in the United States District Attorney's office, but it is expected that State Senator Willis of San Bernardino will receive the appointment.

COMING HERE FOR TRIAL.

José Lopez and Eli Sunga, two half-breeds, who made an alleged felonious assault upon Charles Escalanti, a policeman on the Yuma Indian reservation, will be brought here today to stand trial in the Federal Court. As the alleged offense was committed on the reservation and the injured man is a ward of the government, the United States authorities have jurisdiction of the case. Escalanti was stabbed when he attempted to arrest the two defendants, according to the information received by Assistant United States Dist.-Atty. Stewart.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

Western Pacific Owns Two Midway Companies.

So Runs Report Received from Bakersfield.

Mexican Petroleum Exploits Agricultural Land.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the lead of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fé, the Western Pacific is reported to be drilling in North Midway, to supply oil for its engines, as soon as they are running. It is known by comparatively few that this company is the real owner of the Pioneer Midway and St. Lawrence Oil companies, both operating in the north end of Midway, which are pushing development work rapidly.

More Development.

Now that the Independents' pipe line to tidewater is assured and the agencies have formally rescinded their resolution against further development, other than what may be unavoidable, a very large amount of drilling is likely to be started within the next sixty to ninety days. Many companies had lots of work planned ahead when the over-production was announced and the shut-down recommended, then it was decided to wait; now most of those will go right on without a break in their plans. Others will be encouraged by the outlook, and a period of activity is likely; one of too much activity, perhaps, for it is always possible to overdo a good thing, say the agency men.

The surveys to Port Harford are ended. Few signatures to contracts are actually obtained, owing to the limited time, but it is expected that within two weeks enough will be had to start work. That the oil, or a large part of it, is fully contracted already is the opinion of many. Where?—is a question some answer by pointing to Japan and to the recent visits of Japanese naval officers to the Kern River field. The Western Pacific Railroad is also pointed to as a possible purchaser of some.

A number of Angelenos returned yesterday from the Bakersfield meeting, and they were all extremely enthusiastic. The view expressed by many was that now a large surplus is wanted, and wanted greatly, the more the better as a basis for business. Under its existing contract the Associated must furnish storage, too, for a year from July, at 2 cents per barrel. One returning producer declared conditions never did look brighter to him.

To Exploit Farm Land.

The Mexican Petroleum Company of California, of which the Mexican Petroleum Company, Limited, of Delaware is the largest stockholder, has authorized the sale to its stockholders of 600,000 shares of its treasury stock at par, which is $1. The company thereby increases its total outstanding capitalization 10 per cent.

The company in outlining its plan to the stockholders explains that money is needed for the development of 440,000 acres of pasture land near Tampico, which is not being used at present, and which is said to be capable of great and profitable development, together with general expenses for oil development. Each stockholder is to be permitted to purchase an amount of stock equivalent to 10 per cent. of his present holdings. Mexican Petroleum has for thirty months past dividended at the rate of 16 per cent. per annum, and has for some time been selling at $1.30 to $1.40.

The Delaware company has the privilege of purchasing 551,840 shares of the stock at par. This company has recently, through its board of directors, begun to accumulate this allotment, and has submitted to its stockholders a proposition which makes this possible without any interference with the payment of dividends. Each stockholder in the Delaware company may purchase the California security in proportion to his holdings in the former company, on terms laid down in the resolution of the directors.

North End of Coalinga.

The Imperial Oil Company, that has been drilling on the northeast quarter of 7-19-15, in the northeast extreme of Coalinga, has cemented its hole at 3200 feet and expects to bring in a good well about June 1, as it has every sign of a rich oil sand. This will carry the producing belt about half a mile northeast from the T. C. (W. J. Graham) well, on the south of the same section. This has been producing, but recently the casing collapsed and the difficulty is being straightened.

East of the Graham and southeast of the Imperial well the Loraine, on 16-19-15, which adjoins 2 on the southeast corner, has its hole in the oil sand at 3200 feet, but has twice failed in efforts to cement and shut off the water. It is now making a third attempt.

The congestion at Coalinga does not apply to the East Side, where the standard is the only buyer. Its eight-inch line takes every barrel to Point Richmond as fast as offered, and April runs for Coalinga show half a million barrels shipped, practically the entire East Side output. The California Oil Fields, Limited, is running quite a number of strings and seems rather to be trying to increase rather than to reduce production. The only trouble is on the West Side, where the Associated's six-inch line, with more to handle than the Standard's eight, is totally inadequate.

Shipments to North.

The great cut in shipments to the north by the Associated from Redondo during April and May is generally accounted for by the removal in this way of accumulated storage and to the excess that must be handled from Coalinga—the last being a very potent factor. The last figures as to storage here on March 1, when the reserve in the Salt Lake field was 183,000 barrels, a decline from 222,600 on January, amounting to 40,600. In those two months between two and three times this amount was shipped from Redondo, and shipments continued in March. At present oil is going into storage.

Fullerton, Whittier and Coyote Hills have reduced their stocks during the same period a total of 82,000 barrels. The last district does not ship by sea at the first two are handled by the Associated at San Pedro, where shipments are also less at present.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

Western Pacific Owns Two Midway Companies.

So Runs Report Received from Bakersfield.

Mexican Petroleum Exploits Agricultural Land.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the lead of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fé, the Western Pacific is reported to be drilling in North Midway, to supply oil for its engines, as soon as they are running. It is known by comparatively few that this company is the real owner of the Pioneer Midway and St. Lawrence Oil companies, both operating in the north end of Midway, which are pushing development work rapidly.

More Development.

Now that the Independents' pipe line to Divisadero is assured and the agencies have formally rescinded their resolutions against further development, other than what may be unavoidable, a very large amount of drilling is likely to be started within the next sixty to ninety days. Many companies had lots of work planned ahead when the over-production was announced and the shut-downs recommended, then it was decided to wait; now most of these will go right on without a break in their plans. Others will be encouraged by the outlook, and a period of activity is likely; one of too much activity, perhaps, for it is always possible to overdo a good thing, say the wise men.

The ways to Port Harford are finished. Few signatures to contracts are now still obtained, owing to the limited time, but it is expected that within two weeks enough will be had to start work. That the oil, or a large part of it, is fully contracted already is the opinion of many. Where?—is a question to which some answer by pointing to Japan and to the recent visits of Japanese naval officers to the Kern River field. The Western Pacific Railroad is also quoted to as a possible purchaser of some.

A number of Angelenos returned Sunday from the Bakersfield meeting, and they were all extremely enthusiastic. The view expressed by many was that now a large surplus is needed and wanted greatly, the more the better as a basis for business. Under the existing contract the Associated must furnish storage, too, for the year from July, at 2 cents per barrel. The incoming producer declared conditions never did look brighter to him.

To Exploit Farm Land.

The Mexican Petroleum Company of California, of which the Mexican Petroleum Company, Limited, of Delaware is the largest stockholder, has authorized the sale to its stockholders of 60,000 shares of its treasury stock at par, which is $1. The company thereby increases its total outstanding capital 10 per cent.

The company in outlining its plan to its stockholders explains that money is needed for the development of 4000 acres of pasture land near Tampico, which is not being used at present, and which is said to be capable of great and profitable development, together with general expenses of development. Each stockholder is to be permitted to purchase an amount of stock equivalent to 10 per cent. of his present holdings. Mexican Petroleum has for thirty months paid dividends at the rate of 16 per cent. per annum, and has for some time been selling at $1.30 to $1.40.

The Delaware company has the privilege of purchasing 551,840 shares of the stock at par. This company has retained, through its board of directors, to accommodate this allotment, and has submitted to its stockholders a proposition which makes this possible without any interference with the payment of dividends. Each stockholder in the Delaware company may purchase the same security in proportion to his holdings in the former company, on terms laid down in the resolution of the directors.

North End of Coalinga.

The Imperial Oil Company, that has been drilling on the northeast quarter of 9-20-15, in the northeast extreme of Coalinga, has cemented its hole at 2250 feet and expects to bring in a good one about June 1, as it has every sign of a rich oil sand. This will carry a producing belt about half a mile wide from the T. C.-W. 33, Graham well, on the south of the same section. This has been producing, but recently the casing collapsed and the company is being straightened.

West of the Graham and southeast of the Imperial well the Loraine, on 9-20-15, which adjoins 2 on the southeast corner, has its hole in the sand at 2260 feet, but has twice failed in efforts to cement and shut off the water. It is now making a third effort.

The congestion at Coalinga does not affect the East Side, where the Standard is the only buyer. Its eight-inch line takes every barrel to Point Costa as fast as offered, and April runs for Coalinga show half a million barrels shipped, practically the entire field output. The California Oil Fields, Limited, is running quite a number of strings and seems rather disposed to increase rather than to curtail production. The only trouble is on the West Side, where the Associated's six-inch line, with more to spare than the Standard's eight, is already inadequate.

Shipments to North.

The great cut in shipments to the north by the Associated from Redondo during April and May is generally accounted for by the removal in this way of accumulated storage and to the extent that must be handled from Coalinga—the last being a very potent factor. The last figures as to storage were on March 1, when the reserve in the Salt Lake field was 153,000 barrels, a decline from 222,600 on February, amounting to 69,600. In the two months between two and three times this amount was shipped from Redondo, and shipments continue in March. At present oil is going into storage.

Point Richmond, Whittier and Coyote Hills have reduced their stocks during the same period a total of 82,000 barrels. The Santa Maria district does not ship by sea at all, the first two are handled by the Pacific at San Pedro, where shipments are also less at present.

Climate, rapid business development, marvelous growth in population and the remarkable advertising volume of The Times are elements which have made Los Angeles the most talked of city in America; and not the least of them has been the record of The Times in constantly printing more paid advertising than any other newspaper in the world.

Each month for a number of years the actual figures for the leading papers in the largest city have been carefully compiled and printed in The Times. The statement always shows this journal leading by hundreds of columns.

Following are the detailed figures for April, 1909, showing The Times with an aggregate of 4415 columns for the month, being almost 1000 columns more than the Chicago Tribune or the New York World printed.

MINES AND MINING.

Extends Proven Zone.

With a strike of $40 ore the Puritan-Savage Mining Company has extended the mineral zone a mile northwest of Pioneer.

The Savage shaft is down eighty feet and has just cut through the hanging wall of an ore body, six feet of which assays as above stated. The bottom of the shaft is still in ore and while its extent and nature cannot be known until the lateral work is done, from the surface showing it is evident a large ledge has been cut.

The Savage has shown good rock before. Some ran as high as $80; this, however, came from pockets and much of the ore failed to show value. The ledge cut recently is the first which shows permanency and its discovery means big things for that section as many properties in the zone proven by the strike will be operated at once, according to reports from Pioneer.

Boston people control the Puritan-Savage and, besides company work, leasers are taking out good looking rock. A shipment for a trial smelter run will be made shortly and the mine equipped with complete surface machinery.

Patagonia District.

The Patagonia district, seventy miles southwest of Tucson, Ariz., is forging to the front and bids fair to become a heavy producer, say mining men who are here from that section. Some recent discoveries of good ore have started a large amount of prospecting, and development in the older properties is showing the district as a whole to be in good shape.

William Kemp, a Calumet and Arizona expert, is developing, on his own account, the August Group eleven miles from Patagonia. He is building a road from the station to the mine and has a force at work taking out ore. The shaft is down 250 feet; 150 tons of 7 per cent. copper on the dump awaiting shipment to the Old Dominion smelter, with which Kemp has contracted to supply 1000 tons monthly. The August ore is necessary to the Old Dominion people for fluxing and Kemp is said to have a contract for smelting the amount named free of cost.

New Company.

The Ray Northern has been formed to operate in the Ray district, and will develop the Mayflower group of claims fourteen miles north of Ray, Arizona. The company is capitalized at $1,000,000 and is said to be amply financed for big development. The Mayflower is asserted to be one of the big copper deposits of the Kelvin section and to be as rich as the Ray or Kelvin-Calumet. The group is to be thoroughly exploited, men having been put to work. Development approximating 500 feet has been done on these claims in the past, the old workings showing good copper ore. The group will be thoroughly opened by shafts and tunnels and a lot of machinery installed.

Deming Smelter.

The Deming, N. M., customs smelter is to be reopened September 1 with triple capacity and equipped to treat both carboniferous and sulphide ores; heretofore it has handled only the former.

Recent discoveries and increased activity around Deming and in camps where shipments to the smelter originate, insure a good tonnage and the smelter will be arranged to handle it.

INVALIDATED.

HOLDS HOSPITAL ORDINANCE VOID.

DECISION IN SUIT AFFECTING MATTER OF LOCATION.

Ruling Is Against Prohibition of Certain Kinds of Institutions in a Prescribed District in the Vicinity of Westlake Park—Opinion as to Exercise of Police Powers.

Judge Conrey yesterday decided the case of the Westlake Hospital against A. C. Harper, et al., in favor of the plaintiff, declaring that the ordinance prohibiting the location and establishment of a hospital or any asylum for the care of the feeble-minded within a prescribed district near Westlake Park is void and that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded.

The court said that the ordinance being upon its face an attempt to put limitations upon citizens in the use of their property, it cannot be justified unless it is a valid exercise of the police powers of the State. It is the opinion of the court that when a city government acting within the scope of its municipal affairs makes regulations for the health, peace and comfort of the city, they have the force and effect within the city of the same character as acts of the Legislature of the State. It follows that courts will not attempt to set up the views of the judges in opposition to the views of a city council, when that body has passed an ordinance in the actual exercise of its authority and within the scope of the police powers lodged in the city government.

Proceeding further, the court said the facts admitted show that the ordinance in question selects a certain area of less than one square mile (in a city containing sixty-one square miles of territory,) and in that small area forbids the maintaining of a hospital. In the city, in other districts, just as much residential in their character, other hospitals exist and are not forbidden. In this district, whereas the ordinance prohibits the erection of a hospital, various business occupations, including that of boring and pumping for crude oil are carried on without municipal objection.

At the time of the adoption of this ordinance, the court says, the only hospital within the Westlake district was a small institution. There did not exist, nor does it appear that anybody threatened to establish in that district any hospital where contagious or infectious diseases would be treated, or where insane or feeble-minded persons would be treated. These facts, in the opinion of Judge Conrey, show that ordinance No. 16,646 was not really adopted as a municipal ordinance, intended to establish residence districts and non-residence districts, that it was not intended to be a municipal exercise of the police powers of the city. Therefore the court infers that the ordinance was passed for a private or narrowly local purpose, compelling the plaintiff to change its location or go out of business.

THE ROD AND THE CHILD.

The man whose glory is a matter of history lays down a rule for all who bring up youth. "Spare the rod and spoil the child." That is a hard and fast rule. But what is a child? There exegesis gives room for dispute.

In Oregon at Grant's Pass a teacher in the high school and the city superintendent are on trial for following the wisdom of Solomon. They inflicted corporal punishment on a boy, and if the code of Solomon is to decide, the question must turn on what a child is. Is a high-school boy a child? Is the application of the rod likely to save such a child from corruption, and is spoiling sure to follow in his case if the rod is saved for other backs?

We are willing to be orthodox in our views if we shall be permitted to write the definition of the word child. We should say a baby is not a child, and neither is a high-school boy. Until reason begins to get a pretty clear view of life the babe is better brought up by the watchful mother who keeps the innocent out of danger and wrong with a warning word, made a little more emphatic as reason opens from day to day. Then in case of direct disobedience the application of a light rod with many kind words of admonition, direct appeals to the child's reason, may be salutary. But if watchfulness and guidance for the babe and a correctional punishment for the child do not prevent spoiling, then the corruption of youth may seldom be removed with the rod, however heavy it be.

The schoolmaster's lot is a hard one. Fond mammas and papas, who let their offspring grow up as young colts, care little about disobedience and "sass" at home and nothing for impudence inflicted on the teacher. But the school teacher, not having bowels of compassion for the young hopeful, does not bear the impudence so meekly as do the habituated parents. Again, bad example in the home is not so demoralizing as when a large number of pupils are gathered. So what to do? The teacher cannot be expected to prove bomb-proof against gross and deliberate impertinence, and he must maintain discipline. But if he has resort to Solomon's law the parents may appeal to the code U'Renie as known in Webfoot Land.

Suspension from school, which makes Johnny a perpetual nuisance at home, might be tried; or, if he is incorrigible, expel him. Then, when he makes life as much of a burden for father and mother as for teacher, their admiration may suffer eclipse and the youth may get his dues.

SYNDICALISM IN FRANCE.

While the strike of French employés is a failure, it must be remembered that the background from which it emerged remains as solid and as dangerous as ever. The General Federation of Labor, representing the movement known as "syndicalism," has grown steadily in power in France since 1884, when Waldeck Rousseau legalized the organization of labor by the associations law. It is strange that this same law that has been so bitterly resisted by the religious orders should have been also the means of raising the labor unions to their present position of dictatorial insolence. The demand that organizations of all kinds shall be registered was regarded by the religious bodies as a direct assault upon their prerogatives, while the workmen seized the opportunity to comply with a law that gave their organizations a legal status which they would otherwise lack. The power of combination in France is not considered as a right inherent in the citizen, but rather as a privilege that must be conferred formally by statute. The labor syndicates, as the new organizations were called, began to give trouble at once and Premier Dupuy suppressed them with a strong hand, but in 1900 they were reëstablished by Millerand, who needed their support in the Dreyfus quarrel, and since then the General Federation of Labor has enlarged its frontiers and absorbed union after union as it was formed.

The main grievance of the post and telegraph employés was the refusal of the government to recognize their right to strike. Their position is curiously paradoxical. The General Federation of Labor is included under the associations law and its members have therefore the legal right to strike. But the post and telegraph employés do not belong to the Federation, and while the right to combine has been legally granted to them, it remains a punishable offense for them to strike. The prosecutions now being undertaken by the government are directed against the telegraphists who, in defiance of the law, did actually strike a few months ago, and the reply of their comrades in the postal service to the prosecutions is, first, the present strike that is now dwindling away, and, second, a threat to affiliate with the Federation and so secure the right to strike already possessed by that organization. The government takes the very natural position that a small body of public servants must not possess the power to dislocate the business of the whole country or to cut off the government from its necessary communications with the rest of the world.

The General Federation does not approve of the present strike, believing it to be impolitic and inopportune. But the Federation itself fully intends to declare a universal strike as soon as it believes that affairs are ripe for that move. Its avowed and anarchistic object is sudden and complete paralysis of the whole French system in which the entire machinery of government would disappear. The special correspondent of the London Times, writing from Paris, says:

"The original idea is socialistic or collectivist in so far as it is directed against capitalism; it is anarchistic in so far as it contemplates the disappearance of the state; but, above all, it is trade-unionist, for the Syndicat is posited as the unit or cell of the future social organism. As between anarchism and collectivism it is far more hostile to the latter, because the state—the object of adoration to collectivists, divine, infallible, perfect and omnipotent—is to Syndicalists the arch enemy."

The means by which this change is to be brought about is a general strike, and to that end ordinary strikes are strongly encouraged by anarchists as affording the necessary lessons in discipline and cohesion. That the General Federation disapproves of this particular strike is not because of its injustice or its defiance of patriotism, but simply on the ground of its untimeliness and its likelihood of estranging the popular sentiment.

NOT LEGAL TENDER.

Artemus Ward boasted a patriotism so ardent in the war days that he was willing to contribute all his wife's male relations to swell the ranks and all her female relations as nurses.

Up in Washington there is a modern man as liberal as the jester. Fred Lines of North Yakima fell on hard lines when thrust into jail because he stabbed a man in a dispute over a poker game. Unable to put up cash bail, he offered his wife as security for his appearance.

This is the worst case on record of ignorance as to what is legal tender. No words can tell how dear a woman is to a man—until the milliner's bill comes in. But the value was not high enough to pass current with the jailer responsible for a respondent who was to be tried for assault with a deadly weapon.

The jailer, no doubt, was technically right in the eyes of the law. If Lines were releasable on bail of, say, $500, the coin produced in court would satisfy the judge. But Mrs. Lines? No.

Madam was pretty, blonde and loyal, but was not current money with the merchants. The gambler's wife was more than pretty. She had a worthless scamp for a husband. He was bad-tempered, too, and would kill. Yet the little blonde of pink Eve's flesh stood by him and was ready to take his place in the jail. She probably knew that her husband would levant the moment he was released and leave her to languish in prison to her life's end. She was not thinking of herself. Her thoughts were all on the wretch she loved. Go to jail for him? She would go to the scaffold and let the halter be adjusted to her slender neck to save the bullet-headed, bull-necked brute on whom she had lavished her affections.

"NOR THE BATTLE TO THE STRONG"

WAGES AND BUSINESS.

Former Gov. Folk of Missouri has been "in our midst" or thereabouts. He made a brave attempt to get into the deepest recesses in the back of our heads and set us thinking. He is not of the ordinary type of Missouri man. No one, so far as reported, ever heard Joseph Folk ask any man "to show him." He comes to show other men.

Like all his school of thought, this Missourian has a grouch against the rich. There is an undertone in all he says which indicates that either he thinks all great wealth must be acquired dishonestly, or that it is a crime to keep it no matter how it reaches one's hands. No doubt, if asked, he would not hesitate to say that Denmark is not the only country wherein there is "something rotten."

Possibly there is some ground of reason for holding that the proceeds of our various industries are not quite fairly diatributed. It may be that a larger portion of the gross gains of business should be paid out in salaries and wages. The great trouble is reaching an agreement on which the dividends should be arranged. In all ages labor and service have all been held to be commodities, prices depending on supply and demand. Wages and salaries are what they are as a rule because there is some one ready to do the work or render the services at ruling rates. What other basis on which to arrange the relations of employer and employé?

One thing appears plain. No just system will ever be found by which men will be equalized. The services of one man are at all times worth more than those of another.

Mr. Folk also seems to confuse wages and salaries with business. That is not right; in business native ability, experience, knowledge, daring if you will, differentiate men more than in employment.

Mr. Folk goes back to Adam and points out that if he had lived until now, worked every day and had been paid $175 per day, he would not have so much wealth as some make in one lifetime. What does that prove?

By Bishop Ussher's biblical chronology, Adam lived, say, 6000 years ago. There have been only 2,200,000 sunrises since Adam was sent out of the garden. At $200 a day, Sundays included, the pay envelope of the first farm hand today would hold less than half a billion dollars.

"Jim" Patten, by learning more about the supply of wheat in the world than the government had, made $3,000,000 in less than a year. If he repeated that for 6000 years he would certainly make Adam, who had raised the crops, look like a poor man.

Bessemer, who invented a new way of treating steel, made $50,000,000 in about twenty years out of his discovery. Had Patten been mistaken in his estimates on the stocks of wheat he would have lost all put into the deal. He took big chances. Had Bessemer's experiments not produced results he would have died a pauper.

Two boys grow up side by side to manhood. One takes employment at an agreed rate of compensation, and so goes on year by year. The other takes a pick and seeks the wilds where gold lies hidden. He braves hardship, suffers cold and hunger, risks his life. He finds the rich ore. He has made his life worth more to the world than the other man.

Shall not the Bessemers who enrich the world with discoveries have their reward? If not, there will be no more progress. Shall the miner not have the gold he uncovers? Otherwise there will be no prospectors.

Mr. Folk refers to Jesus of Nazareth and says if He had lived until now and been paid $500 a day for preaching he would not be rich by present standards. In 2000 years there are 770,000 days. At $500 a day the salary would be $365,000,000. The Rabbi of Bethlehem was a reformer, as Mr. Folk tries to be. But the great Reformer made His work tell in the world and prove effective to our time, so that He is still preaching because He did not make money His reward. The blacksmith may be paid for his services to the world more or less adequately according to circumstances. The true reformer cannot be paid in cash. All the wealth of the world would not pay the man who teaches the world an important truth.

Perhaps it is the love of money, "the root of all evil," which makes some reformers' work so ineffective.

Quick marriages are not to be encouraged, perhaps; but in some respects they are much better than long engagements

VALUE OF COMPARISONS.

We hear every day statements touching present conditions as compared with former times. Such comparisons are valuable just in proportion to the way they embrace all the elements in the situations concerned. Where the materialities on which political economy is based are involved it is particularly important to take in all the factors.

Statisticians have made up the figures for the world's international commerce for 1907. The business in interchange of commodities by the nations of the world is put at a valuation of $30,000,000,000. This is a gain since the first year of the century of 20 per cent., the international commerce of 1901 having been worth $25,000,000,000. Each year of the six has seen an average increase of $833,000,000. As is obvious, there is one general duplication in these values, the exports of each country appearing in the imports of others. But for our purpose this does not affect the lesson we desire to draw.

The first point we would make is that in drawing conclusions from a comparison of one period with another it is dangerous to go back very far. While the business of the world increases as in the six years above by so large a ratio, conditions become so different that care must be taken or erroneous conclusions will be reached. Note that the increase in international commerce is nearly 1 per cent. a year. In one lifetime there is an increase of one-half. In 100 years it is doubled; that is, twice as much business is done now as when the fathers of old men were going into business. Is it not obvious that any comparison with the opening of the last century would lead astray?

But, as a matter of fact, the growth of international commerce was not so great in the years compared above as in other recent periods. The value of exports and imports of the United States combined shows a greater growth than 1 per cent. a year. In 1875 the value of our international commerce was but a little above $1,000,000,000. In 1901 it was $2,310,937,156.

H. H. Rogers died the other day and is reputed to have left accumulated wealth of $100,000,000. It would be a mistake to compare this life achievement with that of any previous epoch. It was made for the most part in the development of a new industry which grew by leaps and bounds. In Abraham's time commerce was all local and consisted of the interchange of a few cattle, small in comparison with the shipments of live stock into Chicago in a day. In thirty years the wheat crop of the United States increased over 100 per cent., the corn crop by a larger ratio. The cotton crop has nearly trebled in twenty-two years, 1878 to 1898.

Any comparison of conditions today with those farther back than fifty years will lead only to confusion. As a rule, when you hear a man comparing our era with that of Adam or Caesar, or even with 1850, you may be sure he is a dreamer and not a student.

THE RICH WEST.

Chicago business men, who come in from touring the West, report that the farmers are gathering in "greenbacks by the bushel basket full."

The prices of cereals are at a new high level and there is need of all the wheat, corn and oats in sight. The bins and barns will be emptied and the pocketbooks filled. Western farmers raise crops to sell, not to keep, and if the old crops are all out of the way, leaving a market for the new ones soon to be gathered, prices are likely to be good right along. Not only "cash wheat" and "May wheat" are high, but so is "July wheat," and the other cereals do not lag a step behind.

Here lies the foundation of all prosperity. When the farmers do well all the country prospers. The greatest source of wealth in America is the corn crop. Cotton and wheat follow. Cotton is worth, with the by-products, over half a billion dollars, corn at present prices is worth twice as much, and wheat runs close up to cotton. Barley is small in comparison, the crop being worth not over $30,000,000, but oats come to over a quarter of a billion dollars.

No wonder that bushel baskets are needed to hold the bank notes the farmers are getting. So long as the farmers are rich the country cannot be poor. There are something like 15,000,000 people engaged in agricultural pursuits. They buy all kinds of goods and keep the factories busy, while supplying the factory people with food.

HOROSCOPE.

Wednesday, May 26, 1909.
BY COZETTE.

And many eyes shall see their ships come home.

The moon is in the first quarter on this 146th day of the year.

Jupiter is in ecliptic conjunction with the moon and in square with the sun.

This position has always been hailed by astrology since the day of Chaldea to betoken glorious power over wealth and commerce. Its influence will last through Thursday, and happy are they who have the mind and will to push the promise to the utmost.

Mercury, in sextile and in benefic aspect with the moon, adds a fortunate influence for artists, scientists, mechanical workers, writers and printers, and indicates fortune for those who travel for purposes of commerce.

There is warning against quarrel, lawsuits, speculation and chance in the opposition of Mercury. The red planet is unusually warlike and belligerent and inclines his subjects today to extravagance in deed and word and swiftness to give or take affront.

Opening new places of business, undertaking new interests or enlarging new ones, seeking business and dealing with merchants and bankers are under Jupiter's most pronounced favor this day.

Those whose birthdate this is should have great faculties for self-protection and will probably profit during the twelvemonth from their talent for keen insight. Those in employment will have an opportunity that will avail them only if they have equipped themselves beforehand for new responsibilities.

The sign over children born this day is for great intuition and quickness of perception and decision. They may prove too apt to discredit and criticise things without examination.

Metal Corona for Sun.

Dr. John A. Miller, professor of astronomy at Swarthmore College, advances the opinion that the sun's mysterious halo, which is visible only in case of total eclipses of the solar body, is composed of gigantic streamers of molten metal, ejected from the surface of the sun by terrific explosions and hurled sometimes through space 6,000,000 miles before falling back. Another theory regarding the composition of the corona is that it is the result of electric currents through rarified gases which surround the sun. Although Dr. Miller does not formulate the theory that the corona consists are molten metal of about the same consistency as a comet's tail, recent work done by him has tended to prove this theory. After an immense amount of mathematical calculation Dr. Miller found that if the theory was true certain streamers of the sun must curve first towards and then away from the pole of the sun. He then carefully examined photographic plates of the corona, which had been taken in Spain during a total eclipse of the sun in 1905. Certain of the streamers, were of the kind indicated in the calculations, thus, Dr. Miller is practically verifying the theory.

For Examining the Eye.

An ingenious instrument for the examination of the back of the human eye has been invented by Dr. Carl Hertzell of Berlin. While it must be considered as an adjunct to the familiar ophthalmoscope it possesses, nevertheless, separate and distinct value, and has already served many useful purposes. Essentially, the "ophthalmo-diaphanoscope," as it is called, consists of a portable cylindrical electric lamp of about eighty candle power, with an attenuated tube, providing for water cooling. The lower end is an electric lead or wire, which is hooked up to an electric-lighting supply box when the apparatus is in use and current required. The patient places the instrument in the mouth, as far back as possible and against the upper wall of the buccal cavity. The light is then turned on, leaving the pupil of the eye from the front, the back illuminated retina is brought before the ophthalmic surgeon, who is able thus to diagnose the appearances of the membranes and pathological conditions of the back of the eye. A black mask is worn by the subject in order that the impression given by the central field of illumination may not be impaired.

New Metal Found.

A heretofore unknown metal has been found in a point in Maine and been given the name of manite. The metal in reality is natural tin mixed with bismuth, and is found in both sheet and crystal formation. Prof. Ora W. Knight of Bates, a noted chemist and mineralogist, says he has never been able to find that such a combination has ever been known. Prospects are now being made for the purpose of ascertaining if the metal exists in sufficient quantities to make it commercially available. In its alloy with the bismuth this tin is malleable to a degree. It can be hammered out into thin foil. When alloyed with lead, tin becomes brittle.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

The gambol of the Lambs, which took place at the Metropolitan Opera-house Monday afternoon, was without doubt the most interesting spring event in the drama of the country.

In explanation it may be said that the "gambol" of this famous club is an annual affair, and that an immense amount of money is thus raised for club and charitable purposes, while the participants are the most famous actors, managers, playwrights and producers upon the American stage. Usually two performances are given in New York, and then a week is devoted to travel. Thus, single-performance dates are to be filled this week in Washington, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Cleveland, Boston and Cincinnati, concluding with two performances on Saturday in Chicago.

The flock, which usually numbers 200 in all, travels upon and lives entirely within the finest twelve-car train that the New York Central lines can furnish. There are two diners, conducted by the chefs and waiters of the Lambs Club, and meals are settled only by personal "O. K.," as at the club itself. Breakfast is a pick-up at any old time, and there are two regular meals at which all gather—dinner, at 6 o'clock, and then the supper after the performance, at 12.

The bill for this season includes the regular minstrel first part, followed by the funeral scene from "Julius Caesar," and in conclusion several sketches, chief of which is George V. Hobart's newly-written "Tuesday Morning."

"Tuesday Morning" is the morning after the first performance of a new melodrama, at which all the principals are assembled to rehearse once more, on account of a general and awful panning by the critics. Even the properties are rehearsed, as it was found that the locomotive would not run over the villain without wobbling disgracefully. Then, as things still refuse to follow the lines of art, various dramatists are called in to give their advice, and the whole meeting breaks up in a general row. Those summoned to doctor up the bum play are—actually and in the flesh—David Belasco, Augustus Thomas, Clyde Fitch and George Broadhurst.

State manager, Mr. Belasco; director of the orchestra, Victor Herbert, etc., etc.

The bill at the Los Angeles Theater this week is one of the best which has been given since the house came under its new management. May Ward, with her "Dresden Dolls," offers the largest feature. She has no less than eight girls, presenting a variety of pretty and dainty songs and dances. The act is genuine musical comedy on a small scale.

George Wilson, minstrel man, pushes out the standard line of jokes with great rapidity. Some are new and some need furbishing, but all seem very acceptable. Mme. Doherty has a brisk dog act, presenting eighteen lively and well-trained poodles. Dorf and Walsh are a team of nimble dancers who work well together. Mr. and Mrs. Robyns offer a playlet of dramatic interest in "The Counsel for defense." V. L. Granville does some quick changes in a skit called "Twixt Dawn and Daylight." New motion pictures are shown.

The Orpheus Comedy Four at the Empire Theater this week are an excellent male quartette, with a good line of humor to warrant their name. Seymour and Dupree, Chinaman and soubrette, do a variety of musical and comedy stunts. The Christy duo present what they call "A Little Tale in Simple Melody." It is a plot worked out in familiar airs. West and Mack have an amusing black-face act. Al Franke's illustrated songs and moving pictures complete the bill.

The "Two Graces," real sisters, who are real singers and real dancers, set the ball rolling at the Walker Theater this week with a brisk and lively entertainment quite different from the average song and dance attempt. Elmer Ballard and Mabel Albert present a funny farce entitled "Dick's Return." Otto C. Rabe, who is a sort of musical conjurer, plays upon almost every sort of instrument. The Heyman sisters are clever impersonators. Dick Parks, minstrel man, has a fund of new stories and an unusually good singing voice. Joseph Manley has a catchy new illustrated song, and Virginia Reeves, mezzo-soprano, presents several pleasing ballads. New motion pictures and a good orchestral programme complete the bill.

"The Man from the Moon," in the hands of the Unique comedy company, is proving a very amusing entertainment for patrons of that theater this week. Charles Justi is the author of the piece and produces it excellently. Will Armstrong plays Pat Hannigan, who finds a necklace of moonstones and is mistaken for the man from the moon. Other people in the plot are Mallndra, who steals the will of the King of Sumwarmia, which declares that Clytie shall be Queen. Stella Adams plays Malindra. Clytie is Annie Baumann, and John Martin is seen as the prophet. Many musical numbers are introduced in the progress of the piece.

There is a well-drilled and well-costumed chorus, and the show is opened by Irene Earle, who sings illustrated songs. New motion pictures are shown.

The Burbank Theater was crowded last night by members of the Merchants' Exchange of Southern California and their friends. The organization bought out the house, paying a lump sum for it, and disposed of the tickets among its membership. Every seat in the theater was filled.

Rehearsals of "The Weaker Sex," Pinero's play, which will be presented at one of the local theaters next month for the benefit of the Playgrounds Association, will begin Monday under the direction of Willis Marks of the Burbank stock company. Mr. Marks likewise will direct the production of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," which has been selected as the graduating-class play of Los Angeles High School.

The seat sale for "Weiner and Schnitzel," the third in the Kolb & Dill series of musical comedies, will open at the Majestic Theater box office tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, and the comedy will have its first presentation Sunday evening.

Miss Agnes Cain-Brown, who was compelled to surrender the role of Favorita in "The Circus Girl," is much better and is expected to be able to resume her part by tonight.

James Clarence Hyde, guardian of Mr. Frohman's interests in the case of Ethel Barrymore vs. her coming Los Angeles engagement, is in town, as is also Joseph Drum, distributor of Harrison Grey Fiske publicity. Messrs. Hyde and Drum are tripping together from Mt. Lowe to Catalina, and in general battling as savagely as rival press agents always do when they meet en route.

Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond will give a recital at the studio at No. 157 Oakland

The flock, which usually numbers 80 in all, travels upon and lives entirely within the finest twelve-car train that the New York Central lines can furnish. There are two diners, conducted by the chefs and waiters of the Lambs Club, and meals are settled only by personal "O. K.," as at the club itself. Breakfast is a pick-up at any old time, and there are two regular meals at which all gather—dinner, at 6 o'clock, and then the supper after the performance, at 12.

The bill for this season includes the regular minstrel first part, followed by the funeral scene from "Julius Caesar," and in conclusion several sketches, chief of which is George V. Hobart's newly-written "Tuesday Morning."

"Tuesday Morning" is the morning after the first performance of a new melodrama, at which all the principals are assembled to rehearse once more, on account of a general and awful panning by the critics. Even the properties are rehearsed, as it was found that the locomotive would not run over the villain without wobbling disgracefully. Then, as things still refuse to follow the lines of art, various specialties are called in to give their advice, and the whole meeting breaks up in a general row. Those announced to doctor up the bum play actually and in the flesh—David Belasco, Augustus Thomas, Clyde Fitch and George Broadhurst.

The interlocutor of the minstrel show is DeWolf Hopper, and every man present is a celebrity.

Stage manager, Mr. Belasco; director of the orchestra, Victor Herbert, etc. etc.

The bill at the Los Angeles Theater this week is one of the best which has been given since the house came under its new management. May Ward, with her "Dresden Dolls," offers the largest feature. She has no less than eight girls, presenting a variety of pretty and dainty songs and dances. The act is genuine musical comedy on a small scale.

George Wilson, minstrel man, pushes to the standard line of jokes with great rapidity. Some are new and some need furbishing, but all seem acceptable. Mme. Doherty has a trick dog act, presenting eighteen fine and well-trained poodles. Duff and Walsh are a team of nimble talkers who work well together. Mr. and Mrs. Robyns offer a playlet of domestic interest in "The Counsel for Defense." V. L. Granville does some quick changes in a skit called "Dan Dawn and Daylight." New motion pictures are shown.

The Orpheus Comedy Four at the Orpheum Theater this week are an excellent male quartette, with a good deal of humor to warrant their name. Rogers and Dupree, Chinaman and colored, do a variety of musical and comedy stunts. The Christy duo present what they call "A Little Tale of Simple Melody." It is a plot worked out in familiar airs. West and Benet have an amusing black-face act. Al Fowler's illustrated songs and moving pictures complete the bill.

The "Two Graces," real sisters, who are real singers and real dancers, set the ball rolling at the Walker Theater this week with a brisk and lively entertainment quite different from the average song and dance attempt. Elmer Tenbrod and Mabel Albert present a funny farce entitled "Dick's Return." Eddie C. Babe, who is a sort of musical engineer, plays upon almost every sort of instrument. The Heyman sisters are clever impersonators. Dick Lynch, minstrel man, has a fund of stories and an unusually good singing voice. Joseph Manley has a comic new illustrated song, and Virginia Reeves, mezzo-soprano, presents several pleasing ballads. New motion pictures and a good orchestral programme complete the bill.

"The Man from the Moon," in the hands of the Unique comedy company, is proving a very amusing entertainment for patrons of that theater this week. Charles Justi is the author of the piece and produces it excellently. Will Armstrong plays Pat Hannigan, who finds a necklace of moonstones and is mistaken for the man from the moon. Other people in the plot are Cyclie, who steals the will of the King of Sunwarmia, which declares that Cyclie shall be Queen. Stella Adams plays Malindra, Cyclie is Annie Adams, and John Martin is seen as the prophet. Many musical numbers are introduced in the progress of the piece.

There is a well-drilled and well-costumed chorus, and the show is opened by Irene Earle, who sings illustrated songs. New motion pictures are shown.

The Burbank Theater was crowded last night by members of the Merchants' Exchange of Southern California and their friends. The organization bought out the house, paying a lump sum for it, and disposed of the tickets among its membership. Every seat in the theater was filled.

Rehearsals of "The Weaker Sex," Pinero's play, which will be presented at one of the local theaters next month for the benefit of the Playgrounds Association, will begin Monday under the direction of Willis Marks of the Burbank stock company. Mr. Marks likewise will direct the production of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," which has been selected as the graduating-class play of Los Angeles High School.

The mat sale for "Weiner and Schnitzel," the third in the Kolb & Dill series of musical comedies, will open at the Majestic Theater box office tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, and the comedy will have its first presentation Monday evening.

Miss Agnes Cain-Brown, who was compelled to surrender the role of Fanchette in "The Circus Girl," is much better and is expected to be able to resume her part by tonight.

James Clarence Hyde, guardian of Dr. Frohman's interests in the case of Ethel Barrymore vs. her coming Los Angeles engagement, is in town, as is Joseph Drum, distributor of Harrison Grey Fiske publicity. Messrs. Hyde and Drum are tripping together from Mt. Lowe to Catalina, and in general battling as savagely as rival press agents always do when they meet on parts.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN

BY MISS SYDNEY FORD.

Don't darn stockings any more! It's entirely out of date. Throw the oval darning egg away, or keep it for a souvenir to be handed down to future generations as a curiosity and relic of the queer, old-fashioned days when grandmother really darned stockings by hand. Get a package of the stik-patch, which is on the order of court plaster, apply a piece over the hole in the hose, set a warm flatiron over it, and, behold, the most unruly foot that ever trod cannot burst through—"easy, quick and permanent" is what the manufacturers say.

Seen and Heard in the Shops.

"Here, Maria, just see what a bargain I've found," whispered a tall, gaunt woman to her young daughter. "Look at these pearl buttons at but 3 cents a dozen. I've bought five dozen for your graduating dress."

"You have?" said daughter, in a shocked tone. "Why, mother, don't you know why those pearl buttons are so cheap all over town now? It's because they're 'out.' Everybody is getting the crochet buttons now."

Mother "got wise," and countermanded the order.

Two women were gazing in a millinery window admiring the roses displayed there at two-bits a bunch.

"Yes, but I rather prefer fruit and vegetables," observed one, adding in a tone of pride, "Do you know I have enough on this hat I have on to get up a regular boiled dinner."

Bathing suits are blossoming in the shop windows—and there are some budding beauties. Gay bias bands of Scotch plaid brighten the dark mohair skirts, and the cap matches. Some suits are trimmed with bands of cretonne, and I noticed one chic suit of dark blue silk with a natty green silk girdle with knotted ends.

The sweater—like the shirt waist—will not down. It is with us as persistently as ever, and new designs and shapes and styles are continually smiling at us from the shop windows. There's something so snug and "comfy" about a sweater that women are loath to give them up. For beach and mountain camp they appeal with redoubled force as the one garment that is always handy to have about.

Some Summer Reading.

If you have seen David Warfield in his great success, "The Music Master"—or if you haven't—don't fail to slip into your basket of books for summer reading that wonderfully pathetic and strong story of human strength and human suffering which has been novelized from the play.

An amusing little tale for a summer afternoon in the hammock is that told by Louise Forslund in her "Old Lady No. 31"—which reveals the inner atmosphere of an old lady's home in quaint and original fashion. The author is known in real life as Mrs. Charles Carey Waddell, who, in turn, is well known under the name of Charles Carey as the author of "The Van Suyden Sapphires."

A Lady Linguist.

That shop-worn old joke about one language being enough to keep the ordinary woman's tongue as busy as her husband desires ought to be placed on the retired list. There's a woman—Ernestine Gregory by name, and an American we are proud to say—who has just won the honor of being the first woman to pass the examination in oriental languages in the University of Berlin. She is a writer in a Berlin newspaper, and a professorship in one of the German universities has been offered her. She is looked upon as one of the first linguists in Europe. Three months ago she stood first in an examination in the university in Russian language and literature, and she passed in oriental languages with high honors. She is also proficient in French and Spanish—and, of course, in her native tongue—English.

A Picturesque Procession.

Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, in a two-column account in the New York Sun presents a graphic picture of the pageant of women's trades and professions, which was a feature of the recent suffragists's congress in London. To the pealing of the great organ, this body of 1000 women marched into Albert Hall and up the center aisle. There were representatives of the army of women farmers bearing hoes and rakes and implements of the dairy; the bee-keepers, the flower gardeners, with baskets and bouquets swinging from long poles, the jam and pastry-makers, the cooks and waitresses and the housewives with various utensils. Down another aisle marched the dressmakers, milliners, fashion designers, embroiderers, jewelers, wood carvers, house decorators, photographers, painters and sculptors, the last dressed in white and holding aloft little images. Then came the lace and silk makers, hosiery workers, furriers, straw hat makers, boot and shoe workers, tailoresses, cigar makers, laundresses and shop assistants, followed by printers, bookbinders, indexers, typists, stenographers, secretaries, journalists, authors, musicians, singers, actresses and a group unknown to any other country—political speakers. Filing down another aisle in stately procession marched doctors, surgeons, nurses in costume, druggists, sanitary inspectors, and teachers representing the 6000 kindergartners in Great Britain, and the 15,000 women teachers in the public schools of London. Then, amid cheering and clapping of hands, came delegates from the 333,000 women cotton spinners and weavers, holding on high their spindles and miniature looms. Then the ranks opened, and down the long aisle came the chain makers, who work at the forge, and the pit-brow women from the mines—women whose faces have been blackened by the smoke and coal dust until they never can be washed white, their sleeves rolled above the elbow and their aprons and little shawls tied over their heads, all so pitifully clean for this memorable occasion. As these last passed through the ranks, the great audience sat hushed in silence with tears rolling down cheeks. To these women, the hardest workers in all the land, were given the seats of honor—the center of the front rows—while behind them, gladly taking a subordinate place, were many women wearing the gowns with scarlet and purple hoods indicating their university degrees.

The Queen's Car.

I read that Queen Alexandra has designed all the interior decorations and all the furniture fittings have been selected by her for the railroad car which is being built for her own use and that of Princess Victoria. The car, when completed, will be the most luxurious on wheels in the world. It will contain a parlor, two bedrooms. The bedrooms will be upholstered in silk and paneled in cedar wood and the furniture will be of satinwood. Throughout the car not a light is to be seen, the electric lamps reflecting behind a gilded cornice. The furnishings cost more than the car itself, the oriental rugs on the floor alone being valued at $75,000. The car has a telephone system, and the tea and dinner services in the silk-hung dining-room are of solid gold.

Color Combinations.

The latest fad in Washington society is the color scheme in connection with the carriage parade which crowds Potomac Driveway each sunny afternoon. Mrs. Levi P. Morton is a frequent visitor to the Speedway, says the Washington Post, and when she crowns herself in lavender, her daughter, Mrs. Eustis, also wears some shade of purple, either lighter or darker. The sunshades are carefully chosen, and on the front seat of the landau are deep purple wraps, thrown in graceful confusion and enhancing the artistic effect. Mrs. George Howard, whose husband is the only son of Sir Henry Howard, British Minister to The Hague, is fond of cherry color for her landau. She often takes out riding her little nieces, also in cherry, with cherry parasols and big hats covered with the brilliant fruit.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Delightful Woman.

An unique figure in the club world of America is Mrs. Mary J. Field of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Los Angeles. She is soon to be once more at her residence at No. 4977 Pasadena avenue, as she leaves the East in a few days. This delightful woman has just rounded out twenty-five years as president of an exclusive literary club of Brooklyn, and her silver anniversary as president, which was also the silver anniversary of the club's organization, was celebrated, a few days ago, in charming fashion. More than a hundred representative women met at one of the famous houses of "The Heights" to do honor to Mrs. Field. The entertainment began with a breakfast, followed by a literary programme, and ended with a "May Festival."

This club was organized in 1884, and has been a great social force. It is an institution of mothers and daughters, not at all a club, in the modern sense. The Twentieth Century Club of Brooklyn, an organization for men and women, was the outgrowth of this society.

There are one hundred and twenty-five members at present, and at the celebration nearly all of these, as well as many former members assembled to pay their respects to Mrs. Field.

The "May Festival" proved to be the most beautiful tribute of appreciation, for after crowning her queen of the festivities, a present of $2500 was given to her. The original idea had been to present $100 for every year that Mrs. Field has been president, but the subscription ran far above that amount.

El Camino Real.

Through the efforts of the district chairwomen of History and Landmarks, one of the divisions of work in the California Federation of Women's Clubs, and the systematized endeavors of the El Camino Real Association, the old Royal road, which ran from Mission to Mission in the days of the padres, is in process of restoration. Monday, a mission bell signpost was placed at Santa Clara, on the once-famous Alameda, the road between Santa Clara Mission and the Pueblo of San José. On Memorial Day another El Camino Real bell will be placed at the cross-road at Irvington, which is the site of the historic "Nigger Corners," two miles from the old mission of San José. Two other bells have been ordered and Mrs. Hare, chairman of the San Francisco district, is working hard to have the entire northern part of this old road marked by these signs.

The Highway Commission of Los Angeles county will spend some of that $3,500,000 of bond money in the construction of two and one-half miles of road which is part of the El Camino Real, and extends from San Gabriel Mission to Los Angeles. When the entire system of roads for the county is completed, about two-thirds of the old El Camino Real will have been covered. Then more mission sign posts will be placed. There are already thirty-six in the country.

The El Camino Real Association, composed of representative and public-spirited citizens, feels that the reconstruction of this historic road would benefit all classes—the farmer the merchant, the tourist, the autoist and the artist. It would attract foreigners to our State, the same as the Cornichi does to Italy and the Simplon to Switzerland.

Business Women's Association.

The California Business Woman's Association will meet on June 1, at 8 p.m., in Assembly Hall of the Young Women's Christian Association building. Mrs. Egelhof-Rundell will give a travel talk in costume, on "Holland."

Drama Considered.

The Women's Press Club of Southern California held a meeting yesterday afternoon, when the drama was the general subject for consideration. Mrs. Williamson read a delightful paper on the making of plays, and Mrs. Grace Hall De Wolf gave a sparkling appreciation of play writing, from the standpoint of [illegible] actress.

I AM A RETIRED LOCAL PHYSICIAN

I am so grateful for the relief from headaches, biliousness, stomach disorder, kidney troubles and bad liver, which I received through a simple remedy, that I will go to the expense of this little ad. to give it to other sufferers.

THIS IS IT

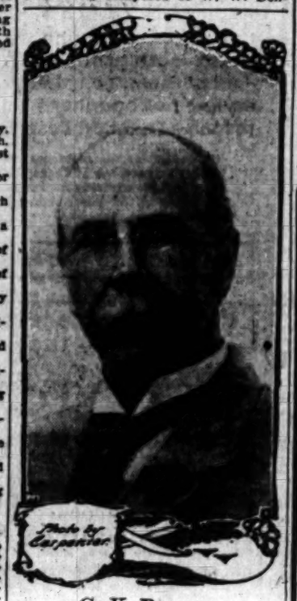
Elixir Calisaya Bark, 1½ ounces; Simple Elixir, 1½ ounces; Heptonic Compound, 1 ounce. Directions: Mix well and take one teaspoonful in water 3 or 4 times a day. Have your druggist mix them or buy them yourself and mix them at home.

Note—It will pay you to cut this out, for I know it beats all the advertised patent medicines.

INTERESTING PROGRAMME.

Addresses, Athletic Events and Songs Will Be Features at Illinois Society's Picnic.

Preparations for the annual picnic of the Illinois Society at Playa del Rey, Saturday, were completed, last night, at a meeting of the Executive Committee, composed of W. W. Dennis, Attorney G. H. Moore, G. K. Barrere, J. E. Murray and Capt. M. D. Hurley.



G. K. Barrere,
president Illinois Association of Southern California.

It was decided to keep secret the list of athletic events. Frank W. H. Moore, J. W. Cochran and possibly Rev. Robert J. Burdette will be the speakers. Former Gov. Beveridge of Illinois, now a resident of Hollywood, may be present. A feature of the gathering will be the singing of "Illinois" and "California."

SEES HIS OLD COMPANY.

Capt. Chappelear, Former Officer of National Guard Here, Visits the Old Armory.

Capt. L. S. Chappelear, U. S. A., who graduated from the command of one of the National Guard companies of this city into the regular establishment, is spending a leave of absence in Los Angeles.

Capt. Chappelear has won a marked success in the army. At the time of the Spanish-American war he was in the ill-fated camp of the Seventh Regiment until the command was mustered out. He then went to the Philippines in a volunteer regiment, and later became an officer in the Philippine military police. At the time of the big reorganization of the army he got his commission.

Most of his service has been in the Coast artillery. Until a few weeks ago, he was in command of the company at Jackson Barracks, New Orleans, which broke the army record for shooting.

He is now on the way to take command of a company at the Presidio, San Francisco. Capt. Chappelear says that the man-famine in the Coast artillery has passed. The army is now full of the finest kind of soldiers. The recruiting officers are accepting only men who have seen service. The service was never so attractive as now.

NO SECRET OR MYSTERY.

Kodol contains, in liquid form, all of Nature's natural ferments, and juices, such as pepsin, pancreatin, hydrochloric acid and aromatic tonics—thus enabling it at once to digest every particle of food with which it comes in contact. A tablespoonful of Kodol digests 2½ pounds of food. A bottel of Kodol digests 40 pounds of food—and it makes no difference what kind of food it may be—Kodol will digest it; and where there is perfect digestion in the stomach there is necessarily a perfect and healthy stomach. A good, healthy digestive process can always be assured to one's stomach by merely keeping a bottle of Kodol handy, and taking a little of it now and then. You do not have to take Kodol all the time. You only have to take it occasionally, just at the times when you need it. Our guarantee—Get a dollar bottle of Kodol. If you are not benefited—the druggist will at once return your money. Don't hesitate; any druggist will sell you Kodol on these terms. The dollar bottle contins 2½ times as much as the 50c bottle. Kodol is prepared in the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

POMONA TRUSTEES MEET.

Apparently Agreed Upon New Proposal to Occidental College, Looking to Proposed Merger.

When the Pomona College trustees appeared in Los Angeles yesterday there was another buzz of interest, but no trustee of Occidental was in sight. The talk of consolidation between Occidental and Pomona colleges causes special interest to center about a meeting of the trustees of either institution.

Last week, when a dozen of the trustees of Occidental jumped into automobiles and visited Claremont, many were dead sure that some important step was to be taken, but nothing was done, and it was probably only a friendly call, out of courtesy, for having refused to accept a proposal.

The trustees in Los Angeles yesterday comprised practically the entire Pomona board, except George W. Marston, who is in Europe. They were Bishop Johnson, Dr. Warren F. Day, Dr. William Horace Day, Rev. A. C. Smither and E. P. Clark, Los Angeles; C. B. Sumner, Frank Walker, A. M. Dole, E. P. Goff, Henry Kingman of Pomona and Claremont, F. H. Bixby of Long Beach, N. W. Blanchard of Santa Paula, C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, F. M. Dowling and B. W. Hahn of Pasadena.

What they did at the meeting they are guarding with jealous care. Said the venerable Dr. Warren F. Day:

"I regard the merging of the two colleges as a very desirable thing. If it can be done with satisfaction to both parties, but that may be very hard to accomplish. The situation is just this: If Occidental will do certain things, Pomona will do certain things, and we might get together. The question of electing a new president for Pomona was not considered, and, so far as I know, no offer has been made to any man since my son felt it his duty to decline, and till this question of consolidation is settled, nothing will be done in that direction."

MISSIONARY MEETING.

The Methodist Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Los Angeles district, will meet in University Methodist Church on Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Among the speakers will be Mrs. Thomas of India, and Miss Tibbits of China, and Mrs. Phelps of Japan. A general invitation is extended to the public.

For Your Needs

We Suggest

that you take a tonic, if you feel tired, exhausted, unable to think or work, lack appetite, sleep badly, are too thin, and in general feel the need of a strengthening medicine.

If a woman, take the woman's tonic—CARDUI.

This gentle-acting, strength-building remedy has, for over 50 years, been in common use by thousands of ladies who have found it of inestimable value in the treatment of womanly weakness, pains and ailments, and in the toning up of the female nervous system.

Unnecessary pains and aches, like backache, headache, dragging feelings, inability to walk and similar symptoms have been relieved by the use of Cardui.

Mrs. Mary Freeman, of Paint Lick, Ky., writes: "I have taken three bottles of Cardui and it has done more good than any medicine I ever took in my life. I think it is the only medicine on earth that will cure female trouble. I was down in my back nearly all the time and had other troubles. Now my back is nearly well and the other troubles are about gone."

Your druggist is sure to keep Cardui on hand all the time—just like your grocer keeps flour and sugar. It is a standard part of a druggist's stock. Get a bottle today!

NO QUARREL SO THEY SAY.

Rumors of Differences in the Juvenile Court Body.

Talk of Ruction Over Site for the New Home.

Is it possible that the distinguished men and women who compose the Los Angeles County Juvenile Court Probation Commission are actually quarreling? It is asserted that a serious difference has arisen on account of the new Detention Home and that two of the ladies have offered their resignations.

Several of the members denied, yesterday, that there is any friction and also gently reminded the inquirer that the sessions of the commission are strictly "executive."

"We do not propose to give out any information regarding our meetings until there is some decision," said one of the prominent lady commissioners. Another admitted that there is considerable difficulty in selecting a proper location, but said that the final choice will be made very soon.

Under the new law the members of the commission have the legal power to select a site for the new Detention Home. The Board of Supervisors supposedly approves the recommendation and furnishes the money for the purchase of the property.

NEW HOME NEED URGENT.

That a new home is urgently needed, no one questions. Formerly the poor little delinquents were locked up in the old County Jail and, since that ancient structure has been torn down, the boys and girls are crowded together in a dingy house on Railroad street.

Judge Wilbur of the Superior Court, who has jurisdiction of all juvenile cases, stated last night that he will confer with the Board of Supervisors in regard to any site recommended by the commission. He declined to state what location he personally favors.

The commission has held a number of executive sessions, but great efforts have been made to keep the lips of the members sealed. Little leaked out in regard to the secret sessions until yesterday, when it became known that the members are hopelessly at variance.

COVERTLY ACCUSED.

It is alleged that one member was covertly accused of being financially interested in a certain site and that commission would be given him, if the site he favored was finally selected. This attack precipitated a dispute which was not ended until adjournment. One of the members is said to be ready to disclose many of the secret secrets of the honorable commission, if his (or her) voice is not heard. Others are advising a peaceful settlement on the ground that internal dissensions may injure the cause for which the commissioners are working.

If the seven members cannot agree, a majority recommendation doubtless will be filed with the Board of Supervisors. There is apparently no law to prevent the minority filing its report too. Ultimately the Supervisors may have to select the site, upon the recommendation of Judge Wilbur, if the commission does not reach a definite conclusion.

The Juvenile Court Probation Commission looks after the needs of the children who are taken before Judge Wilbur on minor charges. In most cases the lack of parental care or semi-criminal environment is found responsible for the iniquities of the youngsters.

The Detention Home is not a prison or even a house of correction, and hardened offenders are not admitted. It is planned to acquire an establishment that will give the inmates every opportunity to enjoy fresh air, the sunlight, and play to their heart's content on spacious grounds. The idea is to save the children and give them a uplift for better lives.

QUARRELS MAY HINDER ACTION.

The alleged disturbance among the members may postpone action on a desirable site for some time, for the commissioners admit that nothing has been done in the way of securing a home. Although each meeting has been a lengthy one, there seems to be no prospect of the members "getting together," unless the supposed programme of the leaders is accepted by the rest of the "foster" fathers and mothers. The members of the commission are: Miss Evelyn Stoddart, Miss Fannie Bixby, Miss Philaletha Nichelsen, Mrs. Nora McCartney, Henry Klamroth, D. Beswick and Mr. Merrill.

Although none of the commissioners will talk for publication, it is understood that the majority favor the French Hospital, which can be purchased for about $40,000.

MINORITY OPPOSITION.

The minority is said to oppose this choice on the ground that the building is old and not well suited to house a lot of young delinquents. It is urged that the children needed fresh air, good surroundings and a clean, sanitary building. Other tentative locations are the Bradbury home, the Los Angeles Orphans' Home, the present Parental Home and several other places further removed from the Courthouse.

"There is no friction between our members," said Miss Stoddart last night. "Of course, there is some difference of opinion as to the best site for the home, but we are all pulling together." We want to get the best possible quarters for the poor children, who need watching and supervision for a time. Supervisor Fridham is helping us nicely and we hope to come to a conclusion before long."

Building to Be of Classic Architecture, With General Impression of Solidity and Simplicity—City Donated Site and Carnegie Gave $10,000 Toward Cost of Structure.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

AZUSA, May 24.—Azusa is to have in the very near future a public library building which will compare favorably with similar buildings in much larger towns in Southern California. The cost of the building will be about $13,000, $10,000 of which was a gift from Andrew Carnegie. Norman F. Marsh of Los Angeles is the architect. The contract has been awarded to the B. F. Davisson Contracting Company of Monrovia.

A fine site in the city park, which consists of two and one-half acres, has been donated by the city. The architecture is classic, and the general impression of the building will be one of solidity and simplicity. The stone to be used is known as the "Glendora" stone. It is found in the quarry about one mile southeast of Glendora.

The building is 40x55 feet in size, and is approached by a fine flight of steps, at the foot of which there will be a large fountain. There will be a basement ten feet high. It will be five feet above ground, and well lighted. This basement is built largely to permit of future growth. On the main floor is to be located the reading-room, the reference-room, a children's room, a librarian's room, a woman's restroom, and stack-rooms. Two beautiful features of the reading-room are the large rotunda in the center, and the fire-place with a mantel of cream pressed brick.

Special attention has been given to lighting, and the building will have a hot-air furnace, a fumigator, a Sedwick Simplex dumb waiter, cork carpeting throughout, and all the other modern conveniences to be found in buildings of its class.

Two bungalows of five rooms each have just been started on San Gabriel avenue. One for Mr. Mace will cost $1000, and Mr. Border is to expend $1200. Clifton J. Platt of Pasadena is building on his tract in the southwest part of town a cottage that will cost $600. Edward Thompson is putting up, at the corner of Soldano avenue and Fifth street, a bungalow which will cost $800. F. A. Carpenter, cashier of the Azusa Valley Savings Bank, has bought, for $1800, a house and lot on San Gabriel avenue. He will at once move to town, but will still retain and superintend his ranch.

TO SUBDIVIDE FAMOUS RANCH.

The McCoy ranch, part of a famous old Spanish grant adjoining the townsite of Escondido, is to be subdivided and placed on the market in small tracts. W. E. Alexander, for many years a prominent land dealer along the Santa Fé Railroad, is at the head of a syndicate of Ohio and Colorado people who purchased the ranch and who will give a number of people an opportunity to get "a little farm well tilled."

The ranch is well situated. Escondido, "the hidden vale," is about 100 miles southeast of Los Angeles on a branch of the Santa Fé Railroad. It lies in the foothills, at an elevation of 700 feet. It has been settled for twenty-five years. There is a good water supply. Orange and lemon groves, vineyards and deciduous fruit orchards, planted twenty years ago and bearing steadily, show that the climate and soil are of the best.

The pioneering has been done in Escondido, and purchasers of these small holdings will live in a fertile valley close to a town which contains all the modern improvements—schools, churches, stores, banks, water, telephones, railroad and market facilities.

The syndicate has opened offices at No. 521 South Spring street, where a permanent display of the various products of Escondido Valley will be exhibited.

PLAN LARGE BUILDING.

Block of Six or More Stories Will Probably Be Built on Hill Near Seventh.

The Central Broadway Building Company, of which Isaac Norton is president, has leased from the Broadway Realty Company for the period of twenty-five years a lot having a frontage of 125 feet on the east side of South Hill street, between Sixth and Seventh, and immediately north of the Sunset Telephone Exchange. The property extends to the Central department store at the rear.

The lessees plan to build on this site a structure to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000 if a suitable tenant can be obtained. The style and height of this building is to be determined by the prospective occupant. S. Tilden Norton has been engaged to draw up tentative plans for a six-story building on general lines to suit the size of the lot.

LEASE BROADWAY CORNER.

Clothing Company Engages for a Long Term Entire Ground Floor of Story Building.

The Mullen & Bluett Company has leased the entire ground floor and basement of the W. P. Story building, corner Sixth and Broadway, for a long term, and will take possession about January 1, 1910. The frontage on Broadway and 150 feet on Sixth street, and the floor space will be as extensive as that occupied by any other clothing concern on the Pacific Coast.

A large mezzanine twenty feet wide and 160 feet long in the rear of the store will be utilized for one of the departments of the business. The basement, which will be well appointed and lighted, is to be converted into an attractive salesroom.

REPORTS LIVELY DEALING.

LOTS BRING GOOD PRICES.

MONROVIA, May 22.—Real estate dealers report sales for the week ending Thursday, May 20, aggregating $5400, and double that amount placed in escrow.

Blythe and Besman, acting for B. M. Blythe, sold to Harvey Williams four lots on the corner of Jasamine street and Lime avenue. The consideration was $2000. The same firm, acting for C. H. Anson, sold to J. W. Gable one lot on South California avenue for $500. L. T. Kennedy sold to F. B. Hunt one lot, improved with a modern bungalow, on Poppy avenue, for $2500.

BUYS VALUABLE PROPERTY.

John E. Martin reports the sale for Ella F. Morgan of the residence at No. 421 Vermont avenue to A. Clubb, a retired merchant from Toronto, Can. The property consists of a lot 132x400 feet, running through from Vermont avenue to New Hampshire street, on which is situated a large ten-room house. A garage is also a part of the improvements. The consideration is reported at $35,000. Mr. Clubb bought the property for a home. The following sales have just been completed through the same agency: A lot of the Vermont and Melrose avenue tract for Hattie H. Crary to Dr. G. W. Gates for $900. J. E. Martin to I. A. Hossad, a lot of the Diamond street tract for $1200, through the agency of E. C. Dieter. For L. R. Kurtz to J. R. Smith, twenty acres well improved, at San Jacinto, valued at $10,000, in exchange for a six-room cottage at No. 1216 West First street and two bungalows at Alhambra. The total value represented was $12,600, subject to a mortgage of $2000.

BEACH ACTIVITY INCREASING.

Beach homes amounting in value to $100,000 are under construction at Balboa, and plans for as many more are now under way. The Balboa Island Realty Company reports the sale of over fifty lots during the past ten days to buyers who will build cottages this summer. Many buildings have already been started. A feature of these sales is the "community buying," groups of friends and neighbors often buying many houses on the same street. There is a great scarcity of rooming accommodations in the section, and every house for rent is quickly occupied. The Pacific Electric Railway Company has announced that on June 15 it will reduce the local round-trip rate to 75 cents, and will also make a 28-cent commutation rate. The dredge "Balboa" is at work on the island filling lots to grade. After June 1 crews will work day and night on the dredging projects.

Ventura Judge Continues Application of Bank Receiver for Payment of Big Fee.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

VENTURA, May 25.—Superior Judge Clark has continued for one week the application of Receiver Daly of the late bank of William Collins & Son, for the payment to him of $10,000 as fee for his services. Judge Clark stated, after the application was presented, that as the fee asked was a large one, and as it must be paid by the depositors of the insolvent bank, he wanted to obtain the testimony of some of the heaviest depositors upon the matter.

It was shown at the hearing that Mr. Daly had done a vast amount of work in untangling the involved affairs of the bank. He had made forty-one trips to San Francisco, paying his own expenses each time, and had settled one claim held by the Oakland bank of the Collins family for $178,000 by the actual payment of only $45,000. President Ewing of the First National Bank, former Superior Judge, and Attorney Orestes Orr both testified that, in their opinion, the fee asked by Daly was a reasonable one, considering the services given.

It is now said that when the concerns of the bank are finally wound up, the depositors with William Collins & Sons will receive 80 and possibly 85 per cent. of their claims.

BANDMASTER MARRIES.

NOT INSANE; QUARRELSOME.

A family row was aired before the Lunacy Commission yesterday when Rudolph Christ was brought up for examination on a complaint filed by his wife, who conducts a restaurant on North Main street. She charged that he had threatened to kill her and had himself attempted suicide. Christ denied the charges. He said he was cook in his wife's restaurant, but that he never got a cent without begging her for it. For an hour the commission listened to the couple wrangling over their domestic affairs, and then released Christ with an admonition not to molest his wife again.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All the high officials who had been detained since last July in Prince's Island, Sea of Marmora, were this morning sent into exile, their destination being unknown. Their possessions have been confiscated. None of the prisoners were given any trial.

Among them are Tahsin Pasha, first secretary; Abdul Hamid Ragseb Pasha, chamberlain; Ali Riza Pasha, Minister of War; Memdouh Pasha, Minister of the Interior; Zeki Pasha, grand master of the artillery; Admiral Rami Baska, Minister of Marine.

The manner of proceeding without legal judgment has given rise to much criticism.

William Lytell Believes He Is Hurt by "Bill Truetell."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Papers were served today on R. K. Smith, representative of the Chicago publishing house of A. C. McClurg & Co. in an action brought by William H. Lytell, an actor, against that concern for $10,000 damages.

The action is rather unique. It is alleged that the defendant has maliciously published a book called "Bill Truetell," with intent to defame Lytell. It is asserted in this complaint that the "Bill Truetell" pictured in the book is a person of low character and that it was intended to portray the plaintiff. Lytell complains that he has been injured in his business capacity and finds it hard to secure an engagement as actor or manager as the result of the publications.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. PETERSBURG, May 25.—The Duma today began the discussion of a law legalizing the sect of Old Believers. This is the first of a series of important measures designated to put into effect the principles of religious liberty enunciated in the Emperor's manifesto of 1905. The sect of the Old Believers, which in various forms embraces 15,000,000 worshipers, is the largest dissident body in Russia. It separated from the parent orthodox church during the period of religious reforms, under Peter the Great.

RECORD SALMON RUN.

MONTEREY, May 25.—Five thousand salmon, each fish captured with hook and line, were taken in Monterey Bay today during what is declared to have been the greatest salmon run ever known in this city. The bay was covered with fishing boats from dawn until dark and the wharves were piled high with fish when the catch was brought ashore. Exclusive of the catch mentioned, 200 boxes, or fifteen tons of salmon, squid and rock fish were shipped from Monterey today, the heaviest shipment for a single day of which there is any record.

AIRSHIPS IN ARMY REVIEW.

DOEBERITZ (Germany) May 25.—The Gross and Parseval airships commanded by officers of the army, took part in the field exercises of the Foot Guards today in the presence of Emperor William. Strong winds interfered but the pilots executed difficult maneuvers with great skill. Both ships then came down in front of Emperor William, who inspected them thoroughly. The two balloons returned subsequently to the headquarters at Tegel without mishap.

GRAFT DETECTIVE ARRESTED.

PITTSBURGH, May 25.—Thomas Donovan, one of the detectives employed by the Voters' League, which brought the graft charges against several Councilmen and two bankers in this city some time ago, was arrested today, charged with conspiring to falsely indict and subornate witnesses. He was lodged in the County Jail. The grand jury continued its investigation into alleged corruption of the affairs in this city today.

UNION PACIFIC DERAILED.

MANHATTAN (Kan.) May 25.—Union Pacific passenger train No. 126 was derailed ten miles north of here tonight. A report that several passengers were injured has not been confirmed. Telegraphic communication with the point where the train is detained was cut off.

FLYER IS WRECKED.

ALLENTOWN (Pa.) May 25.—The Allentown flyer on the Central of New Jersey was wrecked tonight at Salte Dam, fifteen miles west of here, by the breaking of a brake beam. Six cars left the rails. The smoker turned completely over, dragging the remaining five cars from the rails. None of the passengers was injured, officials say.

DEADLOCK STILL ON.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) May 25.—Unusual interest centered in the ninety-fourth joint ballot for United States Senator today, because of a rumor that an attempt to elect Congressman Lorimer would be made, but the vote resulted in no election. Congressman Lorimer developed no support and former Senator Hopkins received 33 votes.

New Road Chartered.

BEN ELLIOTT ARRESTED.

under the Glendale store. The Sheriff remarked that it must have been hard to put it there.

"It was awful hard," said the boy with pleased pride. "There are not many fellows who would have done it."

The Sheriff asked him if he was hanging anywhere about the scene on either Saturday, Sunday or Monday night last, evidently referring to some recent incident—perhaps the finding of the girl's books and lunch.

"I was at the beach," said the boy, without a trace of interest.

He said he had three camps in the period of his hanging around Tropico. One was near the bridge that leads from Tropico to Griffith Park; another was just the other side of the Verdugo Road, east of Glendale; the third was at the cemetery.

At the time of his arrest, an intricate physical examination was made of the boy by the Sheriff; no signs were found of his having taken part in a furious assault.

AGGRAVATION.

RANCHERS' LIVES MADE A BURDEN.

MANY AMATEUR SLEUTHS ANNOY HOUSEHOLDERS.

Suspicion of One Another Among Members of Supplemental Detective Force Causes Jealousy and Gives the Regular Officers a Somewhat Freer Field.

Lured by the large reward offered for the capture and conviction of the fiend that murdered little Anna Poltera on the Los Feliz road last Monday afternoon, hundreds of amateur sleuths and would-be detectives have entered the case, making life a burden for people living in the neighborhood of the park.

These men and boys have literally overrun the vicinity. They awaken ranchers and residents of Tropico, Glendale and Ivanhoe at unseemly hours of the night to ask them absurd questions. They follow the officers about, taking note of their every move and loudly discussing these moves; they stop people on the roads to question them, and in fact hamper the progress of the case.

Their acts have become so aggravating that residents of that vicinity crawl into their cellars and lock the doors every time a sleuth comes in sight.

The strange discovery of the little girl's belongings within ninety feet of where her body was found and the additional circumstance that the articles were picked up from ground that had been thoroughly searched and tramped over many times before has caused a strange turn in the affairs of the case.

There is one feature that forces itself upon the officers in connection with the discovery. The murderer must have been some one who either secreted himself in cave and brush or else it was a man who had no reason to fear that suspicion would fall upon him.

This latter phase is looming up big as a factor in the case. The road was well watched. The place where the articles were found had been tramped over at 11 o'clock Monday morning, and there was nothing there. Before 3 o'clock in the afternoon the lunch basket, pencil box, handkerchief and newspaper belonging to the little girl were found on that spot. In the interim there had been many officers and searchers about the place. It would have been almost impossible for a strange man to have sneaked into the immediate neighborhood of that brick vent without being noticed, and yet the murderer or some one closely allied with him did sneak in there and leave the much-sought-for articles. This advances the theory that the man who left the belongings of little Anna Poltera at a spot not ninety feet from where her body was found was a man who could approach he place without attracting suspicion and therefore a man who was identified with the searchers, a man who worked with them every day, whose face was known to the officers, who could go and come unquestioned.

Therefore every man in the search with the exception of the officers is questioning his neighbor. They are watching one another and this suspicion that has come among them is taking their attention away from the real issues of the search and giving the officers a little chance to work unhampered.

The reward for the capture and conviction of the murderer is now $1850. Upon the motion of Councilman Barney Healey, yesterday afternoon, the Council appropriated $500 to be applied on the reward. In addition to the total there has been a reward of $500 offered, but the restrictions placed upon it show that it is being put up more in the light of an advertising scheme than with real sincerity toward the capture of the criminal.

Since the discovery of the body, Thursday morning, Sheriff Hammel has worked night and day, going practically without sleep, in his efforts to run down every clew.

"I will not give up this chase so long as I have breath in my body," said Sheriff Hammel last night. "It may be hours, days or months before this monster is captured, but I believe that he will be captured and made to pay the penalty for this crime. I have some additional clews which are worth looking into, and I intend to take them up the first thing in the morning. I will keep my men on the case as long as there is any hope of doing anything in the direction of a capture."

SEEN IN CANYON.

POSSIBLE CLEW OF TOPANGO.

SANTA MONICA, May 25.—Picnickers returning from up the coast bring tidings indicating that a possible clew to the whereabouts of the assassin and slayer of little Anna Poltera may be found in the wilds of Topango Cañon. It was on the afternoon of Tuesday of last week that a Mexican, clad in blue overalls and jumper, wearing a soft hat and old brogans from which his toes protruded, was observed carrying a small pack.

The fellow's evident purpose to avoid being seen directed suspicion toward him. He was traveling up the cañon and was evidently weary. As the suspect answering this description was last seen in the vicinity of the murder Monday, it is judged by the officers that by walking through a part of Monday night the fellow would have time to reach Topango, where he was seen Tuesday afternoon. By this time he could have placed himself in the depths of any one of a hundred of the tortuous mountain cañons of Ventura county. When last seen he was traveling in the direction of the Calabasas country.

BAKERSFIELD, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The union plumbers of Bakersfield and Kern, who were discharged by all firms of the two towns last Saturday in view of their notice to strike yesterday at noon, today sought reinstatement in their old jobs at $4.50 per day, instead of $5, the figure named when the strike was called.

The master plumbers refused the offer, however, repeating their determination to pay no more than formerly. Open shop has not yet been declared, but it probably will be unless the strikers decide to go back to work at $4 per day.

LEGAL ABILITY BEHIND BARS.

Prisoner Proves Himself an Able Lawyer.

Appellate Court Orders New Trial for Lapique.

Study of Statutes in Cell Brings Victory.

John Lapique, now a prisoner in the County Jail, has the "makings" of a successful criminal lawyer. Though he lost his case in the Superior Court and was sentenced to ten years in State prison, upon conviction of having obtained money under false pretenses, he has won his appeal and will get a new trial.

Lapique was offered the assistance of eminent counsel without cost to himself, but he disdained it upon the ground that he was a better lawyer than any of his proposed defenders. He has apparently some reason for his egotistical opinion, since he has won despite determined opposition by Deputy Attorney-General Beebe, who represented the State on the appeal.

Since his incarceration in the County Jail the prisoner-lawyer has assiduously studied the California statutes and has made the life of his keepers unenviable by his repeated requests to be taken before the justices of the Appellate Court.

He willingly submitted to be handcuffed, day after day, and rattled his iron bands scornfully when he appeared in the Appellate Court lobby.

His brief was not drawn according to the approved methods of pleading, and he made several slighting remarks in regard to the court which tried him.

COURT PATIENT.

But with a fine sense of justice which makes the decisions of Presiding Justice Allen and his two associates noteworthy in the legal annals of this district, the three eminent jurists gave Lapique every opportunity to present his authorities and listened to his verbose disquisitions on the law with patience.

REVIEW OF EVIDENCE.

The court states: "The false representations charged in the information were that the defendant represented that he was the agent of Mary and Richard Corcoran and authorized by them to sell and transfer a certain lot of the Corcoran tract owned by them; that he was authorized to sign their names to a certain written instrument which he exhibited to the complaining witness. This purported to be a contract of sale of said lot, and to it he signed the names of Mary and Richard Corcoran with his own, as agent, in the presence of the complaining witness. By reason of said pretended sale, he induced the complaining witness Chimgros, to pay him $100 on said contract.

"The evidence of the complaining witness is that he paid the $100 to the defendant April 15, 1907, because the defendant told him that the lot belonged to the Security Savings Bank, and that he had the right to sell the lot. The witness testified: 'I believed that, and that's why I bought the lot. I gave him the money. I believed what he told me about the lot and that belief was what caused me to give him the money.'

ALLEGATIONS NOT PROVEN.

"The District Attorney thereupon asked the witness whether or not he would have given the money to the defendant if the latter had not told him that the Security Savings Bank owned the lot. The witness answered in the negative. Again on cross-examination, the witness stated that before filing the complaint, he went to the Security Savings Bank to find out about the ownership of the lot.

"These were the only representations, according to the complaining witness, made at the time of the transaction, and the only ones upon which he relied in parting with his money. Eight days later the defendant handed to the complaining witness a writing executed in the manner alleged in the information. This was substituted for the receipt given at the time of the payment of the $100 and bore the same date. The witness could not read and did not know its contents, and no representations were made to him to the same or similar effect or purport as to the contents thereof.

"There is no escape from the conclusion that the allegations of the information were not proven as alleged.

MATTER OF OWNERSHIP.

"The matter of ownership is not to be considered here as an element of the crime or a matter of description, but in respect to what representations were made to induce the complainant to part with his money.

"It is apparent then that the allegation of ownership cannot be treated as surplusage because the property is otherwise described. The crime charged was to be established by the proof of the false representations alleged to have been made, and of their falseness. The fraud must be accomplished by means of the false pretenses alleged to have been made use of for the purpose. They must be shown to be the same which induced the owner to part with his money. This was done here. On the ground of the variance thus shown the judgment is reversed and the cause remanded for a new trial."

HANDICAP OVERCOME.

Appellate Court Orders New Trial for Lapique.

John Lapique, now a prisoner in the County Jail, has the "makings" of a successful criminal lawyer. Though he lost his case in the Superior Court and was sentenced to ten years in State prison, upon conviction of having obtained money under false pretenses, he has won his appeal and will get a new trial.

Lapique was offered the assistance of eminent counsel without cost to himself, but he disdained it upon the ground that he was a better lawyer than any of his proposed defenders. He has apparently some reason for his egotistical opinion, since he has won despite determined opposition by Deputy Attorney-General Beebe, who represented the State on the appeal.

Since his incarceration in the County Jail the prisoner-lawyer has assiduously studied the California statutes and has made the life of his keepers unendurable by his repeated requests to be taken before the justices of the Appellate Court.

He willingly submitted to be handcuffed, day after day, and rattled his iron bands scornfully when he appeared in the Appellate Court lobby.

His brief was not drawn according to the approved methods of pleading, and he made several slighting remarks in regard to the court which tried him.

COURT PATIENT.

But with a fine sense of justice which adorns the decisions of Presiding Justice Allen and his two associates notoriously in the legal annals of this district, the three eminent jurists gave Lapique every opportunity to present his authorities and listened to his verbose disquisitions on the law with patience.

REVIEW OF EVIDENCE.

The court states: "The false representations charged in the information were that the defendant represented that he was the agent of Mary and Richard Corcoran and authorized by them to sell and transfer a certain lot of the Corcoran tract owned by them; that he was authorized to sign their name to a certain written instrument to be exhibited to the complaining witness. This purported to be a contract of sale of said lot, and to it he signed the names of Mary and Richard Corcoran with his own, as agent, in the presence of the complaining witness. By reason of said pretended authority, he induced the complaining witness, Cosgrove, to pay him $100 on said contract.

"The evidence of the complaining witness is that he paid the $100 to the defendant April 19, 1907, because the defendant told him that the lot belonged to the Security Savings Bank and that he had to sell the lot. MUSIC AND STAGE.

Florence Barker is making good with the Cook stock players at Hartford, Ct., and last week was credited with an excellent performance in "The Warrens of Virginia."

The seat sale for Ethel Barrymore's engagement at the Mason Operahouse will commence tomorrow morning.

The College of Music, U.S.C., has announced a piano recital by the pupils of Miss Carrie Trowbridge in the college chapel tomorrow afternoon. Miss Pansy Newlin will give a piano recital in the same place on Friday evening, assisted by Mrs. Norma Rockhold-Robbins and Miss Trowbridge.

Ester Adaberto will be the principal star of the grand opera company which is to play at the Princess Theater in San Francisco next month.

The May series of Victor records contains one of the finest Gadski numbers yet put out, in that it is a reproduction of this singer's wonderful interpretation of Mrs. Beach's impassioned setting to Browning's poem, "The Year's at the Spring." Any one having heard Mme. Gadski in this brief but burning work can imagine no one else doing it quite so well—with such splendid phrasing, superbly even tone production and tremendous dramatic climaxes. The Victor record is very lifelike and represents the singer at her best. It is prefaced on the same disc—by a fine little lyric by Mme. Gadski's well-known accompanist, Frank La Forge. The ballad is entitled "How Much I Love You."

There are two new Elman records, of which the most popular, certainly, will be the Burns "Swing Song," a beautiful piece of melody, drawn out beneath Elman's bow in exquisite rythmic richness.

Geraldine Farrar has a good addition to her notable disc-library, in the Styrienne from "Mignon," well sung and faultlessly made.

Mme. Schumann-Heink contributes a new German folk song, "Es ist bestimmt in Gottes Rath." The record is well made, but the song itself is not notable in its appeal to American music lovers.

There are two new Melba records—the "Willow Song" from "Otello" and "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms," both representative works of their class.

REALISTIC FIRE PICTURES.

Fiesta Park Exhibition Attracts Crowds and Elks' Decoration Fund Benefits.

There was a big crowd at the second night's exhibition of Pain's fireworks at Fiesta Park last night. The Elks are much encouraged over the attendance at the two performances and hope to secure a goodly sum for their street-decorating fund.

The carnival of Naples was presented with much smoothness last night, and the specialty acts were liberally applauded. The eruption of Vesuvius was very realistic and made the onlookers gasp with surprise as the immense canvas city toppled over amid the bursting of bombs and showers of rockets and candles. The after-part was a magnificent display of set pieces and rockets. A number of new designs were shown in colored effects.

Tonight a representation of Niagara Falls will be shown. This is one of the latest novelties in pyrotechnics. A cascade of liquid fire will fall from a great height, spreading out in a golden spray of sparkling light. Another novelty will be a gigantic rose, which grows from a tiny bud into an immense blossom 300 feet square.

A set piece which will appeal to the women in the audience will be a representation of a beautiful girl. Two thousand separate pieces of fireworks are exploded, producing a striking likeness to a portrait etched in vivid colors. Other new pieces will be a flight of Chinese umbrella rockets, Mark Twain's aërial sleighbells, forests of palms, and electric flash shells.

The fascination of witnessing the splendid spectacle is so great that many who attended the first night have expressed their intention of going again. The last exhibition will be Saturday night.

WAR ON MOSQUITOES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

OCEAN PARK, May 25.—After having conducted peace parleys for several weeks, the City Trustees have finally declared open war upon the mosquitoes that infest the canal zone. Last night a resolution was adopted with this object in view. The Short Line beach real estate syndicates were ordered to clean the outer edges of their canals for the purpose of breaking up the haunts of the insects.

St. Clement's Catholic Church was the scene this morning of a pretty wedding, when Francis Roberts led to the altar Miss Josephine Harrington of Hollywood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fathers Hennessy and O'Callaghan. The young people departed for a honeymoon trip that will take them to Seattle and Portland.

Although the consolidation petitions have been circulated but two days, the advancers of the greater city idea say that already about 20 per cent. of the qualified electors of the beach have affixed their signatures. This would be enough, but the petitions will continue on the rounds throughout the week. It is believed that by Saturday night fully 50 per cent. of the voters of the two cities will have signed. It is among the possibilities that the petitions will go before the Santa Monica City Council Monday night. The sufficiency of the petitions being established, the call for the election will be made without delay beyond that called for by the law in order to give proper notice of the election. It is the belief of the friends of the movement that Ocean Park and Santa Monica will be one city by the latter part of July.

HALF MILLION LOST IN FIRE.

Flames Destroy Cannery and Other Buildings.

Fall from Haystack Kills Hanford Surveyor.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fire, starting from an unknown cause, completely destroyed the California Fruit Association's cannery in this city tonight. The loss is conservatively estimated at $500,000. The amount of insurance could not be learned. The first alarm was rung in at 7:20 o'clock, but before the nearest engines could respond, the canning plant was ablaze. The fire quickly destroyed this building and spread to the canned-goods warehouse on the south and the brick raisin packing-house and seeder on the north. The latter building was completely gutted. All the canned goods in storage were destroyed. The only thing saved was the warehouse containing box material.

But for the fact that a brick fire wall had been erected between the cannery and the Home Packing Company's plant, the loss would run into the millions. A strong north wind was blowing, and the Pierce Lumber Company's plant was endangered.

President Fries of the California Fruit Association, stated that the plant would be rebuilt immediately and be ready for this season's output. He declared that the work would be started tomorrow.

BACK BROKEN, DIES.

William B. Horner, a surveyor of Hanford, died this morning at the County Hospital in this city as the result of a broken back, sustained a week ago by a fall from a haystack. He never recovered consciousness. His wife has in his possession at another West End theater, or to hold it over until the St. James's is ready for his return.

It was currently reported last week that Sir Charles Wyndham had at last been persuaded to appear on the vaudeville stage. There were good grounds, too, for the rumor. Alfred Butt tried very hard to get him for the Palace. But, at the last, negotiations fell through and Sir Charles now tells me that in about ten days' time he will be crossing the Atlantic. He wants, he says, to have a look at the "Blue Mouse," which he has bought for this country, and which he proposes to present at the Criterion in the fall of the year. My own idea, however, is that he has the roving mood strong upon him and that he is by no means indisposed to shake the London dust from off his feet for awhile. He is largely interested, too, in ranch and mining property in Colorado, as well as in South Africa.

MALCOLM WATSON.

IN WASHINGTON AND NEW YORK.

BY MARSHALL CUSHING.

It is a great thing to be an advertising agent, if you are a good one. Several years ago a couple of them, working in the same business if not the same firm, separated. Each went on his way rejoicing. Two or three years ago, when business was better, the second—the one who had not got along so very well—cleaned up $50,000, net, in a single twelve-month. The other continues to draw annually for his interest (now controlling in that business) over a hundred thousand dollars a year.

These men have managers, and good ones; they have to have them, men familiar with mediums, rates, office management, etc. But the advertising agents themselves have to be tip-toppers when it comes to getting the business to do, and furnishing and developing the ideas, and then seeing that the business is done to the satisfaction of the client. One client, who spends $250,000 a year, or indeed one who spends $100,000 a year (the agent's commission on which is 15 per cent.) will start an agency off in good shape. Of course, they have been known to start on shoe strings and to develop wonderfully. One of the most successful celebrated its fortieth anniversary the other day. Another limits its number of clients to twelve—won't take another one, honestly!—thinks it cannot attend to their individual needs well enough otherwise. One agent is a bank president; another, not strictly an agent, merely gives advice, and one of his clients is a big daily newspaper. Another, himself not an agent but rather a consulting expert, lives in the country and does his work there, and charges, and probably gets, a hundred dollars a day for his services. Another devotes himself for recreation to raising trout, and he has some $5,000 or more of these growing lustily, intended for the tables of the big hotels. He also raises chickens and eggs. And he has devised or some one has devised for him, the classiest little thing in recent years, and you want to look for it when you stay at any one of our ten-dollar-a-day hotels; namely, a small chafing-dish affair, which is not a chafing dish, but a small pot, in which the individual egg—which has come from the individual farm and has the individual stamp of the individual hen upon it—is boiled just as long as the little indicator right there on the pot, or whatever you call it, indicates that it has been boiled; and you can name your over time!

It is still a question whether the hen stamps the date on the egg when she lays it; but with reference to keeping track of the time during which the egg is boiled, there is no getting around that.

The old telegrapher, especially if he was also a stenographer and a private secretary to some big man, and then became a bank director and also a big man himself, is always interesting enough to talk with. He also understands the law of psychic phenomena. Here is one who happened to be sitting in a hotel lobby with a friend. He overheard the telegraph instrument clicking. He told the friend that he had a premonition, and that it was that the friend was going to get a telegram before long.

"That is true," said the man, "I am expecting one, and should not be surprised if I received it within half an hour."

In a few minutes the message was delivered. Then spoke the old telegrapher again, feeling of the envelope before the addressee had opened it.

"I somehow feel as if this telegram was from Schenectady, yet I cannot honestly tell you that it is because I cannot feel the word through the paper here."

"By Jove," said the addressee, "it is from Schenectady. How could you have known that?"

The old telegrapher might have read to his friend all the contents of the message, because he had heard it coming in over the wire, and knew that his friend might indeed expect it, and that it did indeed come from Schenectady; but he went no further, preferring not to clear up so dark a mystery. He did, however, walk over towards the desk of the girl operator there in the hotel.

"She is fooling with an operator in Trenton," he said. "She tells him that she has not saved up money enough all this week to keep herself in gum."

Years ago the old operator knew a man who invested a sum of money—all that he had, though not a large sum—in a certain retail business. It failed. The man conceived the wild idea that he would be responsible for the debts of certain others, and disappeared. For months and months the old operator tried by every means to get track of the fugitive, all without avail; postal cards, letters, telegrams—everything failed. Late one evening he dropped into the main office of one of the telegraph companies in a big western city. He was due in two places the next day—one east as far as he could get, the other a considerable distance west. He could not telephone. He asked the manager for the use of the wire. This was granted. He found that one of his appointments had been postponed, and everything was all right—but not quite, however.

"You have got to work your passage," said the manager. "Jones hasn't had a bite since this morning."

"All right," said the old operator, taking Jones's place, "go ahead. Whom are you working with, by the way?"

He was working with Los Angeles, and the very first message that came in was from the old friend who had disappeared months before. At last a trace of him had been found. The old operator talked with him over the wire and arranged for his return.

He tells me, by the way, that Blaine certainly did hear Burchard refer to "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion;" there is no doubt whatever about that. The old telegrapher was himself around in those days, and he knew.

The stories that means are about to be discovered by which radium will restore the sight, the hearing and perhaps other things, led my boy, a kid of 14, to say the other night that we should all be going around pretty soon with wireless apparatus in the roofs of our hats, communicating, I suppose, with all the world. Great boy, that!—of course, of course.

Anyhow, you ought to talk with the man who has invented the latest drinking cup. Drop a cent in, and you get one; and after you have drunk from it, you throw it away; and that is the end of it. You are not infected with typhoid fever germs or anything else. The other day one of the health officers examined a drinking cup that had been in use in one of the public schools of the East Side, and he claims to have discovered enough typhoid fever germs to infect all the children in the United States east of the Allegheny Mountains. We do not have to believe this in order to sympathize with the bright young man who has invented the non-reflable cup. He wrote to forty-three railroads about it, thinking, no doubt, to introduce them in the cars, where everybody drinks out of the common cup, and of course catches everything—or ought. Twenty-six of these railroad people replied that they wanted to know all about it.

No harm, evidently, in trying to think of things to make your fortune out of. A little thing will do. Some poor inventor crooked the frame of a bicycle, but couldn't finance himself. Another picked him up, and in a few years retired on it, anxious to saw wood no more. There is a backwoods man down in Maine sending wooden shoe pegs all over the world, and able to buy automobiles. Another Yankee genius stuck to his last in another way; a long time ago he had made a hundred thousand dollars out of wooden tooth picks.

The solicitor on commission, the smooth fellow who goes about among the prosperous making the hot touch on some engaging proposition or other, is under suspicion by the chief reporting agency, or bureau of information, as I believe it is called—or by the "Knocking Agency," as the solicitor on commission always calls it—which reports him to its 700 or 800 clients, and it is all over. He is under suspicion, because he gets a proportion of what he collects or signs. The reporting agencies, in other words, seem to believe that a proposition that is good enough to get money on—in comparatively small sums and by means of the quick touch, if you please—ought to be good enough, on its merits alone, to employ solicitors on salary, or, if not, then to be able to collect its funds by mail; and that is often done. The commission solicitor is tempted to make his talks a little too tall, and being on commission and thus being more or less out of control of his employers—if such they may be called—he goes touching along from one victim to another on this elevated plane of exaggeration, if not hypnotism, and cares but little for the consequences.

The commission solicitor, however, is still quite numerous; that is because a great many propositions lack the capital with which to employ salaried men, and perhaps are too shady in their character to care whether the solicitor gets the most of it or not, especially when we consider that what they themselves get, anyway, may be regarded as just that amount of velvet anyway. These professors have a system, and they have it down fine. There is usually a large five list of easy marks which they have; or rather it is a rated list, indicating what such a man is good for on a charitable object, and what such another man is good for when the solicitor gets a chance to talk about a business proposition with him.

One of these lists was found not long ago to contain as many as 4000 names relating to New York City and Brooklyn alone. It was not pretended by its possessor that every name was a possible victim for all sorts of touching propositions; but all of them were good in varying degrees for something, and it was the art of the solicitor to know about how much each victim would give for this kind of a proposition or that; and the detailed information which these artists have with reference to the rich and easy is truly astonishing. I suppose the commercial travelers' home graft and the interchangeable mileage graft, and perhaps many another graft, have produced in the course of a few years a hundred thousand dollars each, minus hardly any expenses to speak of, for their enterprising promoters.

OBJECTED TO.

HEALTH CAMP MUCH OPPOSED.

NORTH PASADENA RESIDENTS STRONGLY PROTEST.

Steps Are to Be Taken to Secure Injunction in Endeavor to Prevent Completion of Buildings Now Being Rapidly Erected on the Old Giddings Ranch.

Office of The Times, No. 7 E. Raymond Ave

PASADENA, May 26.—Lee A. McConnell, a charter member of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, J. L. Simmons and A. J. Toolen, all residents of the northwest section of North Pasadena, are heading a strong protest against the establishment of a health camp on the old Giddings ranch near Millard's Cañon.

Steps are to be taken to secure an injunction against the association in an endeavor to prevent the completion of buildings that are now being rapidly erected on the site. They hold that the institution will damage property in that vicinity and that the city water will be contaminated.

McConnell states that the property should be made a part of the Arroyo Seco park scheme and is endeavoring to foster a subscription list, heading it with $200, in an attempt to buy the land for that purpose. The holding was purchased from the Presbyterian Chautauqua some time ago for $35,000.

Dr. H. B. Stehman, who, with Dr. Norman Bridge, is the prime mover in the health camp, attended a meeting of the residents of that district Sunday afternoon and explained fully that there would be no danger incurred by the institution; in fact, that the 250-acre tract is to be beautified as rapidly as possible; that dainty little bungalows are to be constructed and that the grounds will in time become one of the show places of Pasadena.

Others interested in the health camp maintain that it is a worthy and necessary institution and scout the idea that Pasadena water might be affected by it. "Why, it will be just as clean and sanitary as a hospital, and the opposition is unjust and uncalled for," said one of the officers of the association last night.

CHARGED WITH INSANITY.

Constable Harley Newell swore to a complaint charging Mrs. Alice Smith, the woman who slapped the face of a local newspaper man, with insanity. She is now in the County Hospital, suffering from a nervous collapse.

The complaint charges that she is rambling in her talk, becomes violent at times, and suffers from the delusion that certain persons are trying to destroy her character, for which delusion there is no foundation in fact.

As Mrs. Smith has asked for a jury trial in the suit brought against her by Ned L. Chapin, the insanity charge will have marked bearing on the case.

MISS MARKHAM ILL.

Miss Gertrude Markham, the popular young daughter of H. H. Markham, is dangerously ill at the Markham home in Redondo. Dr. Henry Sherry was called there from this city at a late hour last night. Miss Markham is in the care of a trained nurse and it is feared will be confined to her bed for some time.

PLUMBERS ENTERTAINED.

Yesterday afternoon wives of the master plumbers were taken on a long automobile trip about Pasadena and vicinity, and in the evening the ladies were taken in the Maryland special car to the Orpheum in Los Angeles. The master plumbers devoted yesterday's business session to the hearing of resolutions. In the evening a smoker was given for them at Eagles' Hall and an excellent programme by local talent was rendered.

SAYS HOGS WERE POISONED.

J. C. Cochrane yesterday tendered his resignation as keeper of the hogs at the city farm, stating that he believed that the hogs were poisoned by some one whom he designated as a secret foe. He does not think that the recent epidemic which decimated the city's drove was due to cholera. Cochrane quitted the farm about three weeks ago, because of despondency, he says, over the condition of the animals.

William D. Watkins, who maintains a hog farm at Dolgeville and who is said to be experienced in the business, has entered into a contract to run the hog farm for 70 per cent. of the profits. The city agrees to furnish lumber for the buildings and corrals and to haul the city garbage to the farm. Watkins agrees to keep enough hogs on hand, not to exceed 1000 head, to consume all the city garbage. He will be allowed to feed only the edible portion of the garbage to the hogs, and must burn all refuse. The city is to furnish him crude oil at cost for the latter purpose.

Superintendent McGrew is to designate where the buildings and corrals shall be placed and is to have charge of the city's interest in the business, making the inventories and checking returns. Watkins furnished a bond of $2000.

OBJECTS TO BRICK YARD.

A petition has been filed with the City Council by the Oak Knoll Company and thirty-two others against the operation of brick yards and the manufacture of burned brick in the city limits. The petitioners asked that an ordinance be passed to prohibit this.

STANTON OBJECTS.

William Stanton, owner of Grace Hill, which lies northwest from Raymond Hill, has asked the City Council to postpone the oiling of State street one year in order that Glenarm street may be oiled at the same time and also because he has paid out $6291.52 for the paving of Fair Oaks avenue. He feels that an assessment of that amount ought to be enough for the time being.

THROOP ELECTION.

Emil Brandt has been elected president of the student body of Throop Polytechnic Institute, succeeding Cedric Brown. Other officers elected are: Miss Shirley Burns, vice-president; Richard Bard, secretary; Halford Warren, treasurer; Miss Frances Kendall, representative of the girls' athletic association; Joseph Beak, editor of the "Polytechnic;" Halford Warren, manager of the football team; Miss Lucy Smith, manager girls' basketball team; Ruddy Mathews, manager baseball team; Joseph Wadsworth, manager tennis team; Fauntleroy Compton, manager of the "Polytechnic;" Charles Kamp, manager track team, and Chester Hymer, yell leader.

BELL SPEAKS AT TWILIGHT.

L. H. Gilmore, secretary of the club, states that the organization is about to close its fourteenth year, having been organized in 1895. Already plans are being formulated for the next year, and Gilmore has asked members to submit suggestions for the incoming committee.

ESTABLISHES PRECEDENT.

Assistant City Attorney Hornberger established an important precedent here yesterday by ruling that, under its charter, the city cannot pay any part of the cost of opening a street. Because of strong protest against the opening of Fillmore street because of the expense, it was suggested that the city pay one-fourth of the cost. According to this ruling, if the street goes through the entire expense must be borne by those who benefit by the extension.

INVESTIGATES COMPLAINT.

County School Superintendent Is Not Impressed With Contentions of Hermon People.

SOUTH PASADENA, May 25.—A complaint made by the residents of Hermon that some children living in that town were improperly included in the South Pasadena school census has been investigated by the county superintendent, with the result that the contentions of the Hermon people are not likely to find much support from that source. It was found that some children from Hermon were attending school here, but were not paying for tuition; three of the children are living in the strip which it is proposed to annex to South Pasadena Friday.

Ahrens of Los Angeles caught a 225-pound jewfish yesterday from the same pier with hook and line. C. A. Sheldrick, United States Customs Collector, and famous for his big catches, got fifty-three mackerel and two sea-trout. The fish appear to have moved from wharf No. 1, where they are usually to be found, to the vicinity of wharf No. 3.

The tenth anniversary of the organization of Carnation Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, was celebrated this evening by the members with a novel entertainment. The boys are John Bamberger, Tommy De-Coudres, Clifford Hillary, William Meade, Albert Schaefer, Ray Fulwiler, Leslie Still. It is charged that young Walker was taken from a class party, part of his clothing torn off and he was being tied to a telegraph pole when rescued. The High School faculty also suspended from holding any student body office either this or next year, Lloyd Schaefer, manager of the tennis team, Harold Smith and Miss Lilly Kingcade, members of the team, because they went to Santa Ana, Saturday, and played after being notified not to because of marks against them for deportment and study. COVINA, May 25.—How many more of the fair, winsome daughters of the orange ranchers of Covina have bowed their knees at the altar of hymen during the past two months, unbeknown to relatives and friends, is the question which is disturbing the minds of many a fond pater and mater.

Following upon the announcement of the secret marriage of Miss Josephine Stumpf and Arthur Beardslee, in San Francisco, March 20, comes the news of the wedding of Miss Gail Leech to George Covert, also in San Francisco, on the same date. Both are residents of this city. The groom is active as a real estate agent, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. MONROVIA.

WILL DISCUSS BOND ISSUES.

PUBLIC MEETING CALLED TO CONSIDER THE MATTER.

Board of Trade and Other Civic Organizations Favor the Expenditure of One Hundred and Thirty Thousand Dollars for Sewers and Water Supply Improvements.

MONROVIA, May 25.—A meeting for public discussion of the $120,000 sewer and water bond propositions, which will be submitted to voters June 7, has been called by the Board of Trade for Thursday evening. Comparatively slight opposition to the $15,000 bonds for water system improvements has developed, but it is believed that either all propositions will carry or all fail. The Board of Trade, in association with other civic organizations, has made a canvass of electors and the outlook for the success of the election is favorable, though it is conceded there will be a hard fight. Display maps of the proposed sewer system show that the entire city will be served. They prove an effective argument against a smaller appropriation which would permit of but partial construction and sectional service. All rate-payers would contribute pro rata for an incomplete system, and only some of them benefit except indirectly. Another convert-winning argument is the fact that the bulk of the money for labor would be returned into local trade channels or invested in new homes.

Prospective builders are a unit for the bonds since the expense for individual disposition of sewage is considerably greater than the sewer tax would amount to, is paid in one sum instead of being distributed over a long period and in no way contributes to general property values, as would the same amount spent on adequate municipal system. Realty dealers cite many instances where intending builders of costly suburban homes have been deterred on account of the city's lack of a sewer system. Business and professional men and a large majority of the heaviest realty owners favor the bonds. At Thursday's meeting J. D. Bicknell, now of Los Angeles, but formerly of Monrovia, and still having large interests here, City Attorney Haas and others will present the case for the bonds.

GEORGE BURNS DIES.

George Burns, eldest son of Detective William J. Burns, special agent of the District Attorney's office in the investigation of the San Francisco graft cases, died here this morning. He was 28 years old and for some time was engaged in detective work in connection with that of his father. When former Mayor Schmitz went to Europe his movements were reported by young Burns, who later, made a search of the East for A. K. Detwieler, the fugitive official of the Home Telephone Company, indicted for bribery. Failing health caused his return to the Coast, and recently he was operated on for appendicitis. He failed to improve and was removed to a sanatorium here, where he was ill with tuberculosis. Soon after the opening of the Calhoun trial today, George Burns was called as a witness. His father responded that the young man was out of town on a vacation. A few hours later the news of his death was announced. W. J. Burns left San Francisco this evening for Monrovia.

DOG CAPTURES HOME.

City Marshal Miller captured and shot today a bull terrier that had taken possession of the home of H. M. Siemons and terrorized practically the North Myrtle-avenue section. It is not known who owned the dog.

Robert McFadden of Santa Ana has purchased from J. E. McIntyre two lots on West Banana avenue, near Violet avenue, as a site for a foothill home. The tract has a frontage of 122 feet on Banana, and a depth of 200 feet. The purchase price was $2000.

P. E. Hatch and Mrs. Hatch of Long Beach are occupying a bungalow on North Shamrock avenue while plans for their new Monrovia residence are being finished.

SANTA MONICA, May 25.—For a stated consideration of $3500 the Commoners of America have purchased the W. H. Lynch ranch of eighty acres in Garapatos Cañon. They announce that they will at once spend the sum of $12,000 in the erection of buildings for the accommodation of an "old folks' home." This ranch is in the mountains, about fifteen miles from Santa Monica, and a mile from the junction of Garapatos and Topango cañons. It is the announced purpose to build a good road, so that the home can be reached by automobile and wagon from the San Fernando Valley. There have been several other real estate sales in the same vicinity during the past few weeks, and as a result of these transfers a number of new houses will be erected. Among others there is to be a summer-house for H. R. Gage of Venice.

LOSES FIVE LEGS.

The Santa Marias of Topango Cañon lost a small fortune the other day when they amputated the fifth leg that encumbered a healthy colt that had been born a few days before. The colt was stout, and apparently in good condition. Following the operation blood-poisoning set in, and the animal died.

CONCRETE FOR ASPHALT.

The City Council has decided to substitute concrete for asphalt as the material with which the new floor of the new municipal pier is to be constructed. Bids are to be advertised for the concrete floor.

There are to be seventy-nine graduates from the grammar grades of the public schools this year, as compared with thirty-four for last season. The High School graduation class consists of twenty-four.

Yesterday was home day at the regular weekly session of the Women's Club. Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer was the entertainer, she delivered a talk on "The Principles of Beauty in Nature and Art." The address was accompanied by an art exhibit and blackboard and charcoal work. There was a large attendance.

CLEW TO BURGLAR.

The local police have reached the conclusion that the laundry marks (7398) discovered on the old cotton handkerchief that had been discarded by the burglar who held up and robbed Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Bell at their residence on Kinney street, Sunday morning, were not the markings of any of the local wash houses. The handkerchief has been turned over to the police of Los Angeles. This find is the fabric that had been used by the robber as a mask, and when he cached it between two Pier-avenue buildings he carefully wrapped his revolver in it. This weapon was of the cheapest sort; it was not purchased from any beach dealer. It has also been placed in the hands of the Los Angeles police.

The body of Mrs. Delka Allison, wife of W. C. Allison, who died last night at the family home on Cherry street, has been sent to her former home in Fresno for burial. She was 53 years old. Death resulted from heart disease.

TAX REDUCTION.

Chairman Miles of the City Council's Finance Committee has submitted an estimate to the effect that the tax levy for the next year will be $1.24. This will be a reduction of 15 cents from the levy of the present year. The estimate does not include the school tax, which, under the new law, is to be levied by the county.

AIR-LINE FLYER.

The Air Line flyer of the Los Angeles-Pacific trolley route made its first trips today. The only stop made outside the city limits of Santa Monica until reaching Los Angeles is the one at Palms. This new service will prove a great convenience to the residents of that settlement.

The local Elks are industriously boosting the amateur performance to be given June 1 as a benefit for the Grand Lodge reunion entertainment on Santa Monica day. The opera to be presented will be the "Little Tycoon," and the ambition of the boosters is to realize $3000 from the sale of seats. To provide entertainment and amusement on Santa Monica day, July 13, there will be expended $7500.

Work is progressing industriously at the Rustic Cañon resort in preparation for the outing to be held there Monday under the auspices of the Los Angeles Woodmen. Being a holiday, many thousand visitors are expected.

SIERRA MADRE.

Twenty Thousand Acres Filed on in Eight Townships in Imperial Valley.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL CENTRO, May 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is estimated that fully 20,000 acres of Imperial Valley lands were filed on yesterday, and today by settlers in eight townships which were thrown open for entry.

SAN DIEGO.

WON'T PAY FINE, GOES TO JAIL.

BUSINESS MAN IS GUILTY OF CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Local and Los Angeles Capitalists Take Up Six Hundred Thousand Dollars' Worth of Bonds Issued by Grant Hotel Building Company. Boosters Banquet.

SAN DIEGO, May 25.—Rather than pay a fine of $100 Frank Mertz, a prominent business man, today went to jail to serve two days for contempt of court. Mertz is said to be wealthy.

Together with J. C. Burgess he held a lease on the six-story concrete building erected two years ago by Fred T. Scripps. Recently Scripps brought suit to cancel the lease and secure possession. Mertz fought the suit but lost in court.

He refused to give up the premises, holding on to a suite of rooms, where he conducted offices, by refusing to give up the keys. He was forcibly ejected from the place by the Sheriff on order of the Superior Court. He still declined to give up the keys and immediately reentered and took possession of the rooms after the Sheriff had left the building. Scripps became exasperated and appealed to the court. Mertz was cited for contempt. He made the plea that he was holding the rooms for a subtenant who is out of town. This did not satisfy the court. Judge Guy ordered that he either pay a fine of $100 or go to jail for two days.

"I'll go to jail and keep the keys, too," Mertz is quoted as saying.

WILL COMPLETE HOTEL.

Practically the entire $600,000 in bonds issued by the Grant Hotel Building Company has been subscribed by local and Los Angeles capital. The Bank of Southern California of Los Angeles is interested. A plan for organization of the hotel company is now being formulated by a local firm. From the subscribers to the bond issue a board of directors will be chosen. The board is to have charge of the immediate construction in completing the building and in furnishing same.

WALTERS OUT ON BAIL.

Temporary Injunction Issued Under Which Fairview Corporation Cannot Charge Over Ten Cents an Inch Pending Trial of Suit—Book Peddler Sent to Patton.

RIVERSIDE, May 25.—A temporary injunction restraining the Fairview Land and Water Company from charging more than 10 cents an inch for water was ordered by Judge Densmore in the Superior Court today, pending the trial of the suit of W. F. Copeland and others against this company and the Lake Hemet Water Company. Water rates were recently raised to 50 cents an inch. The plaintiffs claim to be tenants in common in the system and that they are only required to pay for the water and the maintenance of the plant.

SPIRITS TROUBLE HIM.

An unknown book agent, G. Phillips, was committed to the asylum at Patton today as the result of strange actions while going from house to house with his books. He stopped all night at the home of Otto Martin on Central avenue, and there showed great agitation over spirits which he believed were trying to talk to him. He was taken before Judge Densmore for examination, and upon the testimony of the physicians he was ordered committed to the State Hospital.

To express their regret over his departure, the Y.M.C.A. and combined young people's societies of Riverside gave a reception at the Y.M.C.A. auditorium this evening in honor of Thomas Hannay, Jr., second vice-president of the California Christian Endeavor Union, who leaves soon to engage in Christian work among the laborers on the Owens River project. MURDERER ADMITS HIS CRIME AT SAN BERNARDINO.

Highland Orange Grower Who Married Deceased Brother's Widow, Sues for Divorce While Woman Files Cross-Complaint—Stabbing Affray at Redlands Junction.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 25.—Thomas Barraras, who shot and killed Antonio Moreno at Cucamonga some months ago, this forenoon pleaded guilty in the Superior Court to murder in the second degree, and will receive sentence Thursday.

The case against the accused man was unusually strong, eye witnesses, who watched the slaying from a window, testifying that it was one of the most cold-blooded homicides they had ever seen, and a recital of the facts caused a shudder throughout the county.

Moreno was shot down and though desperately wounded and pleading for his life, Barraras placed the revolver to his head and blew out his brains. The crime was the result of Moreno having refused to play cards with Barraras.

RACY TESTIMONY.

William H. Bates, a Highland orange grower, is suing his wife in the Superior Court for divorce on the grounds of desertion. The woman was the widow of Bates's elder brother. After his death she married a man named Carmichael, and Bates provided funds for her to secure a divorce. He then married her. The woman has been living at the home of another brother of Bates, almost opposite the house of her present husband. She is contesting the divorce, and has a cross-complaint on file. The testimony is racy.

MURDEROUS ATTACK.

Frank Morales is being sought by officers on a charge of making a murderous attack upon José O'Gase. The affair occurred at an early hour this morning at Redlands Junction. Morales, it is alleged, waylaid O'Gase, after the two had enjoyed, with other cholos, wine from one of the wineries, and, after carving him in a shocking manner, extracted a sum of money from his pockets and fled.

Record of Week's Shipments of Cabbages and Oranges from Fullerton—Olinda Grows.

FULLERTON, May 25.—For the week ended last night oranges and cabbages were shipped from Fullerton in carload lots thus: Orange, H. F. Dairymple, 2; Placentia Association, 7; Benchley Fruit Company, 4; C. C. Chapman, 2. Cabbages, California Vegetable Union, 7; M. M. Cobb, 7; Pinkham & McKevitt, 1.

The people of Olinda school district have almost by unanimous vote decided to erect a much larger schoolhouse, the present one being too small. A different site is also to be selected. A few years ago only one teacher was employed at Olinda. This year there are three, and the coming year four will have to be employed to serve the district which is growing so rapidly.

Mrs. O. E. Johnson of the oil wells has gone to Seneca, Kan., on a visit.

SAN JACINTO, May 25.—Real estate transactions continue active in San Jacinto. Recent sales: S. A. Siverts has sold his eighty-acre stock ranch north of town to a Los Angeles party, who will take possession at once; Supervisor Shaver has sold a five-acre tract south of town to Fred Van Dusen; O. G. Tripp has bought ten acres on Central avenue and a one-acre tract on San Jacinto street; Angelo Domenigoni has purchased a house and lot on First street; S. E. Kennedy has bought the C. D. Cheshire twenty-acre tract on Hewitt street, known as the Hospital property; E. B. Earl reports the sale of his improved ten-acre home on Bath avenue to a Los Angeles party, and N. C. Johnson has bought a building lot corner of Second street and Brathway avenue.

While sinking a well for water on his land west of town, S. J. Newenham encountered a stratum of oil-impregnated gravel of the consistency of macadam. The substance smelled strongly of oil, and burned freely when put in the fire. It indicates beyond a doubt the presence of oil. As this well was being sunk for water, drilling was discontinued, but Mr. Newenham announces he will sink in the same location in the near future with the thought of testing the oil prospect and will be prepared to drill to a great depth. Many years ago an old oil prospector declared that a well sunk near a spring, which is only a few hundred yards from this recent discovery of macadam, would develop an oil flow. As surface indications of oil were not apparent the citizens did not pay attention.

His physicians tell Sheedy he is suffering from fatty degeneration of the heart, and have ordered him to the country for a rest, in hope that the present crisis may be safely passed. As soon as the weather is warmer, he will go to some quiet place. News of Sheedy's illness got abroad during the day, and his home was besieged with friends, and many inquiries came by telephone and mail.

Anxiety Over Western Wheat Crop and Concern Over Situation in Steel Have Tendency Toward Depression—United States Steel Active Early Drop.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—The stock market today did not reflect much inclination to resume active speculation on the part of operators of great importance. The anxiety felt on account of the nature of some of the estimates of crop conditions in Kansas and Nebraska were somewhat relieved today as a result of more cheerful views of the situation. Reports of the beginning of the harvest in Texas alleged a fair yield and the fullness were expected. The weekly report of the Weather Bureau took a favorable view of the effects of the rains of the last week, but showed general deficiencies of moisture for the week. The small wave of optimism during the first hour in which a start to lift prices was made, was followed by a lapse into torpid conditions which left the dullest day for many weeks. There was traceable some influence for depression in the news of the progress of the strike of Georgia Railroad and dimness with the trouble has taken on. The decline in United States Steel threatened the stability of the daily succession of new high prices which that security has been since but this was avoided when it stiffened in the last hour of the day. This belated movement had considerable sympathetic effect on the rest. An advance in prices of refined of the metal exchange was announced as there were reports that the selling price was modified by the selling agency of the Steel Corporation. Their reports gave signs thus far this month, that pointed to a close of deliveries for May, considerably in excess of any other month since the first arrival set in and well in excess of the working rate of production. In the final hour there was a general setback, business to an end at the close was on the down side. Railroad bonds irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,600,000. United States bonds were unchanged in call.

Boston Copper Market.

[Furnished by Logan & Bryan, Members New York and Boston Stock Exchanges, Bradbury building.]

BOSTON, May 25.—The local market for copper stocks was comparatively dull today. The several selling agencies raised the price of electro copper to 13¼, and we understand 13¾ is bid for small lots of lake copper. We advise the purchase of Ray Copper for a 2 to 4-point advance, and we understand developments in regard to the property will be made known in a few days. GENERAL EASTERN.

SEE-SAW GAME IN WHEAT PIT.

PRICES GO UP AND DOWN WITH UNUSUAL RAPIDITY.

Market Opens Heavy, Goes to New High Levels and at Close Takes a Severe Slump—Report of Shortage in Southwest Believed to Have Been Exaggerated.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, May 25.—Wheat prices again rose to new high levels for the season when May sold at 1.25 3-4 and July at 1.19 1-8. Heaviness at the start, a sharp rally which carried the May and July options to new high points for the crop, and a severe slump late in the session were the salient features of the day's trade in wheat. During the greater part of the session there was heavy selling of the distant futures by southwestern interests which suggested to many traders that possibly the sensational reports circulated previously regarding crop conditions in Kansas and Oklahoma were exaggerated.

Wheat opened weak with the exception of the May delivery which was up 1-4 to 1 1-8, compared with yesterday's close at 1.24 1-4@1.25 1-4. The strength of the current month was largely covering by shorts. The market in general, however, was bearishly affected by reports of additional rain in Southern Russia, where a drought has prevailed for some time and by wet weather in the southwest. Toward the end of the first hour prices, developed on local buying of July wheat, carried the delivery up almost 1½ from the opening low point. The buoyancy, however, was short lived and sentiment became decidedly bearish and during the final half hour, May sold off to 1.22 1-8. The closing in July was weak at almost the bottom with prices 1-8 to 1 1-4 below yesterday's finals, May at 1.24 and July at 1.17 5-8@1.17 3-4.

May corn sold at 73¼ and July at 71 7-8, both figures being new high records for the season. With the exception of a dull period at the start the market was strong all day, May selling between 74 1-4 and 73¼ and July between 72 1-4 and 71 1-8. The close was strong for these months and about steady for the others, final figures on May being at 73¾, July sold at 70½@70 5-8 at the close.

Oats advanced to new high marks when the May delivery sold at 63 and July at 54. The market was heavy with prices almost at the lowest point, although May and July were still 1-4 above the previous close at 62½ and 53½, respectively.

Provisions were more active than usual and considerable strength was manifested the greater part of the day. The market closed strong with prices up 5 to 20 compared with the previous close.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour strong; No. 2 rye, 87; feed or mixing barley, 36@37; fair to choice malting, 39@44½; flax seed, No. 1 southwestern, 1.72; No. 1 northwestern, 1.82; timothy seed, 5.80; clover, 9.80; mess pork, per bbl., 18.75@18.85; lard, per 100 lbs., 10.87½; short ribs sides (loose,) 10.25@10.50; dry salted shoulders (boxed,) 10.37½@10.50; short clear sides (boxed,) 10.37½@10.50.

New York Cotton Market.

[By Private Wire to E. F. Hutton & Co., Members New York Stock Exchange, No. 111 West Third street.]

NEW YORK, May 25.—Sentiment was again bullish on cotton and prices were strong, advancing 11 to 14 points for the active positions on renewed buying on the part of the bulls and in absence of aggressive selling. Liverpool cables were considerably higher than anticipated and private advices from Liverpool indicated more bullish feeling there due to crop advices from Texas. Some important private reports are expected before the end of the week, and the fact that some well-informed traders are less pessimistic and that the exchange will be closed Saturday and Monday caused some hesitation on the part of the bulls, as liquidation was not improbable.

Logan & Bryan's letter follows: "At the counted points in America, there remains only 846,000 bales of cotton, which is only 150,000 more than on this date last year, and only 50,000 larger than two years ago. At the uncounted points, if the wholesale testimony to that effect is to be accepted, there remains a much smaller quantity than either of those two years, and coupling this with the fact that the August movement this year will be very small on account of lateness of the crop it looks as if we would leave but a small remnant of the last crop in America at the end of this crop year. The remnant is centering on New York, but the increased movement is taken complacently by many philosophers, who believe that in mid-summer the spinners will not debate about the prices, but will eagerly seek the fine spinning cotton wherever it can be found. Today's market showed a much better undertone and the remote months were at the top prices of the season, beginning at about ten points above yesterday's closing. The market on stale selling orders, but these were not so large as they were a week ago when this same level was reached. With the Mississippi Valley and eastern half of the belt suffering from too much rain, and with Oklahoma threatened with floods, we see no reason why cotton should not continue upward to new high levels, possibly a sharp advance at any moment."

Weather and crop news—Rockdale, Kerrville, Marble Falls, Grapeland, Mason, Kyle, Smiley and Calvert, Tex., all favorable, while Taylor, Texas, claims crop becoming foul from weeds and grass.

Weather—Natchez had a heavy downpour yesterday again, and early last night, now cloudy, warm. Texas generally cloudy. Rains quite general throughout States. Mississippi Valley cloudy; rain reported at some points along Mississippi River last night; heavy at New Orleans and Memphis.

THE HOUR'S QUESTION.

CONSOLIDATE ROADS ON THE RIVER BANKS.

Suggestion for Solution of the Union Railroad Station Problem—Veteran Newspaper Man Brings Forward Plan That Is Old, But Timely.

BY G. W. BURTON.

IT SEEMS to me that a union depot for Los Angeles should not be a very hard thing to bring about, and this subject takes me back to my first year of service on a newspaper in Los Angeles, more than twenty-five years ago. At that time I urged the removal of all railroad tracks from all streets in the city to the river bank. The plan contemplated devoting a strip of land along each side of the river for the use of railroads as they were at that time and for all future time. There was only one railroad having entrance into the city or doing business in any part of California at that time. The Southern Pacific had its concessions along Alameda street, but it would not have been difficult at that early day to induce the company to give up its rights of way on the other streets and move down to the river bed.

We come back to this proposition now after more than a quarter of a century and it seems to me that there is the natural line for all railroads operating in the city now and for the future. Two of the lines doing business here now have their depots upon the banks of the river, the Santa Fé on the west, the Salt Lake on the east. It would not be much of a concession for the Southern Pacific to abandon its lines elsewhere. Indeed, there are many ways in which this railroad, as well as the others, would reap a substantial benefit by concentrating all their lines along the river bed.

As the lines now enter and pass through the city they cross hundreds of streets at widely separated points. The city ordinance prohibits running any train within the city limits at a speed above six miles an hour. From where the railroads enter the city to the depot is in some instances nearly that distance. It adds an hour to the schedule time of all trains, local and transcontinental, to make this slow progress through a city of such territorial extent as Los Angeles. For a train to enter in East Los Angeles and pass through the city and get out at the University or Vernon way would occupy nearly two hours.

Los Angeles has arrived at the status of a large city. The traffic on our streets is heavy at thousands of points. We have managed to get along by reducing the railroad speed inside of the city to six miles an hour and letting the trains cross the streets at grade crossings. Traffic is delayed not only for the trains, but for all kinds of vehicles crossing the railroad tracks at all this great number of crossings. We cannot go on indefinitely with these railroad tracks crossing the streets at grades. The time is coming at not a distant day when the tracks must be either depressed or elevated. The grade crossing will have to be cut out.

The river bed belongs to the city. The same is true of the bed of the Arroyo Seco. The Southern Pacific coming from the north enters the city limits along the river bed. Coming from the east it is but a short run from the eastern city limits to the river crossing. The Santa Fé strikes the city limits up on the Arroyo Seco, and the Salt Lake enters nearly on the river bed in the southern part of the city.

From all points where these roads enter, to any point where the union depot is likely to be built, there is a natural grade which might be utilized for an elevated track crossing all streets above grade, leaving the street crossings free for vehicles and pedestrians. The cost of elevating the tracks along the river bed at the present time would not involve the expenditure of a large sum of money. If this improvement is postponed many years longer and the different lines must provide elevated tracks along several streets widely separated, the expense will run into a very large sum of money.

Think how simple the work would be of running the Southern Pacific on a track beginning up half way toward Tropico, rising gradually above the river and above the street crossings and running down along the river bed to a point somewhere between First street and Fourth. It would be quite as simple for the Santa Fé to come in at the Arroyo Seco crossing and elevate its tracks in the same way, coming down along the course of the stream, forming a junction with the Southern Pacific up near where these roads now cross the river to get in. It would be just as simple for the Salt Lake to come straight in to the south on the river bed and then follow an elevated track up the river to about the same point.

It is improbable that any person who has given attention to the matter and who is intelligent in railroad operations would think of suggesting any other place for the union depot than somewhere between First street and Fourth or Fifth and between the river bed and Alameda street. The three depots are now not widely separated. The river merely divides the Santa Fé and the Salt Lake. The Salt Lake is allied with the Southern Pacific and there has been already talk of running the Salt Lake trains across the river and traverse the space between the stream and the Arcade depot so as to make a union depot for these allied roads. If that is possible for the Salt Lake it would be still easier for the Santa Fé. Property is not excessively dear between the Arcade and La Grande depot, and the land to be acquired for depot purposes in addition to what is already controlled by the three railroads so nearly together would not be very large.

Not claiming any expert knowledge about railroad matters myself, I go back to my own idea of twenty-six years ago and submit these reflections respectfully for the consideration of the railroad men, who are most interested and of the business men, who are barely less.

THE TALKING ANKLES.

TURN ON THE HOSE! SOCKS ARE IN CODE!

OH, THE exuberant joy of summer togs for "gents!" Ed L. Howe of Hotel Portland, proprietor of a large ranch near Portland, Or., and an extensive fruit grower, was the "cynosure of all eyes" in the lobby of the Van Nuys yesterday, as he lounged serenely in one of the luxurious settees. His obviously turned up trousers exposed to view hosiery matched with artistic exactitude in color, shade and hue with necktie and hat band.

The "color scheme" was all a rich pea green—the real garden kind. It might have been accident, but the observer had noted the day before that Mr. Howe's—well, it is hard to bring one's self to say "sox," or even socks, but the Oregonian's "demi-hose" were of a delicate baby blue, matching exactly with his tie and hat band.

On his arrival in town Sunday afternoon, the "Beau Brummel of the Pacific Coast" was displaying with gay abandon hosiery, tie and hat band of a glorious red—a deep, rich red that would have made Jack London feel like a common misdemeanor.

It is useless to fight the inevitable. How soon the haberdasheries patronized by the fashionables along Spring street and Broadway will be exposing for sale the new fashion is only a question of how soon they can get the goods.

There are seven colors in the spectrum. Forty-eight shades or tints are sold by paint dealers. No man dares estimate the number at the disposition of the shrewd hatter.

Color codes in daily styles.

But the code is all the more staggering when it is considered that there are three places in which to wear the colors, shades or tints, for, to be sure, the fickle fashion will not stick long at hosiery, tie and hat band of one color. Even if it does, it is already decreed that the same hue must not be worn on two consecutive days.

Another: Green socks, red tie, brown band. "I am a prosperous young rancher; I am pining for some dear young thing to love; in the dumps because I have not yet found some one who cared to share the joys of life on the ranch with me."

Yellow on the ankle would, of course, mean the same thing as saffron on the neck or about the hat.

The scheme is rich in possibilities and Ed L. Howe will be to blame for all the interesting situations that develop in the hotel lobbies and dining-rooms.

It will be funny, though, to see them ducking and stretching to finish reading the code flash when one-third of

MOST BRILLIANT SHOWING OF WOMEN'S LINEN SUITS AND DRESSES

Great as the demand for women's linen two and three-piece suits and dresses, we have more than anticipated it

There are chic little walking or shopping suits with straight lines, splendidly tailored; very liberally trimmed affairs for afternoon and dress occasions, beautified with heavy lace, dyed to match. Here they are in a range of materials, styles and color combinations much wider and more varied than you'd naturally expect in wash garments. Then, too, there's a smartness and attractiveness about fabrics and designs which holds the interest of all discerning femininity. We have a collection in mind representing a group of semi-fitted coat suits in light colored and white rep and linen, tailor-made, with piping on collars, cuffs and pockets, and a similar line, profusely ornamented with wide lace insertions.

At $10

At $19
You'll find a selection of possibly one hundred two and three-piece suits as well as one-piece princess dresses of poplin, soft-finished pure linen, coarse mesh linen weaves, etc. Also a smart lot of mannish, tailored effects. Others attractively embroidery and lace trimmed.

These Are Values Up to $25.

Another range of man-tailored garments with beautiful severe lines and panel fronts, with touches of contrasting colored piping and big linen covered buttons will surely attract plenty of attention and buyers. Others in this line have vertical runs of heavy lace set in the entire gown.

These Are Values Ranging Up to $35.

At $25
The assortment almost baffles description. Materials are similar to those described at the other prices, except that more of the coarser weaves, such as "Ramie" cloth, are in evidence. And the honors are equally divided between these and delightfully summery, lacy creations.

You'd Think These Worth $35 and $40. The Price is $25.

These are mostly three-piece suits and dresses, magnificent masterpieces of the designer's skill, and formed almost entirely of exquisite linen lace, hand embroidery on the finest of soft linen fabrics.

Why the Pacific Slope Hates the Japanese

Will Irwin has dug down under the cuticle and found out just what the Pacific Coast has against the Japanese, and why. It is an interesting story, told simply and without favor.

The Coast people say we don't want the Japanese. They ought to know—they have them. They find the Japanese energetic, ambitious, yet cunning and lacking in business honor. Opinion through the East pins most of the trouble to the School question. Yet this is one of the factors most easily disposed of.

The whole truth is made known for the first time in this remarkable article, which should be read by every intelligent American and Japanese.

ITCHING SEEMED TO BE INCURABLE

Terrible Red Patches on Face and Arms Made Victim Ashamed to be Seen—Suffered Intensely for Two Months—Expert Treatment Gave No Relief—Two Sets of the

CUTICURA REMEDIES ENTIRELY CURED HER

"About two years ago I contracted eczema and suffered intensely for about ten months. At times I thought I would scratch myself to pieces. My face and arms were covered with large red patches, so that I was ashamed to go out. I was advised to go to a doctor who was a specialist in skin diseases, but I received very little relief. I tried every known remedy, with the same results. I thought I would never get better until a friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. So I tried them as the last resource, and I am very glad that I did, for after four or five applications of Cuticura Ointment I was relieved of my unbearable itching. I used two sets of the Cuticura Remedies (Soap, Ointment and Pills), and I am completely cured. I always recommend Cuticura to any one that is suffering and in every case it seems to cure."
